Item 8.01 Other Events.

On February 10, 2014, pursuant to an unanimous written consent of the board of the directors in lieu of a special meeting (the “Board Resolution”), Competitive Technologies, Inc.’s board of directors (the “Board”) determined that Mr. Johnnie Johnson (“Johnson”) may have acted contrary to the best interests of Competitive Technologies, Inc. (the “Company”) and its stockholders in connection to certain contracts, agreements, initiatives or other actions Johnson entered into on behalf of the Company without obtaining the Board’s approval (the “Actions”) and may have breached fiduciary duties owed to the Company and its stockholders under Delaware law during his employment as the Chief Financial Officer and consultant for the Company.

To protect the best interest of the Company and its stockholders, the Board further determined that Johnson did not have the authority to act on behalf of the Company in connection to the Actions and rendered such Actions rejected, null and void. The Board also authorized certain officers to take all measures appropriate and necessary to nullify the Actions.
