Section 1 - Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Item 1.01 Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

Conflict Minerals Disclosure

For the 2014 reporting period, we continued to execute in good faith a reasonable country of origin inquiry ( RCOI ) on the source of our Conflict Minerals. Our RCOI was reasonably designed to determine whether the tantalum, tin, tungsten or gold ( Conflict Minerals ) contained in our products originated from the Democratic Republic of the Congo or an adjoining country (the Covered Countries ) or was from recycled or scrap sources.

Based on our RCOI, we have no reason to believe that our necessary Conflict Minerals may have originated in the Covered Countries.

As part of our RCOI, we continued to receive responses from and followed up with the over 300 direct suppliers that potentially sold products containing Conflict Minerals who were originally contacted during the 2013 reporting period. As part of these efforts, we sent letters to these direct suppliers requesting that they and their suppliers complete the Conflict Minerals Reporting Template provided by the Conflict-Free Sourcing Initiative. We received responses from the majority of our direct suppliers and responses from certain of our suppliers suppliers. Our RCOI was designed to receive responses from all of our direct suppliers, and we have made a good faith effort to receive responses from all of our direct suppliers. During the 2014 reporting period, we also sent letters to all of our new direct suppliers requesting that they and their suppliers complete the Conflict Minerals Reporting Template provided by the Conflict-Free Sourcing Initiative and have received responses from the majority of those as well. Additionally, in order to ensure responses to the Conflict Minerals Reporting Template remain as up to date and accurate as possible, we require compliance with Rule 13p-1 and place an affirmative duty on our direct suppliers to update their previously submitted Conflict Minerals Reporting Template as conditions to purchase orders placed during the 2014 reporting period to our direct suppliers.

In addition to returning the Conflict Minerals Reporting Template, some of our suppliers returned certifications regarding the origin of their Conflict Minerals. Other suppliers submitted their Conflict Minerals Policies, which prohibit the sourcing of Conflict Minerals from the Covered Countries or prohibit the sourcing of Conflict Minerals that directly or indirectly finance or benefit armed groups in the Covered Countries. None of our direct suppliers or our suppliers suppliers indicated that the Conflict Minerals contained in the products sold to us originated in the Covered Countries. To our knowledge, there is no contrary evidence or red flags that cast doubt on the representations made by our suppliers. Therefore, we have determined after our RCOI, reasonably designed and conducted in good faith, that we have no reason to believe that our necessary Conflict Minerals may have originated in the Covered Countries.
