Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

Central Valley Community Bancorp's banking subsidiary Central Valley Community Bank (the "Bank") entered into a deferred compensation agreements with Robert Flautt, a non-employee director of Central Valley Community Bancorp and the Bank pursuant to which Mr. Flautt has elected to defer some or all of board fees in exchange for the Bank's promise to pay a deferred benefit in the future. The Bank has entered into substantially similar arrangements with five of its other directors. The agreement allows Mr. Flautt to reduce current taxable income in exchange for larger payments at retirement, when he could be in a lower tax bracket. Deferred director fees are expensed by the Bank and are set aside in a separate liability account. Credited on the account balance at a rate determined annually by the Board of Directors, interest on deferred fees continues to accrue until Mr. Flautt's service terminates and payment of benefits commences. Payment of accrued benefits, represented by the account balance, can be made in a lump sum or in installments, at Mr. Flautt's election. After retirement, benefit payments are taxable income to Mr. Flautt and are deductible expenses to the Bank as they are paid. The deferred compensation arrangements with non-employee directors are unfunded, which means that a participating director has no rights beyond those of a general creditor of the Bank, and no specific Bank assets are set aside for payment of account balances. A director whose service terminates for cause forfeits all accrued interest and is entitled solely to the fees previously deferred.

This summary is qualified by the terms of the deferred compensation agreement attached as Exhibit 10.1 to this report and incorporated by reference herein.
