Management Report

(Hsin-Chu, Taiwan, R.O.C., April 29, 2003)

Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, Ltd. (TAIEX: 2330, NYSE: TSM) (TSMC or the Company), the world's largest dedicated semiconductor foundry company, today announced its unconsolidated results of operations for the quarter ended March 31, 2003. All figures were prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in Taiwan, which differ in some material respects from generally accepted accounting principles in the United States.

TSMC Announces 1Q03 Unconsolidated Results:

Revenues NT$39.325 Billion, Net Income NT$4.358 Billion

Fully Diluted EPS NT$0.23 (US$0.03 per ADS)

Revenues decreased 4% sequentially due to a 7% decline in average selling price, partly offset by a 2% increase in wafer shipments and an adjustment on sales return and allowance.

Net income increased 71% sequentially, mainly reflecting lower R&D expenditures, reduced investment losses, and more favorable income tax results.

Fully diluted EPS rose 74% on a sequential basis.

Financial indicators (cash flow generation, liquidity, debt service) remained healthy.

Management Commentary

Harvey Chang, SVP & CFO:

TSMC's 1Q03 results were characterized by much improved net earnings despite slightly lower sales revenues than in the previous quarter.

Our net income rose 71% sequentially to NT$4.358 billion. Although gross profit dipped slightly with our sales revenues, net income was substantially higher due to lower R&D expenditures, reduced investment losses, and favorable income tax results.

Net sales in 1Q03 were 4% lower sequentially at NT$39.325 billion. The shortfall was attributable to softer average pricing, offset in part by a higher level of wafer shipments and a minor adjustment on sales return and allowance.

Wafer shipments during the quarter increased 2% sequentially. Efficiencies associated with the higher output acted to offset some of the effect of the pricing erosion, resulting in a gross margin of 26.4%, essentially the same as in the previous quarter.

We are very much encouraged by these results. Not only did they improve on our guidance, they were achieved amid a number of constraints, such as the Chinese New Year holidays and the scheduled annual maintenance plans of our various fabs.

We expect this fine performance to extend into a firm trend of growth and improving profitability in the coming quarter.

Please visit TSMC's Web site (<http://www.tsmc.com>) for details about this and other announcements.

Guidance & Forward-Looking Statements:

Based upon the current business outlook, guidance for 2Q03 is as follows:

Ø We expect:

- Wafer shipments to grow above 20% on a sequential basis;
- ASP to improve by 4% due to better product mix;
- Revenues from advanced-process technologies (0.18um and more advanced) to account for about 60% of total wafer sales;
- An overall utilization rate exceeding 80%, with capacities capable of advanced-process technologies to be utilized at a rate higher than 85%;
- Business demand to improve across all customer application segments. The consumer segment should report the strongest growth momentum, followed by the computer segment and the communication segment, respectively.

Ø We continue to expect that CAPEX in 2003 will be within the range of US$1.0 to US$1.5 billion.

Safe Harbor Notice:

The statements included in this press release that are not historical in nature are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. TSMC cautions readers that forward-looking statements are subject to significant risks and uncertainties and are based on TSMC's current expectations. Actual results may differ materially from those contained in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons including, among others, risks associated with cyclicity and market conditions in the semiconductor industry; demand and supply for TSMC's foundry manufacturing capacity in particular and for foundry manufacturing capacity in general; intense competition; the failure of one or more significant customers to continue to place the same level of orders with us; TSMC's ability to remain a technological leader in the semiconductor industry; TSMC's ability to manage its capacity; TSMC's ability to obtain, preserve and defend its intellectual property rights; natural disasters and other unexpected events which may disrupt production; and exchange rate fluctuations. Additional information as to these and other risk factors that may cause TSMC's actual results to differ materially from TSMC's forward-looking statements may be found in TSMC's Annual Report on Form 20-F, filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission on May 9, 2002, and such other documents as the Company may file with, or submit to, the SEC from time to time.

TSMC Profile:

TSMC is the world's largest dedicated semiconductor foundry, providing the industry's leading manufacturing capacity, process technology, library and IP options, and other leading-edge foundry services. TSMC currently operates one twelve-inch wafer fab, five eight-inch wafer fabs and one six-inch fab. The Company also has substantial capacity commitments at a wholly owned U.S. subsidiary (WaferTech) and two joint-venture fabs (Vanguard and SSMC). TSMC's 300mm wafer fab (Fab 12), the first of its kind in Taiwan, commenced commercial production in January 2002. TSMC's corporate headquarters are in Hsin-Chu, Taiwan. More information about TSMC is available through the World Wide Web at <http://www.tsmc.com>.

Remarks:

TSMC today announced EPS of NT$0.23 (US$0.03 per ADR unit) for the first quarter of 2003. EPS figures in the latest quarter represent a 74% increase compared with 4Q02.

Operational results in 1Q03 are summarized below:

Net sales of NT$39.325 billion, a decrease of 4% sequentially, due to a 7% decline in average selling price in U.S. dollar terms partially offset by a 2% rise in wafer shipments and an adjustment of sales return and allowance;

Gross profit of NT$10.386 billion, a 3% decline sequentially, primarily due to a 4% decline in sales revenues. Efficiencies associated with the higher level of wafer output acted to offset some of the erosion in average pricing, resulting in a gross margin of 26.4%, virtually the same as that in 4Q02;

Operating expenses of NT$4.191 billion, a decrease of 17% sequentially, with lower research and development expenditures (NT$2.5 billion versus NT$3.7 billion in 4Q02) partly offset by higher selling and administrative overhead (NT$1.7 billion versus NT$1.4 billion);

Losses from net non-operating items and investments aggregated NT$2.015 billion. This represented a 22% improvement on a sequential basis, mainly reflecting improved performances by Wafertech and the venture-capital entity, InveStar;

Income before tax of NT$4.180 billion, up 36% sequentially. With investment tax credits and a more favorable tax result, TSMC's 1Q03 net income increased 71% to NT$4.358 billion.

Revenue Analysis:

Net sales of NT$39.325 billion were 4% less than the level recorded in 4Q02, mainly due to a 7% decline in average selling price in U.S. dollar terms that was partially offset by a 2% rise in wafer shipments and an adjustment of sales return and allowance.

Edgar Filing: TAIWAN SEMICONDUCTOR MANUFACTURING CO LTD - Form 6-K

Communications applications were the principal revenue driver in the quarter, while computers were flat. Consumer applications reflected weak seasonal demand.

Revenues from advanced technology wafers once again represented 53% of the Company's total wafer sales. Worthy of note, revenue contributed by TSMC's 0.13um technology process increased to 11% of total wafer sales in the quarter.

Revenue mix in terms of customer type remained similar to that of 4Q02. In terms of geography, the revenue mix was little changed from the previous quarter.

Revenue contributed by TSMC subsidiary/affiliates amounted to 10.7% (NT$4.205 billion) of net sales during the quarter versus 10.4% (NT$4.273 billion) in 4Q02.

Wafer shipments increased by 2% to 694K units sequentially.

ASP Trend

TSMC's average selling price in U.S. dollars declined 7% versus 4Q02, reflecting weaker pricing power amid general market softness, partly offset by a more favorable product mix.

Gross Profit Analysis

	1Q03	4Q02	1Q02	Comparisons
				QoQ	YoY
(Amount: NT$ Bn)
COGS	28.9	30.5	23.8	(5)%	22%
Depreciation	13.7	13.3	11.9	3%	15%

Gross Profit	10.4	10.7	12.0	(3)%	(14)%
Gross Margin
TSMC+Aff	26%	26%	34%
TSMC alone	29%	28%	37%

Gross Profit Analysis:

Gross profit declined NT$296 million to NT$10.386 billion. Gross margin of 26.4% in the quarter was essentially flat with 26% in 4Q02, as efficiencies associated with a higher level of wafer output helped to neutralize the negative impact of lower ASPs.

If wafers manufactured by TSMC affiliates were excluded, the gross margin from TSMC's manufacturing activities (on a stand-alone basis) would have been 29% compared with 28% in the previous quarter.

Utilization Rate:

TSMC revised its capacity utilization rate formula in the latest quarter to focus on the ratio of commercial wafer output to rated capacity in a given fiscal period. The revised formula excludes engineering wafer output in computing capacity utilization. The resulting utilization rate is a closer reflection of commercial activities in a given fiscal period. Based on the adjusted formula, capacity utilization of 67% in 1Q03 was 1% less than it would have been had the formula remained unchanged. The sequential improvement reflects a higher level of shipments in conjunction with a 4% reduction in overall capacity, almost entirely related to Vanguard. (See Table 2 on Page 6, Capacity Managed by TSMC, and discussions below.)

Operating Expenses Analysis

Comparisons

Selling & Mkting.	0.3	0.2	0.3	15%	(5)%
R & D	2.5	3.7	2.5	(32)%	(1)%

Operating Expenses:

Operating expenses declined 17% sequentially, largely due to lower R&D expenditures following the conclusion of various projects in the previous quarter. This was offset in part by higher SG&A expenses largely relating to adjustments in provisions for receivables.

Non-Operating Items & Investment:

Net interest expense was little changed from the previous quarter. Other non-operating expense items were NT$0.1 billion worse than the preceding quarter due to the net unfavorable impact of several miscellaneous items, including fixed asset disposal gain/loss, capitalized interest, and royalties.

Investment losses decreased NT$646 million compared with the previous quarter, primarily reflecting better results by WaferTech and investment gains at InveStar.

Total Current Liabilities	20.3	31.2	29.9
Current Ratio:	5.1x	3.0x	3.1x
Net Working Capital:	82.6	63.6	62.6

Liquidity Analysis:

TSMC's financial liquidity continues to improve.

The Company's current ratio increased to 5.1x as of 1Q03 from 3.0x as of 4Q02.

Net working capital (the excess of current assets over current liabilities) of NT$82.6 billion was NT$19.1 billion greater than the previous quarter. On a sequential basis, the increase in net working capital reflected a consistently strong cash inflow from operating activities and lower capital expenditures (down NT$8.8 billion, or 49%).

Receivable/Inventory Days Trend:

TSMC's receivables rose 7% versus the previous quarter, edging up to the equivalent of 42 days revenue compared with 40 days last quarter. This phenomenon is typical in a growth scenario.

Inventories, meanwhile, remained steady compared with the previous quarter, holding at the equivalent of 37.5 days cost-of-goods sold.

Debt Service:

TSMC remains an essentially debt-free company.

Net cash reserves (the excess of cash and equivalents over interest-bearing debt) increased by NT$9.7 billion in 1Q03 versus the previous quarter, reflecting TSMC's consistently strong operational cash inflow and reduced capital expenditures.

TSMC's debt level declined to NT$35.0 billion from NT$39.0 billion in the previous quarter as a result of a NT$4.0 billion corporate bond repayment.

Net Financing Sources/(Uses)	(4.0)	(5.1)	14.8
Net Cash Position Changes	5.8	(2.9)	25.0

Summary Cash Flow Analysis:

During 1Q03, TSMC generated NT$20.1 billion in cash from operating activities.

Net cash used in investing activities totaled NT$10.3 billion, including acquisitions of fixed assets in the amount of NT$9.1 billion. In addition, net cash used in financing activities included NT$4 billion in connection with a bond repayment.

TSMC ended this quarter with NT$5.8 billion more cash on hand than the previous quarter.

Operating Cash Flow Trend:

Operating cash flow of NT$20.1 billion in 1Q03 was NT$3.8 billion less than in the preceding quarter, largely due to a reduced contribution by other operating sources. The reduction mainly reflected a cash inflow arising from a change in inventory status in 4Q02 that did not recur in 1Q03.

Apart from the foregoing impact, operating cash flow showed no unfavorable developments. The sum of net income and depreciation/amortization in 1Q03 continued to gain strength versus the previous quarter.

Capital Spending and Capacity

Estimated 2003 capital expenditure: In the range of US$1.0 – US$1.5 billion.

2003 Installed Capacity (on the basis of 8-inch equivalent wafers):

1,024K/quarter as of March 2003 (actual)

1,078K/quarter as of June 2003 (estimate)

Capital Spending and Capacity:

Capital spending totaled US$261 million during 1Q03, over 80% of which was for capacity enhancements at Fabs 6, 8, and 12.

Based on current assumptions, the Company anticipates that its capital expenditures in 2003 are likely to be in the previously forecast range of US$1.0 to US$1.5 billion.

TSMC remains fully committed to providing capacity that meets both the fabrication and technological needs of its customers. The Company intends, however, to manage changes in capacity in accordance with the strength of actual demand.

¹ 6 -wafer is converted into 8 -equivalent wafer by dividing by 1.78; 12 -wafer by multiplying by 2.25.

² Total installed capacity is expressed as 8 -equivalent wafers, in thousands of wafers.

TSMC-managed production capacity totaled 1,024K eight-inch-equivalent wafers as of 1Q03. This amount was about 4% less than the 1Q03 capacity estimate provided in TSMC's 4Q02 results release on January 28, 2003.

The shortfall was nearly entirely attributable to TSMC's affiliate, Vanguard, whose capacity had been estimated at a higher level in light of a plan to make all Vanguard capacity foundry-compatible.

This plan did not materialize by the end of 1Q03, and the capacity schedule has been adjusted downward as a result.

A summary of TSMC's capacity by fabs for 2Q03 is shown in Table 2.

2Q03 Guidance

- Ø Wafer shipments to grow above 20% on a sequential basis;
- Ø ASP to improve by 4% due to better product mix;
- Ø Revenues from advanced-process technologies (0.18um and more advanced) to account for about 60% of total wafer sales;
- Ø An overall utilization rate exceeding 80%, with capacities capable of advanced-process technologies to be utilized at a rate higher than 85%;
- Ø Business demand to improve across all customer application segments. The consumer segment should report the strongest growth momentum, followed by the computer segment and the communication segment, respectively.
- Ø We continue to expect that CAPEX in 2003 will be within the range of US$1.0 to US$1.5 billion.
