INFORMATION TO BE INCLUDED IN THE REPORT

Item 7.01 Regulation FD.

On January 22, 2010, Sterling Savings Bank (the "Bank"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sterling Financial Corporation ("Sterling"), announced the retirement of Steve Page, 61, from the position of chief credit officer. Page has held that position for most of his 26-year career with the Bank.

Sterling expects to use an executive recruitment firm to identify potential candidates to lead the Bank's credit administration and management functions into the future. In the meantime, Steve Hauschild, a senior credit executive, is leading the Bank's core credit administration and construction credit units. Those functions, along with the asset resolution, investment and portfolio management, and appraisal teams, are reporting directly to J. Gregory "Greg" Seibly, chief executive officer of Sterling and the Bank, until the Bank names a new chief credit officer.

Sterling expects that the consolidation of the credit functions will allow the Bank to continue to provide high levels of support to the Bank's customers and to remain focused on the Bank's critical initiatives: attracting new capital, further diversifying the loan portfolio, managing and improving credit quality, increasing deposits and controlling expenses. The changes are effective immediately.
