Letter from the President

Thomas J. Fuccillo

President & Chief Executive Officer

Dear Shareholder:

The US economy continued to expand during the six-month fiscal reporting period ended August 31, 2017, although the overall pace was fairly modest. Meanwhile, there were indications that economic activity overseas was improving. Against this backdrop, US and international equities generated strong results. Elsewhere, the US bond market posted a relatively modest return during the reporting period.

For the period since it s inception on June 30, 2017 through August 31, 2017:

AllianzGI Convertible & Income 2024 Target Term Fund returned 0.32% on net asset value (NAV) and -0.54% on market price.

For the six-month reporting period ended August 31, 2017:

AllianzGI Convertible & Income Fund returned 1.98% on net asset value (NAV) and 7.13% on market price.

AllianzGI Convertible & Income Fund II returned 2.29% on net asset value (NAV) and 7.05% on market price.

During the six-month period ended August 31, 2017, the Standard & Poor s (S&P) 500 Index, an unmanaged index generally representative of the US stock market, rose 5.65% and the BofA Merrill Lynch High Yield Master II Index, an unmanaged index generally representative of the high yield bond market, gained 3.08%. Convertible securities, which share characteristics of both stocks and bonds, also generated strong results. The BofA Merrill Lynch All Convertibles-All Qualities Index, an unmanaged index generally representative of the convertible securities market, returned 5.59%. The blended index 40% ML US Conv/45% ML US HY BB - B/15% CS Leveraged Loan, returned 1.57% since the AllianzGI Convertible & Income 2024 Target Term Fund was incepted on June 30, 2017, and returned 3.90% during the full reporting period.

Turning to the US economy, gross domestic product (GDP), the value of goods and services produced in the country, the broadest measure of economic activity and a principal indicator of economic performance, expanded at a 1.8% annualized pace during the fourth quarter of 2016. GDP then moderated to a 1.2% annual pace during the first quarter of 2017. The Commerce Department s final reading showed that GDP released after the reporting period had ended grew at an annual pace of 3.1% for the second quarter of 2017.

The US Federal Reserve (the Fed) raised interest rates on two separate occasions during the reporting period: in March 2017 and June 2017. In both cases, the Fed s movements were well telegraphed. With the rate hike in June, the federal funds rate moved to a range between 1.00% and 1.25%. In a statement following the July meeting, the Fed indicated that it planned to begin reducing its balance sheet, saying The Committee expects to begin implementing its balance sheet normalization program relatively soon, provided that the economy evolves broadly as anticipated. Then, at its September meeting after the reporting period ended the Fed said, In October, the Committee will initiate the balance sheet normalization program

Outlook

We believe the global economy has been in a cyclical sweet spot for more than a year. Meanwhile, geopolitical factors, including ongoing tensions with North Korea, continue to play on investor sentiment. In our view, actively differentiating between regions and countries will become more important for investors.

Global growth has continued at around 3%, and we expect moderately higher core inflation over the medium term. While the global economic landscape remains solid, we expect it to become rocky over the months ahead, and believe that country-specific risk factors will become more important to asset-allocation strategies.

Central banks in the US, the eurozone and the UK have embarked on a path towards normalization or are, at least, talking about it. Fading bond reinvestments by the Fed, proper tapering by the European Central Bank and an already visible slowdown in Japanese government bond purchases by the Bank of Japan is expected to culminate in a global central bank peak liquidity during the first half of 2018, in our view.

Apart from ambitious valuations in most asset classes, in our view, signs of market complacency have grown. While we remain risk-on for cyclical reasons for the time being, we are fully aware that the risks for a setback have increased. Our message remains: If you take no risk, you will earn no return. In today s markets in particular, that means using active management to identify opportunities for income and capital gain, and to manage the periods of volatility that may arise.

AllianzGI Convertible & Income 2024 Target Term Fund / AllianzGI Convertible & Income Fund / AllianzGI Convertible & Income Fund II

August 31, 2017 (unaudited)

AllianzGI Convertible & Income 2024 Target Term Fund

For the period from inception on June 30, 2017 through August 31, 2017, as provided by Doug Forsyth, CFA, Portfolio Manager.

For the period since the Fund s inception through August 31, 2017, the AllianzGI Convertible & Income 2024 Target Term Fund (the Fund) returned 0.32% on net asset value (NAV) and -0.54% on market price.

Market Environment

The convertible bond, high-yield bond and senior secured loan markets moved higher over the reporting period, despite a number of macro-related headwinds toward the end of the reporting period.

In general, convertibles benefited from the strength of the equity market, while high-yield bonds rallied alongside stocks, which touched record levels.

Several factors, in our view, influenced these asset classes throughout the reporting period, including corporate fundamentals, economic indicators and moves by the US Federal Reserve (Fed).

During the reporting period US companies continued to exhibit improving fundamentals as operating results for most issuers met or exceeded expectations and high-yield bond credit metrics showed further improvement. Second quarter earnings in 2017 finished stronger-than-expected and marked a second consecutive quarter of double-digit year-over-year earnings growth according to FactSet Research Systems Inc., a multinational financial data and software company that provides financial information and analytic software for investment professionals. Concurrently, Bank of America Merrill Lynch reported that high-yield net leverage ticked lower and interest coverage rose during the period.

Certain economic statistics also factored into the market strength. The unemployment rate fell and housing prices continued their upward trend. Consumer and small business confidence remained at bullish levels and key manufacturing and service surveys ended within expansionary territory. Lastly, price indexes remained relatively benign.

As anticipated, the Fed increased interest rates for the second time this year, pushing the federal funds rate to a range of 1.00% to 1.25%. The market s response to the Fed s rate hike decision was muted. Additionally, the Fed noted that the process of balance sheet reduction is expected to begin later this year, reflecting their confidence in the US economy. Overall, the Fed did not deviate from its gradual approach toward policy adjustments, and along with continued accommodative economic policies outside the US, this lends support to the investment in risk assets.

Portfolio Review

The Fund provided a positive total return from inception to the end of the reporting period.

In the convertible bond sleeve, the sectors that contributed positively to relative performance were health care, industrials and telecommunications. On the other hand, the technology, financials and energy sectors pressured relative performance.

4 Semi-Annual Report | August 31, 2017

In the high-yield bond sleeve, industry exposure that helped relative performance included retail, basic industry & real estate and food & drug retailers. Conversely, the telecommunications, health care and support-services sectors hindered relative performance.

In the senior secured loan sleeve, top-contributing sectors included rail, health care and capital goods. In contrast, the media, personal & household products and automotive sectors negatively impacted performance.

Outlook

US stock markets are trading near all-time highs, equity volatility remains subdued and interest rates reside above the lows on an economic outlook that we believe is improving. Historically, these factors have been positive indicators for both economic and corporate earnings growth and supportive of investments in risk assets.

We expect the US economy to expand at a moderate pace in 2017 with the stock market s strength and the Treasury s yield curve confirming this notion, in our view. Moreover, positive tax reform, decreased regulation and increased fiscal spending could result in even stronger economic growth.

US monetary policy continues to be modestly accommodative and we expect the Fed to continue to take a gradual approach toward policy adjustments. Additional interest rate hikes and balance sheet reduction efforts could signal confidence in the US economy s ability to grow. The purpose of these adjustments would be to achieve a normalized environment after an extended period of extreme accommodation. Outside of the US, global monetary policy continues to be constructive.

After bottoming in the second quarter of 2016, corporate profits have accelerated through the second quarter of 2017. Based on bottom-up estimates, we believe they are poised to trend higher throughout year.

In addition to providing a strong total return, the Funds also provided a high level of income over the reporting period.

In the convertible sleeve, the consumer discretionary sector had a positive contribution to relative performance. Additionally, issue selection was strongest in energy. On the other hand, the health care, telecommunications and technology sectors pressured relative performance.

In the high-yield sleeve, the theaters & entertainment, printing & publishing and steel producers/products sectors helped relative performance. Conversely, the telecommunications, support-services and energy industries hindered relative performance.

Notes to Performance & Statistics:

- * Credit ratings apply to the underlying holdings of the Funds and not the Funds themselves and are divided into categories ranging from highest to lowest credit quality, determined for purposes of presentations in this report by using ratings provided by S&P Global Ratings (S&P). Presentations of credit ratings information in this report use ratings provided by S&P for this purpose, among other reasons, because of the access to background information and other materials provided by S&P, as well as the Funds—considerations of industry practice. Securities not rated by S&P, or bonds that do not have a rating available from S&P, or bonds that had a rating withdrawn by S&P are designated as—NR—or—NA—, respectively. Credit quality ratings assigned by a rating agency are subjective opinions, not statements of fact, and are subject to change periodically, even as frequently as daily. Ratings assigned by S&P or another rating agency are not absolute standards of credit quality and do not evaluate market risk. Rating agencies may fail to make timely changes in credit ratings, and an issuer—s current financial condition may be better or worse than a rating indicates. In formulating investment decisions for the Funds, Allianz Global Investors U.S. LLC develops its own analysis of the credit quality and risks associated with individual debt instruments, rather than relying exclusively on rating agencies or third-party research.
- (1) Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Total return is calculated by determining the percentage change in NAV or market price (as applicable) in the specified period. The calculation assumes that all dividends and distributions, if any, have been reinvested. Total return does not reflect broker commissions or sales charges in connection with the purchase or sale of Fund shares. Total return for a period of more than one year represents the average annual total return. Total return for a period of less than one year is not annualized.

Performance at market price will differ from results at NAV. Although market price returns tend to reflect investment results over time, during shorter periods returns at market price can also be influenced by factors such as changing views about the Funds, market conditions, supply and demand for each Funds shares, or changes in each Funds dividends.

An investment in each Fund involves risk, including the loss of principal. Total return, market price, market price yield and NAV will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. This data is provided for information purposes only and is not intended for trading purposes. Closed-end funds, unlike open-end funds, are not continuously offered. There is a one time public offering and once issued, shares of closed-end funds are traded in the open market through a stock exchange. NAV is equal to total assets attributable to common shareholders less total liabilities divided by the number of common shares outstanding. Holdings are subject to change daily.

- (2) The NAV disclosed in the Funds financial statements may differ from this NAV due to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
- (3) Market Price Yield is determined by dividing the annualized current monthly dividend per common share (comprised of net investment income) by the market price per common share at August 31, 2017.

- (4) Represents amounts drawn under the short-term margin loan facility (Leverage) outstanding, as a percentage of total managed assets. Total managed assets refer to total assets (including assets attributable to Leverage) minus liabilities (other than liabilities representing Leverage).
- (5) Represents Preferred Shares (Leverage) outstanding, as a percentage of total managed assets. Total managed assets refer to total assets (including assets attributable to Leverage) minus liabilities (other than liabilities representing Leverage).

Notes to Schedule of Investments:

- * Less than $500.
- (a) Private Placement Restricted as to resale and may not have a readily available market. Securities with an aggregate value of $90,045,002, representing 50.2% of net assets.
- (b) These securities generally pay interest at rates which are periodically pre-determined by reference to a base lending rate plus a premium. These base lending rates are generally either the lending rate offered by one or more major European banks, such as the LIBOR or the prime rate offered by one or more major United States banks, or the certificate of deposit rate. These securities are generally considered to be restricted as the Fund is ordinarily contractually obligated to receive approval from the Agent bank and/or borrower prior to disposition.
