The following is a transcript from a presentation given by GTECH's CFO, Alberto Fornaro, on October 23, 2014.

Thank you for joining us for GTECH's net roadshow regarding our bond consent solicitation process. I am Alberto Fornaro, the CFO of GTECH. We will begin our presentation on slide 6.

Slide 6 - New Global Leader in End-to-End Gaming

On 16 July, we entered into a definitive merger agreement with IGT. By entering into this transaction, we will be joining two iconic gaming companies that are leaders in their categories and have literally driven the growth and innovation of the government sponsored and commercial segments since their beginnings.

Once this transaction is concluded, we will have created the world's leading end-to-end gaming company. We will have the most diversified product portfolio in the gaming industry with an unmatched global footprint.

With this transaction we will be able to provide to our customers premium products and services for any channel or market segment they choose to enter.

We will also have the kind of scale that can make a real difference in delivering powerful and innovative revenue-generating gaming programs and products driven by our industry-leading R&D efforts.

Edgar Filing: INTERNATIONAL GAME TECHNOLOGY - Form 425

The transaction also creates immediate financial value as we expect it to be accretive to cashflow. To that end, we expect to achieve $280 million of EBITDA synergies within three years.

Slide 7 - Best-in-Class Offerings Across Client Spectrum

Combined, we are the leader in all major gaming markets segments – lottery, gaming machines, interactive wagering and social gaming. The combination will create an unparalleled portfolio of products and services for our customers.

Slide 8 - Enhanced Geographical Diversity

On slide 8, the combination brings greater diversity and balance to our geographical sources of revenue. By 2013 pro forma revenues, Italy would have contributed about 36% of our revenues while North America would have provided 46%, with the remainder from international jurisdictions. That also provides a natural hedge for fluctuations in worldwide economies and their currencies.

Slide 9 Product Diversification

The transaction also diversifies our sources of revenue by products. In the combined company, gaming equipment would have made up 51% of 2013 pro forma revenues and 43% for lotteries and interactive. The profile is more balanced and much less concentrated in any one product segment.

And, most importantly, we are the leader in key segments of the gaming industry. Lottery, casino and distributed gaming machines and interactive products are expected to grow over the next five years.

Slide 10 - Achievable Synergies Driving Value

We expect EBITDA synergies of $280m to be driven by $230m related to cost savings and $50m of revenue enhancements. Based on our extensive experience and capability in the area, we are confident that they are achievable.

Slide 11 - Transaction Snapshot

On slide 11, we will review some of the transaction details.

Under the terms of the merger, GTECH will acquire all outstanding shares of IGT for $13.69 in cash and 0.1819 shares of HoldCo for a total of $18.25 per IGT share. This represents a 75% cash and 25% stock transaction.

The transaction value represents an aggregate consideration of $4.7 billion and an implied enterprise value of $6.4 billion, including the assumption of $1.7 billion in debt. This also reflects an implied multiple of 8.7x, or 6.3x assuming pro forma run-rate synergies.

GTECH and IGT will combine under the HoldCo structure which will be solely listed on the New York Stock Exchange and will be a U.S. registered company.

Our pro forma ownership will be split 80% GTECH and 20% IGT (assuming no withdrawal rights are exercised).

From a governance perspective, Marco Sala, GTECH's Chief Executive Officer, will serve as the Chief Executive Officer of HoldCo. The initial HoldCo board will be comprised of 13 directors.

Slide 12 - Transaction Structure Overview

The newly formed holding company HoldCo was created for this transaction and will be domiciled in the United Kingdom.

IGT will merge into a wholly-owned U.S. subsidiary of HoldCo for the 75% cash and 25% stock consideration.

GTECH will merge into HoldCo and GTECH shareholders will receive HoldCo shares on a 1-for-1 basis. Italian assets will be transferred to two Italian HoldCo subsidiaries with no impact on operations.

According to Italian law, GTECH shareholders have the right to withdraw their shares. The transaction maximum is 20%.

Slide 13 - Expected Financing, Capital Structure and Dividend Policy

We expect to finance the cash portion of the consideration with cash on hand and new financing. We have a $10.7 billion bridge loan to finance the transaction, including refinancing certain existing indebtedness. The main uses of the $10.7 billion financing include:

$3.7B cash consideration

$1.3B IGT notes backstop

2.8B GTECH notes backstop

$0.6B drawn credit facilities backstop

At or before closing, we plan to replace the bridge facility with bond issuances in Euro, in US $ and with new revolving credit facilities.

Net debt/EBITDA at closing is expected to be 4.5/4.9x excluding synergies. The synergy run rate would reduce leverage by 0.5x to 0.6x. We believe significant cash generation and improved cash conversion ratio will help bring the net leverage ratio down to 4.0x or below depending on the initial level.

Going forward and with the exception of year one, we expect the Board to implement a dividend policy that returns at maximum 50% of levered free cash flow. This is consistent with GTECH's past dividend policy.

All in all, HoldCo will generate significant cash flow from operations and will materially enhance our cash flow conversion.

Slide 14 - Indicative Timetable

This is a long dated transaction that is expected to close in the first half of 2015.
