Item 8.01. Other Events.

Effective November 15, 2012, Rurban Financial Corp.'s technology subsidiary, Rurbanc Data Services, Inc. d/b/a RDSI Banking Systems ("RDSI"), reached an agreement with New Core Holdings, Inc. ("New Core") to settle their pending litigation relating to the agreements and transactions entered into between RDSI and New Core between April 2009 and April 2010. As previously disclosed in Rurban Financial Corp.'s periodic reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, the litigation with New Core was initiated in January 2011 and was last pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio (Case No. 3:11cv366).

As part of the settlement agreement, RDSI and New Core agreed to an entry of judgment in favor of RDSI and against New Core in the amount of $3,000,000, provided that RDSI will forbear from collecting on the agreed judgment entry for a period of time to allow New Core to market its data and item processing software for sale to a third party. In the event of a sale of the New Core software, RDSI will be entitled to receive a portion of the sale proceeds as payment against the agreed judgment, which could result in RDSI receiving less than the agreed judgment amount. Both RDSI and New Core provided mutual releases of claims as part of the settlement, with the exception of the agreed judgment entry described herein, as well as certain continued rights of RDSI in New Core collateral.
