Script for Investor Conference Call - April 12, 2006

Andy Wilson: Thank you and good morning everyone. With me today is Larry Culp, our President and Chief Executive Officer and Dan Comas, our Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer. This call will be recorded and remain on our website www.danaher.com for one week.

I would like to point out that in order to help you understand the company's direction, we will be making some forward-looking statements during the call, including statements regarding the proposed transaction between Sybron Dental Specialties and Danaher; the expected timetable for completing the transaction; future financial and operating results; benefits and synergies of the transaction; future opportunities for the combined company; and any other statements that are not statements of historical fact. These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, including those related to our ability to satisfy the purchase agreement conditions and consummate the transaction; our ability to successfully integrate Sybron's operations and employees; our ability to realize anticipated synergies and cost savings; and the other factors described in our most recent Annual Report on Form 10K and other SEC filings. It is possible that actual results might differ materially from any forward-looking statements that we might make today, and we disclaim any intention or obligation to update any forward looking statements as a result of subsequent developments. We will be taking questions at the end of the prepared remarks.

With that I would like to turn the call over to Larry.

Larry Culp: Thanks Andy and good morning everyone. Given the proximity of today's call to our first quarter earnings release which will be a week from Thursday, I would like to give you a quick update on the quarter. Revenues for the first quarter were $2.14 billion, an increase of 17.4% when compared to the first quarter of 2005. Core revenue growth contributed 7.5% of this increase as we experienced broad based strength across the portfolio. In addition, our earnings per share for the quarter are expected to be slightly above the high end of our previous guidance of $0.61-0.64 per share before the impact of any nonrecurring gains including the expected gain on the sale of our interest in First Technology which will likely be recognized in the second quarter of this year. We will provide more color on the first quarter results as well as our outlook for the remainder of the year during our earnings call scheduled for April 20th at 8:00 am and we will not be providing any further comment until that time.

I am very pleased to announce that we have reached an agreement with the Board of Directors of Sybron Dental Specialties to extend a tender offer for all of the outstanding shares of Sybron at a price per share of $47, representing a total consideration of approximately $2.0 billion including transaction costs and net of cash. In addition, Danaher would also assume approximately $200 million in debt. We believe that Sybron will be an excellent addition to our existing dental equipment portfolio.

Headquartered in Newport Beach, California, Sybron Dental Specialties is a leading manufacturer of dental consumables. The company generated revenues for the fiscal year ended September 30th, 2005 of approximately $650 million, had gross margins of 57% and operating margins of almost 20%. The company operates in two segments Professional Dental and Specialty Dental.

Sybron's Professional Dental business, led by its well established Kerr brand, represented approximately 53% of total revenues in fiscal 2005. The Professional Dental business produces a broad array of consumable products used by dental professionals, including restorative and impression materials, products designed for infection prevention, and visual magnification devices.

Sybron's Specialty Dental segment, representing approximately 47% of 2005 revenues, is a leading supplier of orthodontic, endodontic and dental implant products used by dental specialists and orthodontists. The key brand here isOrmco.

We have been researching the $9 billion dental consumables market for several years, well before we completed our first dental equipment acquisition in 2004, and we find it very attractive.

As with dental equipment, favorable demographic trends and increasing demand for cosmetic services have sustained mid-single digit growth in this industry for many years. We believe that an aging global population combined with people's desire to retain their natural teeth will continue to drive long term growth opportunities.

In addition, dental professionals are looking for ways to be more productive and offer more procedures. Today more than ever, dental professionals have a compelling reason to maximize their capacity for patient flow and offer a complete suite of procedures to satisfy their patients.

We are excited about this opportunity and find the strategic logic here compelling for both Danaher and Sybron for a number of reasons:

First, Sybron has a stable of very strong brands with leading market positions in an attractive growth industry. Sybron currently has a sales presence in 30 countries with approximately 55% of revenues in North America, 30% in Europe, and 15% in the rest of world. Its Kerr brand dating back to 1890 and its Ormco brand which is now almost 50 years old are considered two of the strongest franchises in dentistry. We anticipate historically favorable industry dynamics to continue to support solid growth.

Second, Sybron's consumables and small equipment offering would represent a logical extension of Danaher's dental equipment business. The combination would create a portfolio similar to the equipment and consumables mix we enjoy in a number of our existing businesses including VideoJet, Radiometer and Hach/Lange. While the channel to market for consumables and equipment is separated in developed markets, the acquisition of Sybron would allow us to leverage our respective strengths across both international and emerging markets. Sybron would also serve as the cornerstone for any future dental consumable acquisitions.

Finally, we believe it makes sense financially, affording us the opportunity to add value through the application of the Danaher Business System. Earnings per share accretion will be minimal in 2006, but is expected to be approximately $0.06 to $0.09 accretive in 2007 and it meets our return metrics.

In addition, I would like to thank Kenneth Yontz, Sybron's Chairman, and Floyd Pickrell, Jr., the company's President and Chief Executive Officer, and the rest of the Sybron team. We are pleased that the Sybron Board of Directors has unanimously recommended our tender offer and we look forward to a long and successful alliance with Sybron. Now let me turn the call over to Dan Comas and he will walk you through the process with respect to the tender offer.

Dan Comas: Thank you Larry. Good morning, let me provide a little background on the situation and our offer.

We expect to formally launch the tender offer next week. We will be offering $47 per share in cash representing an enterprise value of approximately $2.2 billion including the assumption of their debt.

The offer will be subject to customary conditions, including tender of a majority of the outstanding shares into the offer, regulatory approvals and the absence of any material adverse effect with respect to Sybron. As we have done with our other public company acquisitions, if a majority of the outstanding shares tender into the offer, we expect to acquire the remainder of the shares through a merger. We also expect to de-list the company following successful completion of the offer. We anticipate completing the offer in the second quarter of 2006.

Andy Wilson: Thanks Dan. We would now like to open it up to any questions you may have.
