Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Information

This Annual Report contains certain forward-looking statements (as defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995). Forward-looking statements are not based on historical information, but rather are related to future operations, strategies, financial results or other developments. The words "anticipate," "project," "expect," "believe," "intend," "estimate," "should," "is likely," "target" and other expressions that indicate future events and trends identify forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are based on management's expectations as well as certain assumptions and estimates made by, and information available to, management at the time the statements are made. Examples of factors that could cause future results to vary from current management expectations include the following: the timing and amount of interest rate movements (which can have a significant impact on a financial institution); effects of changes in general economic conditions, as well as economic conditions in markets in which Union Planters Corporation (Union Planters or the Company) conducts business and the impact in the United States of hostilities abroad; market and monetary fluctuations and uncertainties in the financial markets; inflation; competition within and outside the financial services industry; technology; risks inherent in originating loans, including prepayment risks, fluctuations in collateral values and changes in customer profiles; loan loss experience, the rate of loan charge-offs and the level of the provision for losses on loans; and changes in enacted tax rates and accounting principles. Additionally, the policies of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Federal Reserve Board), and insurance and securities regulatory agencies, unanticipated regulatory and judicial proceedings, unanticipated results in pending litigation or Internal Revenue Service examinations, changes in the laws, regulations and regulatory policies applicable to Union Planters and its subsidiaries, and Union Planters' success in executing its business plans and strategies and managing the risks involved in the foregoing, could cause actual results to differ materially from current expectations. Union Planters assumes no obligation to update any forward-looking statements that are made from time to time.

General

Union Planters Overview

Union Planters, headquartered in Memphis, Tennessee, is the largest bank holding company headquartered in Tennessee and is among the 30 largest bank holding companies based in the United States, with $34.14 billion in total assets at December 31, 2002. Union Planters Bank, National Association (Union Planters Bank or UPB), the principal banking subsidiary, was founded in 1869 and operates in 12 states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Tennessee and Texas. UPB offers a full range of commercial and consumer financial solutions through a network of 762 banking offices, 965 ATMs and the resources of specialized business units and subsidiaries. Trust services include investment management, personal trust services, employee benefit administration and proprietary mutual funds. Investment and insurance services include annuities, brokerage, life insurance, home and auto insurance, commercial property and casualty insurance, crop and hail insurance, environmental insurance and title insurance. Union Planters provides a full range of mortgage products through Union Planters banking centers and a network of mortgage production offices. Capital Factors, Inc. (Capital Factors), based in Boca Raton, Florida, provides receivable-based commercial financing and related fee-based credit, collection and management information services. Capital Factors has regional offices in Atlanta, Georgia; Charlotte, North Carolina; Dallas, Texas; Los Angeles, California; New York, New York; and an office specializing in financing to the rental car industry in San Ramon, California. Strategic Outsourcing, Inc. (SOI), based in Charlotte, North Carolina, provides professional employment services such as payroll administration, tax reporting, compliance, workers' compensation, insurance and benefits management.

Information about Union Planters' business segments and nonbanking lines of business is contained under (and incorporated by reference to) the headings "Union Planters Overview" and "Noninterest Income" under the heading "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Results of Operations and Financial Condition - Business Segment Review" and in Note 18 to the consolidated financial statements beginning on pages F-4, F-13, F19 and F-74, respectively, in Appendix F of the Definitive Proxy Statement for the Annual Shareholders' Meeting to be held April 17, 2003 (the Definitive Proxy Statement, including the 2002 Annual Financial Disclosures are referred to as the "Proxy and Annual Financial Disclosures.")

Union Planters completed one acquisition in 2000 and one acquisition in 2001 and none in 2002. Information about the banking organizations acquired since January 1, 2000, their asset size and the consideration paid is included in (and incorporated by reference to) the table titled "Acquisitions Completed Since January 1, 2000" under the heading "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Results of Operations and Financial Condition" and in Note 2 to the consolidated financial statements in the Proxy and Annual Financial Disclosures. Management currently expects the level of acquisition activity in 2003 to be limited.

Competition

Union Planters and its subsidiaries operate in a highly competitive environment. They compete with other bank holding companies and banks, thrift institutions, credit unions, and money market and other mutual funds for deposits and other sources of funds. In addition, they compete with a variety of other financial service providers, such as finance companies, mortgage loan companies, leasing companies, merchant banks, insurance companies and brokerage firms. Many of these competitors are not subject to the same regulatory restrictions as are bank holding companies and banks, such as Union Planters and its bank subsidiaries. As a result, they may have a competitive advantage over Union Planters.

Supervision and Regulation

General

As a registered bank holding company, Union Planters is subject to the regulation and supervision of the Federal Reserve Board under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (BHCA). Each of Union Planters' banking subsidiaries, including its federal savings bank subsidiary, is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the FDIC) and as such their deposits are insured by the FDIC to the maximum extent provided by law.

Union Planters currently has three banking subsidiaries, the principal subsidiary being Union Planters Bank, a national banking association which is subject to supervision and examination by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (the Comptroller) and the FDIC. The state bank subsidiary of Union Planters is subject to supervision and examination by the FDIC and the Tennessee Department of Financial Institutions. Union Planters' federal savings bank subsidiary is subject to supervision and examination by the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS). Union Planters' banking subsidiaries are subject to an extensive system of banking laws and regulations that are intended primarily for the protection of their customers and depositors. These laws and regulations include requirements to maintain reserves against deposits, restrictions on the types and amounts of loans and other extensions of credit that may be granted and the interest that may be charged thereon, and limitations on the types of investments that may be made, as well as the types of services that may be offered. Various consumer laws and regulations also affect the operations of the banking subsidiaries. In addition to the impact of regulation, the banking subsidiaries are affected significantly by the actions of the Federal Reserve Board as it attempts to control the money supply and credit availability in order to influence the economy. Set forth below are brief descriptions of selected laws and regulations applicable to Union Planters and its subsidiaries. The references are not intended to be complete and are qualified in their entirety by reference to the statutes and regulations. Changes in an applicable law or regulation could have a material effect on the business of Union Planters.

Nonbanking subsidiaries of Union Planters are also subject to regulation by other federal and state agencies. The nonbank subsidiaries engaged in insurance activities are subject to regulation by the insurance departments in the states in which they conduct business. Union Planters' registered broker-dealer subsidiary is regulated by the Securities and Exchange Commission, among others, and is subject to the rules and regulations of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., a securities industry self-regulatory organization. Union Planters' registered investment adviser is subject to regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commission and requirements imposed under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 that are intended to benefit clients of investment advisers and shareholders in mutual funds rather than holders of Union Planters' securities.

Acquisitions

Under the BHCA, Union Planters must obtain the prior approval of the Federal Reserve Board before it may acquire all or substantially all of the assets of any bank, acquire direct or indirect ownership or control of more than 5% of the voting shares of any bank, or merge or consolidate with any other bank holding company. The BHCA also restricts Union Planters' ability to acquire direct or indirect ownership or control of 5% or more of any class of voting shares of any nonbanking corporation, as discussed below. The BHCA further provides that the Federal Reserve Board may not approve any transaction that would result in a monopoly or would be in furtherance of any combination or conspiracy to monopolize or attempt to monopolize the business of banking in any region of the United States, or the effect of which may be substantially to lessen competition or to tend to create a monopoly in any section of the country, or that in any other manner would be in restraint of trade, unless the anticompetitive effects of the proposed transaction are clearly outweighed by the public interest in meeting the convenience and needs of the community to be served. The Federal Reserve Board is required to consider the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the bank holding companies and banks concerned and the convenience and needs of the community to be served. Consideration of financial resources generally focuses on capital adequacy. Consideration of convenience and needs issues includes the parties' performance under the Community Reinvestment Act of 1977 (the CRA), as amended. Under the CRA, all financial institutions have a continuing and affirmative obligation consistent with safe and sound operation to help meet the credit needs of their entire communities, including low-to-moderate income neighborhoods. Based on their most recent CRA compliance examinations, Union Planters' subsidiary banks and federal savings bank have all received at least a "satisfactory" CRA rating.

Impact of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act

The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act allows banking organizations, such as Union Planters, to be affiliated with insurance organizations and securities firms. An eligible bank holding company may elect to be treated as a financial holding company, and, as such, it may engage in financial activities (activities that are financial in nature, such as insurance and securities underwriting and dealing activities) and activities the Federal Reserve Board determines to be complementary to financial activities which do not pose a substantial risk to the safety or soundness of depository institutions or the financial system generally. To be eligible to elect the status of a financial holding company, all of the depository institution subsidiaries of the bank holding company must meet the requirements of their regulators to be considered well managed and well capitalized and have a CRA rating of at least "satisfactory." Bank holding companies that do not elect the status of a financial holding company may continue to engage in and own companies conducting nonbanking activities which had been determined by Federal Reserve Board order or regulation prior to the Gramm-Leach Bliley Act, to be so closely related to banking or managing and controlling banks as to be a proper incident thereto.

The Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury Secretary determine what activities qualify as financial in nature and have adopted regulations identifying certain activities as financial in nature or incidental to financial activities, as well as the procedures that allow a financial holding company to request the Board's approval to conduct an activity that is complementary to a financial activity. A financial holding company is not required to obtain prior Federal Reserve Board approval in order to engage in the financial activities identified in the Act or the Federal Reserve Board regulations, other than in connection with an acquisition of a thrift institution. However, a financial holding company cannot commence, or acquire, any new financial activities if one of its depository institution subsidiaries receives a less than satisfactory CRA rating. If any of a financial holding company's depository institution subsidiaries ceases being well capitalized or well managed and compliance is not achieved within 180 days, a financial holding company may be forced to divest its depository institutions.

Subject to certain exceptions, national banks, such as Union Planters' principal subsidiary, Union Planters Bank, are able to engage in financial activities through separate subsidiaries. Conducting financial activities through a bank subsidiary can impact capital adequacy, and restrictions apply to affiliate transactions between the bank and its financial subsidiary. Under the financial modernization legislation, the banking regulators, the Securities and Exchange Commission, state securities regulators and organizations, and the state insurance regulators functionally regulate the banking, securities and insurance activities of financial organizations.

The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act contains a number of other provisions that affect Union Planters' operations and the operations of all financial institutions, including consumer privacy protections, which allow financial institutions to disclose nonpublic personal financial information to third parties only after customers have had the opportunity to "opt out" of such disclosures.

Union Planters meets the eligibility requirements to elect the status of a financial holding company, but has not elected such status.

Interstate Banking

Under the Riegle-Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act of 1994 (the Interstate Act), Union Planters and any other bank holding company may acquire a bank located in any state, subject to certain deposit-percentage limitations, aging requirements and other restrictions. The Interstate Act generally permits a bank to conduct interstate branching through acquisitions of banks in other states, unless the state in question adopted legislation prior to June 1, 1997 to "opt-out" of interstate banking. Management anticipates that substantially all of Union Planters' banking subsidiaries, including any which may be acquired in the future, would ultimately be merged with and into UPB to the extent allowed by law.

The Interstate Act also permits a bank to establish de novo branches in another state to the extent de novo interstate branching is expressly permitted by the laws of that state.

Capital

The Federal Reserve Board has adopted risk-based capital guidelines for bank holding companies. The minimum guideline for the ratio (Risk-Based Capital Ratio) of total capital (Total Capital) to risk-weighted assets (including certain off-balance-sheet commitments such as standby letters of credit) is 8%. At least one-half of Total Capital must be composed of Tier 1 Capital which generally consists of common shareholders' equity, minority interests in the equity accounts of consolidated subsidiaries, noncumulative perpetual preferred stock, a limited amount of cumulative perpetual preferred stock and certain nonfinancial equity investments, less goodwill and certain other intangible assets. The remainder, denominated "Tier 2 Capital," generally consists of limited amounts of subordinated debt, qualifying hybrid capital instruments, other preferred stock, loan loss reserves and unrealized gains on certain equity securities.

In addition, the Federal Reserve Board has established minimum leverage ratio guidelines for bank holding companies. These guidelines provide for a minimum ratio of Tier 1 Capital to average total assets less goodwill (Leverage Ratio) of 3% for bank holding companies that meet certain specified criteria, including those having the highest regulatory rating. All other bank holding companies generally are required to maintain a Leverage Ratio of at least 4%. The guidelines also provide that bank holding companies anticipating or experiencing internal growth or making acquisitions are expected to maintain strong capital positions substantially above the minimum supervisory levels without significant reliance upon intangible assets. Furthermore, the Federal Reserve Board has indicated that it will consider a "tangible Tier 1 Leverage Ratio" (after deducting all intangibles) and other indicia of capital strength in evaluating proposals for expansion or new activities.

All of Union Planters' banking subsidiaries are subject to Risk-Based and Leverage Capital Ratio requirements adopted by their respective federal regulators, which are substantially similar to those adopted by the Federal Reserve Board. Each of Union Planters' banking subsidiaries satisfied the minimum capital requirements applicable to it and had the capital levels required to qualify as a "well-capitalized" institution under the prompt corrective action provisions discussed below. A bank's capital classifications may have an influence on a bank's business activities. For example, under regulations adopted by the FDIC governing the receipt of brokered deposits, a bank may not lawfully accept, roll over or renew brokered deposits unless either (i) it is well capitalized or (ii) it is adequately capitalized and receives a waiver from the FDIC. Applicable capital and ratio information is as follows:

Prompt Corrective Action

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 (FDICIA) and the joint regulations thereunder adopted by the federal banking agencies require the banking regulators to take prompt corrective action if depository institutions do not meet their minimum capital requirements. A depository institution is considered to be significantly undercapitalized if it has a Total Capital Ratio of less than 6.0%; a Tier I Capital ratio of less than 3.0%; or a Leverage Ratio of less than 3.0%. An institution that has a tangible equity capital to assets ratio equal to or less than 2.0% is deemed to be critically undercapitalized. "Tangible equity" includes core capital elements counted as Tier 1 Capital for purposes of the risk-based capital standards, plus the amount of outstanding cumulative perpetual preferred stock (including related surplus), minus all intangible assets, with certain exceptions.

The appropriate federal banking agency may, under certain circumstances, reclassify a well capitalized insured depository institution as adequately capitalized. The appropriate agency is also permitted to require an adequately capitalized or undercapitalized institution to comply with the supervisory provisions as if the institution were in the next lower category (but not treat a significantly undercapitalized institution as critically undercapitalized) based on supervisory information other than the capital levels of the institution. An institution may be reclassified if the appropriate federal banking agency determines (after notice and opportunity for hearing) that the institution is in an unsafe or unsound condition or deems the institution to be engaging in an unsafe or unsound practice.

Dividend Restrictions

Union Planters is a legal entity separate and distinct from its banking, thrift and other subsidiaries. Union Planters' principal sources of cash flow (including cash flow to pay dividends to shareholders, on a parent company only basis) are dividends paid to Union Planters by its subsidiaries. The right of Union Planters, and consequently the rights of creditors and shareholders of Union Planters, to participate in any distribution of the assets or earnings of any subsidiary through the payment of such dividends, or otherwise, is necessarily subject to the prior claims of creditors of the subsidiary (including depositors, in the case of banking subsidiaries), except to the extent that claims of Union Planters in its capacity as a creditor may be recognized.

There are statutory and regulatory limitations on the payment of dividends to Union Planters by its banking subsidiaries. UPB, a national banking association, is required by federal law to obtain the prior approval of the Comptroller for the declaration of dividends if the total of all dividends to be declared by the board of directors of such bank in any year would exceed the total of (i) such bank's net profits (as defined and interpreted by regulation) for that year, plus (ii) the retained net profits (as defined and interpreted by regulation) for the preceding two years, less any required transfers to surplus. Union Planters' state-chartered banking subsidiary is subject to similar restrictions on the payment of dividends under Tennessee law. The payment of dividends by the thrift subsidiary is subject to regulation of the Office of Thrift Supervision. Furthermore, all depository institutions are prohibited from paying any dividends, making other distributions or paying any management fees if, after such payment, the depository institution would fail to satisfy its minimum capital requirements. At January 1, 2003, under dividend restrictions imposed under federal and state laws, Union Planters' banking subsidiaries could declare aggregate dividends of approximately $245 million without obtaining prior regulatory approval. During 2002, Union Planters' banking subsidiaries declared $620 million in dividends to Union Planters. Future dividends will depend primarily upon the level of earnings of the banking subsidiaries of Union Planters. Federal banking regulators also have the authority to prohibit banks and bank holding companies from paying a dividend if they should deem such payment to be an unsafe or unsound practice.

Support of Banking Subsidiaries

Under Federal Reserve Board policy, Union Planters is expected to act as a source of financial strength to its banking subsidiaries and, where required, to commit resources to support each of such subsidiaries. Moreover, if one of its banking subsidiaries should become undercapitalized, under FDICIA, Union Planters would be required to guarantee the subsidiary bank's compliance with its capital plan in order for such plan to be accepted by the federal regulatory authority.

Under the "cross guarantee" provisions of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (the FDI Act), any FDIC-insured subsidiary of Union Planters may be held liable for any loss incurred by, or reasonably expected to be incurred by, the FDIC in connection with (i) the "default" of any other commonly controlled FDIC-insured subsidiary or (ii) any assistance provided by the FDIC to any commonly controlled FDIC-insured subsidiary "in danger of default." "Default" is defined generally as the appointment of a conservator or receiver, and "in danger of default" is defined generally as the existence of certain conditions indicating that a default is likely to occur in the absence of regulatory assistance. Such liability could have a material adverse effect on the financial condition of any assessed bank and Union Planters. While the FDIC's claim is junior to the claims of depositors, holders of secured liabilities, general creditors and subordinated creditors, it is superior to the claims of shareholders and affiliates.

Transactions With Affiliates

There are various legal restrictions on the extent to which a bank holding company or its nonbank subsidiaries may borrow or otherwise obtain credit from or sell assets or affiliate securities to its bank subsidiaries. In general, covered transactions with a bank subsidiary must be on nonpreferential terms and cannot exceed, as to any one of the holding company or the holding company's nonbank subsidiaries, 10% of the bank's capital stock and surplus, and as to the holding company and all of its nonbank subsidiaries in the aggregate, 20% of such capital stock and surplus. Special collateral requirements also apply to covered extensions of credit.

FDIC Deposit Insurance

Currently, the FDIC maintains two funds for the insurance of deposits of financial institutions - the Bank Insurance Fund (the BIF) for deposits originated by banks and the Savings Association Insurance Fund (the SAIF) for deposits originated by savings associations, including savings association deposits acquired by banks. For this deposit insurance coverage, each insured institution pays assessments to the FDIC under a risk-based assessment system that takes into account the institution's capital and supervisory considerations.

Safety and Soundness Standards

The FDI Act, as amended by the FDICIA and the Riegle Community Development and Regulatory Improvement Act of 1994, requires the federal bank regulatory agencies to prescribe standards, by regulations or guidelines, relating to the internal controls, information systems and internal audit systems, loan documentation, credit underwriting, interest-rate-risk exposure, asset growth, asset quality, earnings, stock valuation and compensation, fees and benefits and such other operational and managerial standards as the agencies may deem appropriate. The federal bank regulatory agencies adopted, effective August 9, 1995, a set of guidelines prescribing safety and soundness standards pursuant to FDICIA, as amended. In general, the guidelines require, among other things, appropriate systems and practices to identify and manage the risks and exposures specified in the guidelines.

Depositor Preference

Legislation enacted in 1993 establishes a nationwide depositor-preference rule in the event of a bank failure. Under this arrangement, all deposits and certain other claims against a bank, including the claim of the FDIC as subrogee of insured depositors, would receive payment in full before any general creditor of the bank, including the holders of its subordinated debt securities, would be entitled to any payment in the event of an insolvency or liquidation of the bank.

Anti-Terrorism Legislation.

The USA Patriot Act of 2001 was enacted in response to the events of September 11, 2001 and contains the International Money Laundering Abatement and Financial Anti-Terrorism Act of 2001 (the "IMLAFA"). The IMLAFA contains anti-money laundering measures affecting insured depository institutions, broker-dealers and certain other financial institutions. The IMLAFA requires U.S. financial institutions to adopt new policies and procedures to combat money laundering and grants the Treasury Secretary broad authority to establish regulations and to impose requirements and restrictions on financial institutions' operations.

Recent Legislative Initiatives

On July 30, 2002, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 became law, addressing the reporting, accounting, corporate governance and business practices of companies, as well as financial and other professionals who have relationships with public companies such as Union Planters. In addition, the NYSE has pending proposed changes to its corporate governance and listing requirements. Union Planters continues to monitor the regulatory, accounting and corporate governance requirements as they are proposed and finalized as a part of its securities law compliance efforts.

Proposals to change the laws and regulations governing the financial institutions industry are frequently introduced in the United States Congress, in state legislatures and before various banking agencies. It cannot be predicted whether, or in what form, any of these proposals or regulatory initiatives will be adopted, the impact they will have on the financial institutions industry or the extent to which the business or financial condition of Union Planters may be affected thereby.

Personnel

As of December 31, 2002, Union Planters, including all subsidiaries, had 10,836 full-time equivalent employees.

Item 2. Properties

Union Planters' corporate headquarters are located in the Company-owned building at 6200 Poplar Avenue, Memphis, Tennessee. In addition to being Union Planters' corporate headquarters, the building, located in East Memphis, houses a full service bank.

As of December 31, 2002, Union Planters operated 19 banking offices in Alabama, 34 in Arkansas, 72 in Florida, 86 in Illinois, 72 in Indiana, 24 in Iowa, 29 in Kentucky, 23 in Louisiana, 116 in Mississippi, 81 in Missouri, 191 in Tennessee and 15 in Texas. The mortgage operations of UPB operate 28 mortgage production offices in Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Nevada, North Carolina, Ohio, Texas and Washington. The majority of these locations are owned. Union Planters' subsidiaries also operate 965 twenty-four-hour automated teller locations. A wholly-owned subsidiary, Capital Factors, Inc., has operations in leased facilities in Boca Raton, Florida and Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; Los Angeles, California; San Ramon, California; New York, New York; Charlotte, North Carolina; Dallas, Texas; and Atlanta, Georgia.

There are no material encumbrances on any of the Company-owned properties.

Item 3. Legal Proceedings

Union Planters and/or various subsidiaries, including UPB, are parties to various pending civil actions, all of which are being defended vigorously. Additionally, the Company and/or its subsidiaries are parties to various legal proceedings that have arisen in the ordinary course of business. While it is impossible to predict with certainty the outcome of any legal proceeding, based upon present information, including evaluations by outside counsel, management is of the opinion that neither Union Planters' financial position, results of operations nor liquidity will be materially affected by the ultimate resolution of pending or threatened legal proceedings.

As previously reported in reports filed by Union Planters with the Securities and Exchange Commission:

On May 1, 2002, Union Planters Bank, N.A. filed a complaint against Continental Casualty Company in the United States District Court for the Western District of Tennessee (Docket No. 02-cv-2321-Ma) seeking recovery under the insurance policy it maintains with Continental Casualty Company for the damages resulting from fraud associated with a $25 million mortgage warehouse line of credit extended by UPB. UPB charged off the line of credit in the quarter ended September 30, 2001, and established a $17 million receivable for the estimated recovery under the insurance policy.

A complaint was filed in February 2000 by John Connors in the Circuit Court for the Third Judicial Circuit, Madison County, Illinois, naming as defendants Magna Bank (subsequently merged into UPB), Magna's Chief Executive Officer, its Board of Directors and its outside legal counsel. Magna was acquired by the Company on July 1, 1998. The complaint is related to collection efforts by UPB against the plaintiff on a line of credit and a series of notes. The complaint alleges breach of fiduciary duty by the defendants in failing to dispose of certain collateral in a commercially reasonable manner and interference with plaintiff's contractual and business affairs. The plaintiff is seeking compensatory and punitive damages of three hundred million dollars. Based on information received to date, the Union Planters believes that the claims are without merit and is vigorously defending this action.

UPB, as successor to Magna Bank, is presently a defendant in various suits filed in Illinois, related to various trusts owned by SBU, Inc., a Missouri corporation, and SBU of Illinois, Inc., an Illinois corporation (collectively, "SBU"). The trusts were funded with structured settlement proceeds the plaintiffs had received in settlement of accident cases and invested with SBU. Magna Bank served as trustee. The suits are related to losses the plaintiffs incurred after SBU terminated Magna as trustee and moved the trust assets to another corporation designated by SBU. Magna filed legal proceedings opposing the transfer of the trust assets but was ordered by the Illinois State Trial and Appellate Court to release the assets. The trust assets were then misappropriated after they were transferred to Flag Finance, the successor trustee designated by SBU. Plaintiffs have filed several actions naming UPB, other banks, James Gibson (a principal in both SBU and Flag Finance), brokerage houses, accounting firms, law firms and individuals and are seeking compensatory and punitive damages. The pending suits are identified as: Burgard and McCracken et al v. UPB et al filed in July 2001 in the Twentieth Judicial Circuit of St. Clair County, Illinois which includes thirteen individual plaintiffs seeking compensatory and punitive damages of $16,344,100; Clark et al v. UPB et al filed in October 2001 in the Third Judicial Circuit of Madison County, Illinois which includes eight individual plaintiffs seeking compensatory damages of $5,347,451; Gaudreault et al v. UPB et al filed in March 2001 in the Third Judicial Circuit of Madison County, Illinois which includes four individual plaintiffs seeking compensatory damages of $4,947,754; Hicks v. UPB et al filed in August 2000 in the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Marion County, Illinois in which the plaintiff is seeking compensatory and punitive damages totaling twenty million dollars; Cange v. UPB et al filed in January 2000 in the Twentieth Judicial Circuit of St. Clair County, Illinois in which the plaintiff is seeking compensatory damages totaling $46,000; Vaughn v. UPB et al filed in December 2002 in the Circuit Court for the City of St. Louis, Missouri in which the plaintiff is seeking compensatory damages of $800,000; Topsakalyan et al v. UPB et al filed in September 2000 in the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois which includes numerous individual plaintiffs seeking compensatory and punitive damages totaling $300.0 million dollars. The Circuit Court Judge dismissed the Topsakalyan case with prejudice in December 2002, and the plaintiffs have appealed to the First District Court of Appeals of Illinois. James v. UPB et al filed in August 2002 in the Twentieth Judicial Circuit of St. Clair County, Illinois which is a putative class action seeking compensatory and punitive damages totaling $77,805,510. The proposed class in James includes individuals who are named plaintiffs in the above cases who will have to opt out of the class to pursue their individual suits. Union Planters believes that the claims against it are without merit and is vigorously defending the actions.
