EFFECTIVE S-4 ALL-COLLEAGUE MEMO FROM ED BREEN

DuPont Colleagues,

Today marks another important milestone in our Journey to Three. The DowDuPont registration statement on Form S-4 was declared effective by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). This regulatory development indicates that the filing is complete, and we may now send the joint proxy statement/prospectus contained in the S-4 directly to stockholders. It provides important information regarding our proposed merger of equals with Dow so that stockholders have everything they need to vote on the proposed transaction.

As reflected in the joint proxy statement and prospectus that was filed with the SEC, the dates for the respective DuPont and Dow special meetings of stockholders in connection with the proposed merger have been set. Both meetings will be held on July 20, 2016.

In advance of the Special Meeting, we will reach out to our stockholders and ask them to vote FOR the adoption of the merger agreement and related matters. In our communication, we will highlight the compelling benefits of integrating the capabilities of DuPont and Dow to create three highly focused, industry leading businesses in Agriculture, Material Science and Specialty Products. We also will explain, as we have at recent Town Halls and at TechCon, how each business will be more competitive, more resilient and better equipped to deliver growth and long-term sustainable value, and drive greater innovation than DuPont could do on its own.

Employees who are DuPont stockholders of record as of the close of business on June 2, 2016 are encouraged to vote on the proposed merger at DuPont's Special Meeting. They will receive the joint proxy statement/prospectus with information about how to vote. It is important for stockholders to know that each vote is very important, regardless of the number of shares held. Anyone who chooses NOT to vote will have their shares counted as votes against the merger.

Given the importance of this transaction to the future of DuPont, I hope we can count on your support. There is no need to wait for the Special Meeting; please vote using the proxy card as soon as you receive the proxy materials.

I also want to take this opportunity to thank all DuPonters for their contributions as we achieve this milestone. While the effective S-4 and upcoming Special Meeting represent significant steps forward in our Journey to Three, we are also driving strong momentum across our businesses, delivering for our customers and stockholders. I am proud of all that we have accomplished toward our 2016 Strategic Objectives while also staying focused on our Core Values. These are all essential elements to our long-term success. I'm pleased with the progress we are making and continually impressed by the amazing work, focus and dedication of our team.

Thank you,

Ed

Cautionary Notes on Forward Looking Statements

This communication contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the federal securities laws, including Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. In this context, forward-looking statements often address expected future business and financial performance and financial condition, and often contain words such as expect, anticipate, intend, plan, believe, seek, see, will, would, target, similar expressions, and variations or negatives of these words. Forward-looking statements by their nature address matters that are, to different degrees, uncertain, such as statements about the consummation of the proposed transaction and the anticipated benefits thereof. These and other forward-looking statements, including the failure to consummate the proposed transaction or to make or take any filing or other action required to consummate such transaction on a timely matter or at all, are not guarantees of future results and are subject to risks, uncertainties and assumptions that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in any forward-looking statements. Important risk factors that may cause such a difference include, but are not limited to, (i) the completion of the proposed transaction on anticipated terms and timing, including obtaining shareholder and regulatory approvals, anticipated tax treatment, unforeseen liabilities, future capital expenditures, revenues, expenses, earnings, synergies, economic performance, indebtedness, financial condition, losses, future prospects, business and management strategies for the management, expansion and growth of the new combined company's operations and other conditions to the completion of the merger, (ii) the ability of Dow and DuPont to integrate the business successfully and to achieve anticipated synergies, risks and costs and pursuit and/or implementation of the potential separations, including anticipated timing, any changes to the configuration of businesses included in the potential separation if implemented, (iii) the intended separation of the agriculture, material science and specialty products businesses of the combined company post-mergers in one or more tax efficient transactions on anticipated terms and timing, including a number of conditions which could delay, prevent or otherwise adversely affect the proposed transactions, including possible issues or delays in obtaining required regulatory approvals or clearances, disruptions in the financial markets or other potential barriers, (iv) potential litigation relating to the proposed transaction that could be instituted against Dow, DuPont or their respective directors, (v) the risk that disruptions from the proposed transaction will harm Dow's or DuPont's business, including current plans and operations, (vi) the ability of Dow or DuPont to retain and hire key personnel, (vii) potential adverse reactions or changes to business relationships resulting from the announcement or completion of the merger, (viii) uncertainty as to the long-term value of DowDuPont common stock, (ix) continued availability of capital and financing and rating agency actions, (x) legislative, regulatory and economic developments, (xi) potential business uncertainty, including changes to existing business relationships, during the pendency of the merger that could affect Dow's and/or DuPont's financial performance, (xii) certain restrictions during the pendency of the merger that may impact Dow's or DuPont's ability to pursue certain business opportunities or strategic transactions and (xiii) unpredictability and severity of catastrophic events, including, but not limited to, acts of terrorism or outbreak of war or hostilities, as well as management's response to any of the aforementioned factors. These risks, as well as other risks associated with the proposed merger, are more fully discussed in the joint proxy statement/prospectus included in the Registration Statement filed with the SEC in connection with the proposed merger. While the list of factors presented here is, and the list of factors presented in the Registration Statement are, considered representative, no such list should be considered to be a complete statement of all potential risks and uncertainties. Unlisted factors may present significant additional obstacles to the realization of forward looking statements. Consequences of material differences in results as compared with those anticipated in the forward-looking statements could include, among other things, business disruption, operational problems, financial loss, legal liability to third parties and similar risks, any of which could have a material adverse effect on Dow's or DuPont's consolidated financial condition, results of operations, credit rating or liquidity. Neither Dow nor DuPont assumes any obligation to publicly provide revisions or updates to any forward looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise, should circumstances change, except as otherwise required by securities and other applicable laws.
