Hello Everyone

This week there were a couple announcements related to our proposed merger with US Airways. First we announced that we will need to free up flight numbers to accommodate adding US Airways' mainline and regional affiliate flights to our global network upon completion of the merger. As you might imagine, there aren't enough numbers to accommodate both schedules. As a result, there will be changes to some American and American Eagle flight numbers. The process will occur in phases through the coming months, with changes to mainline flights expected in August. The first flight number changes will apply to all flights operated by American Eagle and ExpressJet and will be visible in American's reservation system on Sunday, May 5. While this likely will not affect your work environment, you may notice that flight numbers that we've had in our system for some time between cities, and that you're familiar with, may change. You can read more about the upcoming changes on new Jetnet and also view a series of Q&A (starts around question 25) on the subject.

As I mentioned last week, a lot of work is being done to ensure a smooth transition to our merger with US Airways. This past Monday, Tom Horton and Doug Parker issued a joint letter to all employees describing in more detail the planning that is occurring in both D/FW and Tempe. In the letter, Tom and Doug reiterate the importance of putting together a strong leadership team and it's expected that they will announce Doug's direct reports in late May or early July. You should have received the letter from Tom and Doug in your @aa.com email boxes, but I have also linked it here for your convenience.

For all the latest on merger news be sure to take a look at the merger space on new Jetnet.

As we progress through the merger process, it's vitally important that we continue to operate a great airline and offer our customers the very best service in the industry. I thank each of you for your efforts and professionalism, and for ensuring our customers' experience is an exceptional one.

Sincerely,

Lauri
