PROSPECTUS SUMMARY

The following summary highlights selected information contained elsewhere in this prospectus. This summary does not contain all the information you should consider before investing in our common stock. You should carefully read this prospectus in its entirety before investing in our common stock, including the sections entitled “Risk Factors” and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” and our consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Overview

The Company’s primary subsidiary, Natur, was founded in late 2015 and has its headquarters in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. The current products include a range of cold pressed juices and healthy snacks. These products are currently sold, either directly or through distribution partners, in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom. The Company is formulating plans for further expansion in Europe and, ultimately to North America. Technology is the force of our innovation as we build culturally relevant consumer products that nurture the human body.

Natur’s products are produced by a primary product supplier, AMC Juices, which is also the parent company of one of our significant shareholders, SFI Gestion de Participaciones Minoritarias SL. AMC Juices is one of the leading European suppliers of “white label” natural juices to over 70 of the largest retail chains in Europe. AMC is well known as the sector’s innovation leader in Europe with proprietary manufacturing and production technologies. The Natur products deploy patented technologies to proprietary fruit, vegetable and nutrient dense blends that are bottled or packed under technologically advanced food safety measures, including cold high pressure processing to bring fresh tasting fruit and vegetable blends to market through more than 15 product types.

Natur’s product route to market combines direct-to-business, direct-to-consumer and distribution through select distributors. We also operate our flagship branded store in the Amsterdam canal district to operate as a consumer experiential environment. Our direct to consumer distribution is done via our own ‘flagship’ store outlet, in-shop solutions, supermarket chains, health clubs and online sales., In this regard we have created a robust multi-country, e-commerce platform that offers “curated” propositions and personalized delivery options to optimally increase our direct-to-consumer relationship. We also make use of tailored social media tools and sophisticated, catching viral marketing campaigns.

The Natur products offer consumers a value proposition of the most authentic, affordable fresh fruit and vegetable juice experience that democratizes clean, healthy, eating and drinking occasions.

Corporate Information

Natur operated as a private enterprise in the Netherlands from its founding in 2015 through November 13, 2018, when it was acquired as a wholly owned subsidiary in a share exchange transaction by Future Healthcare of America.

Future Healthcare of America was formed on June 22, 2012, and its operations in the field of providing home healthcare and health care staffing services in Wyoming and Montana commenced in 2014 after several corporation reorganization actions. During 2018, Future Healthcare of America began to discontinue its home healthcare services due to demographic changes in its market areas while it was negotiating and preparing to acquire Natur. The current continuing operations of Future Healthcare of America is pursuing outstanding claims, settling legal actions and otherwise winding up the healthcare services business operations. This discontinuation of its healthcare operations is expected to continue into at least the second quarter of fiscal year 2019.

On December 28, 2018, Future Healthcare of America changed its corporate name to Natur International Corp. The trading symbol on The OTC Market, as of January 7, 2019, is “NTRU.”

The primary continuing activities of the consolidated company, consisting of Natur International Corp. and Natur Holding BV, are those activities as a producer and distributor of fresh fruit and vegetable juices as described above.

Our executive offices are located at Jachthavenweg 124, 1081 KJ Amsterdam, The Netherlands. Our telephone number is 011-31-20-578-7730.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This prospectus by Natur International Corp. (“Parent”) and Natur Holding B.V. (“Natur” or “Subsidiary”) (collectively “NIC,” “the Company,” “our” or “we”) contains “forward-looking statements,” within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”). Forward-looking statements relate to future events or future performance and include, without limitation, statements concerning the Company’s business strategy, future revenues, market growth, capital requirements, product introductions and expansion plans and the adequacy of the Company’s funding. Other statements contained in this prospectus that are not historical facts are also forward-looking statements. The Company has tried, wherever possible, to identify forward-looking statements by terminology such as “may,” “will,” “could,” “should,” “expects,” “anticipates,” “intends,” “plans,” “believes,” “seeks,” “estimates” and other comparable terminology.

The Company cautions investors that any forward-looking statements presented in this prospectus, or that the Company may make orally or in writing from time to time, are based on the beliefs of, assumptions made by, and information currently available to, the Company. Such statements are based on assumptions, and the actual outcome will be affected by known and unknown risks, trends, uncertainties and factors that are beyond the Company’s control or ability to predict. Although the Company believes that its assumptions are reasonable, they are not guarantees of future performance, and some will inevitably prove to be incorrect. As a result, the Company’s actual future results can be expected to differ from its expectations, and those differences may be material. Accordingly, investors should use caution in relying on forward-looking statements, which are based only on known results and trends at the time they are made, to anticipate future results or trends. Certain risks are discussed in this prospectus and also from time to time in the Company’s other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”).

This prospectus and all subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements attributable to the Company or any person acting on its behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by the cautionary statements contained or referred to in this section. The Company does not undertake any obligation to release publicly any revisions to its forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

Investing in our common stock involves a high degree of risk. You should carefully consider the risks and uncertainties described below, together with all of the other information in this prospectus, including our consolidated financial statements and related notes, before investing in our common stock. If any of the following risks materialize, our business, financial condition, operating results and prospects could be materially and adversely affected. In that event, the price of our common stock could decline, and you could lose part or all of your investment.

Risks Related to Our Business

Because our business and marketing plans may be unsuccessful, we may not be able to continue operations as a going concern. Our ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon our generating cash flow that is sufficient to fund operations or finding adequate investment or borrowed capital to support our operations. Our business and marketing plans may not be successful in achieving a sustainable business and generating revenues. We have no arrangements in place for sufficient financing to be able to fully implement our business plan. If we are unable to continue as planned currently, we may have to curtail some or all of our business plan and operations. In such case, investors will lose all or a portion of their investment.

The audit report for our financial statements and our financial statements have “going concern” disclosure. The Company has concluded that its negative working capital and decreased cash flows from operations are conditions that raised substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. Without a successful plan in place from management these conditions could negatively impact the Company’s ability to meet its financial obligations over the next year. The Company has implemented a plan to address the going concern situation as follows: (i) the Company will continue to generate additional revenue (and cash flows from operations) partly as a result of the Company’s expansion into new product lines during 2019 and partly from Company wide sales initiatives; and (ii) the Company has instituted cost saving initiatives and an organization restructuring program that is designed to have an additional positive impact on the cost-basis of the organization. Notwithstanding the foregoing, there is no assurance that the Company will not continue to have a going concern note or disclosure.

Our products have a limited shelf life. The Natur products are made with fresh ingredients, therefore they have a limited shelf life and must be transported and stored in cooled locations and consumer shelving. In order to maintain our “day-of-production” flavor, we further restrict the shelf life of products through early expiration dates. The restricted shelf life means that we don’t have any significant finished goods inventory and our operating results are highly dependent on our ability to accurately forecast near term sales in order to adjust fresh fruit and vegetable sourcing and production. We do not have a long history of forecasting product demand, and we may not be able to accurately forecast product demand in the future. When we don’t accurately forecast product demand, we anticipate being either unable to meet higher than anticipated demand or producing excess inventory that cannot be profitably sold.

Our trade partners may have the right to return unsold products. Natur may enter into agreements with our trade partners that provide a right to return unsold products. Due to the limited shelf life Natur might need to destroy the products because they can't be sold anymore. This right may reduce the income due to Natur for the destroyed products, which will have a negative impact on its earnings.

Cost sensitivity. Our profitability is highly sensitive to increases in raw materials, labor, shipping and other operating costs. Unfavorable trends or developments related to inflation, raw material supply, labor and employee benefit costs, including increases in hourly wage and minimum unemployment tax rates, rent increases resulting from the rent escalation provisions in our leases, and the availability of employees may also adversely affect our results.

Typical of smaller companies at the early stage of development, we expect our quarterly results to fluctuate. Due to our limited scale and the need for expansion we expect that our results of operations will fluctuate on a quarterly basis and due to the total size of the Company, which may have a large effect on our total financial results.

Table of Contents

Claims related to product liability. Because our products are not irradiated or chemically treated, they are perishable and contain certain naturally occurring microorganisms. We may receive complaints from consumers regarding ill effects allegedly caused by our products. These claims may result in monetary damages payable to persons that have had adverse reactions to our products. Also, these claims may result in adverse publicity. Either of these outcomes could seriously harm our business, our business reputation, sales and results of operations. Although we maintain product liability insurance, our coverage may not be sufficient to cover the cost of defense or related damages in the event of a significant product liability claim.

Claims related to our product assertions. Our products are sold as natural, cold pressed fruit and vegetable products containing substantial amounts of various ingredients. We also make various other assertions about our products, such as no additives, no sugar and no preservatives. Consumers and other consumer groups often challenge these types of claims. The law in the area of what is natural and other aspects of our marketing our products is not settled and in most cases not statutory. In the US, there is a mixture of federal and state law that is not consistent. Therefore, we may be subject to various claims about our advertising and our products from time to time, which may cause us to pay monetary damages, change our advertising or change our products. Any of these actions may result in adverse consequences to our operations, our product placement and results of operations.

Sources of raw materials. We depend upon the fruit and vegetable produced in various locations, with a current dependence on raw materials from Spain and a few other countries. The farming locations and the agricultural production may be damaged or limited as a result of windstorms, pests or plant disease. As our products are meant to be healthy options, our suppliers of raw materials are not able to use many agricultural chemicals, and therefore, they may not be able to maintain production in the quantities that we will need from time to time. Any decrease in the supply of fresh fruit and vegetables could have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

We depend on one supplier for a significant amount of our raw materials and product development. We rely on one supplier for a majority of our raw materials. We also are largely dependent on this supplier for important aspects of our product development. This supplier is a significant shareholder of the Company. In the believed unlikely event that this supplier is unable to provide us with the current level of raw materials and any increase in the raw materials due to an increase in our product requirements, our business may be adversely impacted. Additionally, if we are not able to obtain the product development services that are currently provided, our business development and the innovation of our products will suffer, which may have an adverse impact on our business. We do not have any alternative suppliers or product developers from which we can obtain the quality or quantity of raw materials and services.

Concentration of production capacity. Virtually all of our juice production capacity is located at Murcia, Spain, which includes our cold pressing, blending and bottling capability. Because currently we maintain minimal finished goods inventory at our production location as part of our “day-of-production” production system, we could be challenged to continue to produce an adequate supply of products in the event that production at or transportation from our production facility were interrupted by fire, flood or other natural disasters, work stoppages, regulatory actions or other causes. Any significant interruption would seriously harm our business and results of operations.

Currently, our products are distributed in a limited geographic area. Our wholesale accounts and retail trade partners are located in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom. Most of our sales are in the metropolitan areas within that region. Due to this concentration, natural disasters, economic downturns and other conditions affecting the region may adversely affect our product distribution and our business generally, and our results of operations.

Brexit may have an adverse impact on the Company. The consequences to the Company, if any, of Brexit cannot be determined at this time. If there is an impact, it will depend on the quantity of products that are being sold by the Company to distributors and consumers located in the United Kingdom, and what those sales represent of the overall sales and revenues of the Company. Some of the consequences of Brexit may include (i) delays in the shipping and delivery of our products due to border conditions, which delay may have an impact on the limited shelf life of our products, thereby limiting their marketability, (ii) increased costs due to duties and other imposts imposed on the importation of goods into the United Kingdom, and (iii) other non-tariff barriers that the United Kingdom may impose, such as changing regulations concerning our products that are different than those of the European Union.

We have a limited range of products and therefore have a limited diversification. Natur's business is vertically integrated and centered around essentially one type of product, all-natural super-premium beverages and healthy snacks, sold primarily through our direct-store-delivery system and a limited number of distributors. Any significant disruption in our product supply to the consumer and any decrease in the consumption of our products generally or specifically would have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Risks related to outsourced product development. The Company obtains its finished products from third-party suppliers. Following any anticipated or unanticipated change, shortages could result in costs of goods, or adversely affect the Company's ability bring a product to market. Price increases due to inflationary pressures or supply side shortages from a contract packer would directly affect the Company's profitability if increases were not successfully passed on to customers.

Risks related to expansion of our product lines and distribution. Our continued growth depends in part upon our ability to expand into new geographic areas, either through internal growth or by acquisition. It also depends on having the necessary capital, being able to increase production, finding raw materials that satisfy our criteria, expanding distribution channels and securing consumers through our marketing efforts and those of others. Due to the extent of our operating losses in recent years, we currently anticipate limited expansion in during the next fiscal year and thereafter. There can be no assurance that we will expand into new product lines or geographic areas or be able to invest in new markets. There can be no assurance that if expansion or investment is undertaken that it will be successful or that expansion can be accomplished on a profitable basis. Demands on management and working capital costs resulting from the perishable nature of our products may limit the ability, or increase the cost of, expansion into new regions. Furthermore, consumer tastes vary by region, and there can be no assurance that consumers located in other regions will be receptive to our products.

Acquisitions of existing businesses have many risks, many of which cannot be anticipated. Acquisitions of other businesses, assets or products typically involve a number of special risks, including the diversion of management's resources, issues related to the assimilation of the operations and personnel of the acquired businesses, potential adverse effects on operating results and amortization of acquired intangible assets. In addition, gross margins may be negatively impacted to the extent that gross margins on acquired product lines are lower than our own product's average gross margins. If we seek and find attractive acquisition candidates, we may not be able to complete the transaction on acceptable terms, to successfully integrate the acquisition into our operations, or to assure that the acquisition won't have an adverse impact on our operations. Any plans to invest in new markets or to consider additional acquisitions may cause us to seek additional financing that may be dilutive to current investors or result in a higher debt-to-equity ratio than would otherwise be the case. Any financing we obtain may not be on terms favorable to us, even if it is available.

Competition. We currently compete with the following products distributed in our current markets: Innocent, Naked Juice, Sava'sé, and Coolbest. In the near future, we expect to expand into the German, Moldavian, French, Swiss, and United States markets and we will encounter further competition from competitors that are active in those markets.

New products are introduced all the time, many of which will be directly competitive to our products or may be competitive on a tangential basis, but in all cases likely diluting our place in the market as a provider of cold-pressed juice and other fruit and vegetable products. There is efforts by large established companies, regional companies and local producers to address the healthy living and aging consumer goods products, such as Odwalla and Naked Juice. We also face competition from local outlets selling smoothie products and other fresh squeezed products and white label products offered by chain outlets. While we believe that we compete favorably with our competitors on factors including quality, nutritional integrity, food safety, merchandising, service, sales and distribution, multiple flavors, brand name recognition and loyalty, our products are typically sold at prices higher than most other competing beverage and bar products. Significant competitive pressure from these or other companies could negatively impact our sales and results of operations.

Shifting Consumer Tastes. Consumer acceptance and desire for existing and emerging healthy foods, snacks and beverages are continually changing and are extremely difficult to predict. The Company is striving to be on the right side of this macro shift at all times. Increased consumer concerns about nutrition, healthy diets (some known as Paleo, KETO, Whole30, and GAPS regimens) and food allergies are ever changing. This brings to our business the risk that sales of our products may decline due to perceived health concerns, changes in consumer tastes or other reasons beyond the control of the Company. The consumer acceptance and resulting success of new products will be one of the keys to the success of the Company's business plan. There can be no assurance that the Company will succeed in the development of any new products or that any new products developed by the Company will achieve market acceptance or generate meaningful revenue for the Company.

Brand Image. Company success is tied to its ability to maintain the brand image and product quality for the Company's existing products, new products and brand extensions. The Company can give no assurance that the Company's advertising, marketing and promotional programs will have the desired impact on its products' brand image and on consumer preferences. Real or imagined product quality issues or contaminations, even if blatantly false, could adversely affect to the Company's profitability and brand image. There is no assurance that the Company will not be party to product liability litigation. If the Company experiences product liability claims, the Company's financial condition and business operations could be materially adversely affected.

Marketing Costs. Adequate retail authorization, distribution and shelf space for product availability, particularly in hypermarkets, are required for success in marketing health food, snack and beverage products. These authorizations can require additional marketing support spending to obtain additional shelf space. In general, this is a competitive condition the Company will meet, or choose otherwise. The Company may incur significant shelf space or other promotional costs as a necessary condition of entering into competition or maintaining market share in particular markets or stores, and, if incurred, such costs may materially affect the Company's financial performance.

Our products may be contaminated, tainted or damaged by third parties acting beyond our control. Third parties, acting on behalf of the Company, manufacture and physically distribute the Company's products. Therefore, our products could become contaminated, tainted or damaged by these other parties whose actions are beyond the control of the Company. The third parties that we engage for manufacturing and distributing our product and the retail outlets for our products must take adequate precautions not to contaminate, taint or damage the Company's products. Although we have established handling protocols and we believe our manufacturer, distributors and retailers will follow these protocols and use good commercial sense in handling a perishable product, the Company cannot be certain that its products will not be damaged in the ordinary course of business. In the event the Company's products are damaged, contaminated or tainted, the Company may experience an adverse financial effect due to lost sales, the cost of a product recall, and product liability damages and an adverse business effect due to reputational damage and reluctance of consumers to trust our products. The Company, at this time, cannot estimate any cost or liability amounts that the Company might incur in connection damaged, contaminated or tainted products.

We are dependent on the continued services and on the performance of our senior management and other key personnel. The loss of the services of any of our executive officers, such as Ellen Berkers, our Chief Executive and Financial Officer, or other key employees could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results and financial condition. We also depend on our ability to identify, attract, hire, train, retain and motivate other highly skilled technical, managerial, sales, operational, business development and customer service personnel. Competition for such personnel is intense, and there can be no assurance that we will be able to successfully attract, assimilate or retain sufficiently qualified personnel. The failure to attract and retain necessary skilled personnel could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results and financial condition.

If the protection of trademark, brands and other proprietary rights is inadequate, we could lose our proprietary rights and experience a loss of revenues. We rely on a combination of copyright, trademark, trade dress and trade secret laws, employee and third-party non-disclosure and invention assignment agreements and other methods to protect our proprietary technology. Despite these precautions, it may be possible for unauthorized third parties to obtain and use information that we regard as proprietary. In addition, the laws of some foreign countries do not protect proprietary rights to the same extent as do the laws of the United States. There can be no assurance that the steps taken by us to protect our proprietary rights will be adequate or that third parties will not infringe or misappropriate our trademarks, copyrights and similar proprietary rights. If we resort to legal proceedings to enforce our IP rights, those proceedings could be expensive and time-consuming and could distract our management from our business operations.

Intellectual property claims against us can be costly and could impair our business. We cannot predict whether third parties will assert claims of infringement against us, or whether any future assertions or prosecutions will harm our business. Although we take significant steps to make sure that our products do not infringe on the rights of others, there is always the possibility that another person or company may assert that we infringed on their proprietary rights. If we are forced to defend against any such claims, whether they are with or without merit or are determined in our favor, we may face costly litigation, diversion of management, or product launch delays, any of which could adversely impact our business. As a result of such a dispute, we may have to enter into royalty or licensing agreements. Such royalty or licensing agreements, if required, may be unavailable on terms acceptable to us, if at all. If there is a successful claim of intellectual property infringement against us and we are unable to license the infringed or similar IP on a timely basis, our business could be impaired.

Prior employers of our employees may assert violations of past employment arrangements. Prior employers of our employees may try to assert that our employees are breaching restrictive covenants and other limitations imposed by past employment arrangements. We believe that all of our employees are free to work for us in their various capacities and have not breached past employment arrangements. Notwithstanding our care in our employment practices, a prior employer may assert a claim. Such claims will be costly to contest and highly disruptive to our work environment, and may result in a detrimental effect on our operations.

Government regulations may increase our costs of doing business. The adoption or modification of laws or regulations relating to our business could harm our operating results and financial condition by increasing our costs and administrative burdens. Laws and regulations directly applicable our business are becoming more diverse and prevalent in all the markets where we are likely to distribute our products. We must comply with regulations in Europe, the United States, as well as any other regulations adopted by other countries where we do business. Compliance with any newly adopted laws or regulations may prove difficult for us and may harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We will require additional capital in the future, which may not be available on terms acceptable to us, or at all. Our future liquidity and capital requirements will depend upon numerous factors, including the success of our products and market developments. We will need to raise funds through public or private financings, strategic relationships or other arrangements. There can be no assurance that such funding, will be available on terms acceptable to us, or at all. If funds are raised through the issuance of equity securities, the percentage ownership of our stockholders will be reduced, stockholders may experience additional dilution in net book value per share, and such equity securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to those of the holders of our existing capital stock. Furthermore, any debt financing, if available, may involve restrictive covenants that may limit our operating flexibility with respect to certain business matters. If adequate funds are not available on acceptable terms, we may not be able to continue to develop or enhance our products, take advantage of future opportunities or respond to competitive pressures, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results and financial condition.

Risks Related to Ownership of Our Common Stock

There is not an active market for our Common Stock. There has been no sustained activity in the market for our Common Stock and we cannot provide any assurances that an active market for our Common Stock will ever develop. Investors should understand that there may be no alternative exit strategy for them to recover or liquidate their investments in our Common Stock. Accordingly, investors must be prepared to bear the entire economic risk of an investment in the Company for an indefinite period of time. If an active market ever develops for our Common Stock, we anticipate that our then financial condition and product offerings will greatly impact the market value of our Common Stock. The market value at any point in time may not reflect the value of our business or our business prospects.

We are subject to the reporting requirements of the United States securities laws, which will require expenditure of capital and other resources. We are a public reporting company subject to the information and reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”), and other federal securities laws, including, without limitation, compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act (“Sarbanes”). The costs of preparing and filing annual and quarterly reports, proxy statements and other information with the SEC and furnishing audited reports to stockholders will cause our expenses to be substantially higher than they would otherwise be if we were privately-held. It will be difficult, costly, and time-consuming for us to develop and implement internal controls and reporting procedures required by Sarbanes, and we will require additional staff and third-party assistance to develop and implement appropriate internal controls and procedures.

Because we are subject to the “penny stock” rules as our shares are quoted on the over-the-counter bulletin board, the level of trading activity in our stock may be reduced. If an active trading market does develop for our stock, it is likely that our stock will be subject to the regulations applicable to penny stocks. The regulations of the SEC promulgated under the Exchange Act that require additional disclosure relating to the market for penny stocks in connection with trades in any stock defined as a penny stock. The SEC regulations define penny stocks to be any non-exchange equity security that has a market price of less than $5.00 per share, subject to certain exceptions. Unless an exception is available, those regulations require the broker-dealer to deliver, prior to any transaction involving a penny stock, a standardized risk disclosure schedule prepared by the SEC, to provide the customer with current bid and offer quotations for the penny stock, the compensation of the broker-dealer and its salesperson in the transaction, monthly account statements showing the market value of each penny stock held in the purchaser’s account, to make a special written determination that the penny stock is a suitable investment for the purchaser and receive the purchaser’s written agreement to the transaction. These disclosure requirements may have the effect of reducing the level of trading activity, if any, in the secondary market for a stock that becomes subject to the penny stock rules. Consequently, these penny stock rules may affect the ability of broker-dealers to trade our securities. We believe that the penny stock rules discourage market investor interest in and limit the marketability of our Common Stock.

In addition to the “penny stock” rules promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (“FINRA”) has adopted rules that require that in recommending an investment to a customer, a broker-dealer must have reasonable grounds for believing that the investment is suitable for that customer. Prior to recommending speculative low priced securities to their non-institutional customers, broker-dealers must make reasonable efforts to obtain information about the customer’s financial status, tax status, investment objectives and other information. Under interpretations of these rules, FINRA believes that there is a high probability that speculative low priced securities will not be suitable for at least some customers. FINRA requirements make it more difficult for broker-dealers to recommend that their customers buy our Common Stock, which may limit an investor’s ability to buy and sell our stock.

We may not be able to attract the attention of major brokerage firms or securities analysts in our efforts to raise capital. In due course, we plan to seek to have our Common Stock quoted on a national securities exchange in the United States. There can be no assurance that we will be able to garner a quote for our Common Stock on an exchange. Even if we are successful in doing so, security analysts and major brokerage houses may not provide coverage of us. We may also not be able to attract any brokerage houses to conduct secondary offerings with respect to our securities.

Because future sales by our stockholders could cause the stock price to decline, our investors may lose money on their investment in our Common Stock. No predictions can be made of the effect, if any, that market sales of shares of our Common Stock or the availability of such shares for sale will have on the market price prevailing from time to time. Nevertheless, sales of significant amounts of our Common Stock could adversely affect the prevailing market price of our Common Stock, as well as impair our ability to raise capital through the issuance of additional equity securities.

Risks Relating to the Offering by the Selling Stockholders

We may become obligated to pay liquidated damages if we fail to file, obtain effectiveness and maintain effectiveness of a registration statement under a registration rights agreement we entered into with the selling stockholder.

We have granted to the selling stockholder resale registration rights pursuant to the terms of a registration rights agreement. In addition to the registration rights, the selling stockholder is entitled to receive liquidated damages upon the occurrence of a number of events relating to filing, becoming effective and maintaining an effective registration statement covering the securities being registered. The liquidated damages will be payable upon the occurrence of each of those events and each monthly anniversary thereof until cured. The amount of liquidated damages payable per monthly period is equal to 2% of the aggregate purchase price paid by the selling stockholder, provided, however, the maximum aggregate liquidated damages payable to the selling stockholder is 10% of the aggregate subscription amount paid by such selling stockholder pursuant to the private placement.

The registration rights agreement provides for liquidated damages upon the occurrence of certain events, including our failure to file the registration statement or cause it to become effective by the deadlines set forth above. The amount of liquidated damages payable to Alpha would be 2% of the aggregate amount invested by Alpha for each 30-day period, or pro rata portion thereof, during which the default continues, up to a maximum amount of 10% of the aggregate amount invested by Alpha. We filed the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part with the SEC pursuant to the registration rights agreement.

BUSINESS

Company mission and overview.

Natur's vision is for technology to be the force of our innovation as we build culturally relevant consumer products that nurture the human body. The mission of Natur is to deliver 100% natural products that are good for everyone and for nature, with an aim to sell products that meet or exceed consumer expectations for health, wellness and good taste. Natur selects specially bred fruits and vegetables, committing not to use concentrates, preservatives, stabilizers or additives in our products. Natur further invests in sustainability projects to reduce the environmental impact of our own activities.

Business Overview

Natur integrates new manufacturing technologies with standard practices to extend the shelf life of its products and yet remain Naturalicious (natural & delicious) to build out its value chain for the burgeoning market of 100% juices and healthy snacks. It has delivered its products in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom and plans on expanding in Europe and ultimately the United States. Our understanding and application of the technological aspects of manufacturing assures a pathogen-free food and beverage experience that preserves the nutrients and enzymes to the maximum level possible, while retaining the raw fresh nature of the products. The result is what we believe to be the best tasting product with the maximum "goodness" and highest nutrient density -- something the consumer seeks more and more in our target markets.

Our commitment to deliver to consumers the best products possible in the market is strengthened with the market experience of our business partner, that is also a significant shareholder through their wholly owned subsidiary, the AMC Group, which is one of the leading European suppliers of "white label" natural juices to over 70 of the largest retail chains in Europe. AMC is well known as the sector's innovation leader with proprietary manufacturing, software and production technologies.

The AMC proprietary technologies, which at the core of the proposition incorporate HPP (Cold High Pressure Processing) and SNFC (Super Non-From Concentrate), hold in the taste of freshness and yet extends shelf life to over 6 months. AMC was one of the company's founders that invested initially in AMC NT to lock in the strategic links between the businesses.

The clear differentiator of the Company is the natur™ brand which is supported by its disruptive marketing. The Company finds that consumers are interested in “what we produce and how we voice this to the market” more than how it is made. From an investment perspective, this is a fundamental component of our business model as we are not having to commit very significant capex to building our own modern production and bottling facilities to deliver into the increasing demand for our product.

In the future we anticipate delivering documented nutrigenomic (functional) properties that we believe will be an aid to personal weight management, increase energy, lower cholesterol, counter sleep disorders and boost immunity response. We believe that these product aspects will position the Natur products at the top of the European market at a mid-market price point. This profile will be accessible internationally, as we have already undertaken preliminary discussions with distributors in major international markets outside Europe.

Our market profile will be further enhanced with the new Natur personalized snacking/juicing experience that will accelerate the trend towards “snackification” already present in more mature markets in the United States and Europe.

This all reflects the Natur brand characteristics, shaped by the management vision of becoming a leader in the “hi-tech health” food and beverage marketplace; achieved by responding to changing market needs and staying continuously ahead of emerging trends. Natur also intends to address the demand of the consumer for knowledge about what he/she consumes with a greater level of supply chain transparency.

Corporate Management

The Company and Natur have gathered a top team of experienced management and consultants in the field of food and beverage, who have an in-depth knowledge of the market arena for our products and yet have the right fit of discipline and entrepreneurial vision and drive.

The Natur Holding non-executive board has top industry relevant experience and has a hands-on drive to make the company successful and to gain a leadership position in the healthy product food and beverage market place through the offering of a palette of products that not only are natural and delicious but with functional beneficial properties and can also be supplied as organic. Their expertise and insights in the digital world will also help drive the Natur to embrace these new delivery frontiers.

From Farm to Fridge

The founders and management believe Natur will evolve to become one of the leaders in the European market and later in the United States farm to fridge market segment, supplying superior fruit and vegetable juices, smoothies, and natural and organic snacks. Natur is able to accommodate a great speed of market innovation and is able to meet market demands quickly; therefore Natur believes that it is well positioned to establish its market share and partner with the major international leaders to distribute our products.

Corporate History and Information

Natur was founded to formulate, manufacture and market a premium cold pressed juices product line (under the brand name “Naturalicious” - natural + delicious) and associated natural organic snacks. Natur operates in the Netherlands under the name Nature Holding, B.V.

Our parent company was founded on June 22, 2012, as a Wyoming corporation. It recently operated under the name “Future Healthcare of America.” That name was changed on December 28, 2018, when it was re-named “Natur International Corp.”

Future Healthcare of America operated two subsidiaries in Wyoming and Montana to provide home health services and nurse staffing in the Western part of the United States. After the acquisition of Natur in November 2018, the parent company commenced the discontinuance of the home healthcare operations and began to take steps to dissolve its subsidiaries and wind up its home healthcare business. Currently, its principal activity is to collect outstanding receivables from the government agencies and insurance companies that insured the recipients of its services, terminate its home healthcare operations and manage a couple of law suits.

Natur operated as a private enterprise in the Netherlands from its founding in 2015 through November 13, 2018, when it was acquired as a wholly owned subsidiary in a share exchange transaction by Future Healthcare of America on November 13, 2018, contemplated by that certain Share Exchange Agreement, among the Company and the former shareholders of Natur Holding, B.V. (the "Share Exchange Transaction"). In connection with the Share Exchange Transaction, the former shareholders of Natur received the equivalent of 215,759,999 shares of the Common Stock (the "Common Stock"), which was issued in part as 115,760,000 shares of Common Stock and in part as 100,000 shares of voting, convertible Series B Preferred Stock (the "Series B Preferred Stock") representing 100,000,000 shares of Common Stock upon conversion. The Series B Preferred Stock will convert automatically upon the Company increasing the number of shares of Common Stock of its authorized capital, which it plans to do promptly so as to cause the conversion of the Series B Preferred Stock. Immediately after the Share Exchange Transaction, the former Natur shareholders collectively own the controlling position among the shareholders of the Company.

On September 21, 2018, the Company also executed the SPA to issue and sell to Alpha, the selling stockholder, 2,469.131 shares of non-voting, convertible Series A Preferred Stock, each share convertible into approximately 33,000 shares of Common Stock at the rate of $.030303. Alpha also purchased two warrants, one pursuant to the SPA that is exercisable for 33,000,000 shares of Common Stock at $.060606 per share and one pursuant to a debt cancellation agreement exercisable for 6,000,000 shares of Common Stock at $.15 per share. The aggregate purchase price for the Series A Preferred Stock and the two warrants was $2,000,000 in cash and conversion of approximately $769,000 of principal debt and interest due Alpha from the Company under a prior loan agreement. Alpha also cancelled approximately $651,000 of principal debt and interest due from the Company. These transactions eliminated $1,420,000 of principal debt and interest of the Company. Alpha has also agreed to reimburse up to $100,000 of the liabilities of the Company existing at the closing date. In connection with the SPA, the Company and Alpha also entered into a registration rights agreement providing for the registration of the Common Stock issuable upon conversion of the Series A Stock and upon exercise of the two warrants.

Product Development

Since inception the Company has been defining and refining its market and its innovative products accordingly.

The target group is composed of health-conscious consumers looking for convenient fast-food alternatives. This drives product development toward delivering a healthy, tasty and refreshing experience with 100% natural fruit and vegetable juices and smoothies and snacks to take away. Superior product quality and affordability allow the Company to broaden the consumer potential.

Initially the Company developed an extensive line of cold pressed HPP juices consisting of 23 SKU's, with consumer trending monikers, including fruit and vegetable juices, coconut waters, coconut-water-based smoothies, dairy based smoothies, and nut milks.

Fruit & Vegetable Juices	Coconut Waters	Smoothies	Nutmilks
Tropical Greens	Lemon Aid	Whey Cool	Strawberry Nut Fields
The Clean	Coco Beach	Powerhouse	La Vida
Power Plant	Berry Bliss	Chilling in the Tropics	Choc Fix
Spicy Greens		Berry'd Treasure	Nut-tritious
The Force		Blueberry Hill	Nutcracker Sweet
Fountain of Youth
Beet the Blues
Refresher
Berrylicious
Pearfection

In 2016 operating with market and consumer responsiveness, the Company optimized the original SKUs for efficiency and simultaneously created four exclusive juices for a larger retail chain in The Netherlands. These were sold as the “SmartLine” and included Coco Beach, Refresher (later called Drunk in Love), Power Plant and The Force.

The Company further developed a tighter focused line of beverages to the rest of the market: Spicy Greens, The Clean, Berrylicious, Pearfection, Fountain of Youth, Beet the Blues, and Whey Cool.

Once the retailer exclusive period ended, it allowed the sale of the SmartLine to all other retailers the company again optimized the line around consumer needs resulting in the following flavors to be marketed:

In 250ml PET bottles - Spicy Greens, The Clean, Berrylicious, Pearfection, Fountain of Youth, Beet the Blues, Drunk in Love. In 100ml PET shots - The Charger, The Glow, and The Clean. The Company in 2017 made an entry in to the ‘snack drinks’ arena with two 250 ml robust SKUs called Cereal Smoothie, and Morning Glory.

Each time the Company innovates, it considers the European markets best suited for distribution and labels its products accordingly. It is common for the Company to ensure that product can be sold with the proper labels in The Netherlands, France, and the UK; with opportunity assessments before label creation in other languages.

It is common to earn ‘rotations’ for brand presence in large, visible, multi-outlet transportation retailers. In such cases the Company innovates around the needs of those large retailers. In one such case the Company innovated a line of lemonades and orange juices in the single serve package and in multiserve one-liter packaging.

The Company has an innovation pipeline for 2019 through 2021. Already formulated are the products and labels required for a US Market entry. Additionally, the Company is finalizing the Innovative Snacking Occasions product line and seasonal flavor varieties that bring new consumer trial to the brand.

The market shift toward acceptable functional additives is being vetted and innovated by the company so that product introductions might include plant waters, plant proteins, animal proteins (collagen), live cultures, and plant based wellness supplements.

A helpful tool for the Company’s innovation process is its flagship store in the Amsterdam canal district, where consumer interactions can be noted and assessed by the marketing team. In the shop, the Company has introduced a CBD based shot in 30 ml and is formulating other edibles. This is the beginning of other innovations in Fruit Waters / Waters, Protein Drinks, Non-Dairy Nutmilks / Non-allergenic (alternative) Nutmilks, Vinegars, Alternative Sweeteners, Soups and other functional blends.

In the creation of a snack line, the Company has development work being performed in the areas of Chocolates, Crackers, Chips, Fruit, nut & granola bars, seaweed snacks, and cookies.

Primary markets

The fruit juices market was valued globally at USD 71.31 billion in 2016 and is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.14% during the forecast period, to reach an expected value of USD 121 billion by 2025. The global fruit and vegetable blends market was valued at USD 51.5 billion in 2016 and is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.3% during the forecast period, to reach an expected value of USD 89.2 billion by 2025. We believe that the opportunity for the Natur products can be summarized as follows:

globally there is a generic shift towards a healthier lifestyle and healthier foods that is already well established in the more advanced North American and European markets;
there is a fast-growing European market for healthy natural juices and snack foods that are easy-to-consume products suited to the needs of a modern lifestyle;
illustrating these trends, within the Benelux and UK fruit juice market for example, there is a continuing shift to more complex and more expensive premium juices;
a steadily increasing number of consumers are willing to pay a premium for niche brands with superior quality, functional outcomes and special drinking experiences;
the major European retailers (including supermarket chains) are evaluating how they can differentiate their respective offerings and enhance consumer experience to attract customers; and governments are legislating against carbonated soft drinks with added sugar reinforcing consumers' negative opinions of these products and accelerating a shift to raw/fresh natural drinks for all family members;

The Company believes there is now mainstream acceptance in the Netherlands, UK and throughout Europe of ordering food over the internet supported by a well-established fulfillment infrastructure for local delivery; there is no current significant competition from large international players in either the Netherlands or UK, nor wider European markets, in the cold-pressed natural juices market to the best of our knowledge. In the NFC market segment there is no other brand that can match Natur's Super NFC line in nutrient density, with ambient delivery possibilities for up to four weeks while retaining the organoleptic properties and a shelf life of up to six months.

Customer Sales Authorizations

The Company markets its products through five distinct channels in Europe – chain grocery, petrol and other smaller retail stores, direct to consumer/business, caterers, and wholesalers (who reach independent retailers). Additionally, the Company operates a branded experiential consumer immersion store overlooking the Prinsengracht, one of the main canals of Amsterdam providing heavy foot traffic by natives and tourists.

The Company is building the brand through a combination of permanent shelf space and promotional rotational spaces. Over the past two years, in the Netherlands, these have included presence in the 700-store chain Albert Heijn, the oldest organization owned and operated by the Dutch supermarket operator Ahold, the progressive all-natural retailer Marqt (18 stores), and Plus Supermarkets (256 stores), to name a few. In the petrol sector, the Company conducts business for example with the BP, Total and Avia petrol chains.

In the UK, the past two years, the Company served hundreds of independent natural food stores through direct relationships from a staff of several sales and marketing personnel, while undertaking a branded takeover of WHSmith transportation retailers in a large-scale rotational promotion. The Company has streamlined the market development for the UK and is resetting its strategies for a distributor-oriented expansion. The company's extended shelf life technologies will support the anticipated slowing at the border of a non-deal Brexit.

Presently, with distribution in several hundred Netherlands retailers, and with a new distribution agreement with one of the UK's most customer-centric natural foods distributors, the Company is poised for expansion to new authorizations in existing and new markets. An example of such expansion is an authorization pending with the 600-store chain Jumbo.

In 2018 HMS Host and Albert Heijn each represented more than ten percent of our revenues, together representing 58% of our revenues. In 2017 no one represented more than ten percent of our revenues.

Direct to Consumer & Businesses

The Company has invested in an e-commerce platform from the www.int.natur.eu buy now page that provides an end to end solution to direct-to-consumer sales as well as shipments to businesses. This meets the expanding need for healthy snacking where consumers live and work. Customers have the option to select a two-hour time window for when they want to receive their order. For these customers the Company is using an external logistics company providing warehousing and order fulfillment. For business direct customers the Company is using Leen Menken as logistics partner.

Wholesale

Through businesses like Lekkerland (€13 billion turnover in 2017), Sligro (€3 billion turnover in 2017) and Bidfood (€700 million turnover in 2017) the Company is distributing its products to a large variety of smaller outlets. From cafe to caterer, canteen to health care institution and from hotel to restaurant.

Catering

The Company pursues the catering category with the goal of prestigious availability for brand building and commercial interest. The Company is selling to multiple sport clubs, offices, schools and many other public locations. This channel also includes airline catering companies. The Company is in final negotiations with a larger Dutch provider in this channel. This channel also includes outreach to convention centers where the Company has in place an agreement with RAI Amsterdam (largest in The Netherlands), exposing the brand to 1.6 million visitors each year. Through our partner Absolute Taste, the Company has provided healthy juices to The Ryder Cup, several Formula 1 races, Association of Tennis Professionals Finals and The Shard in London.

Festivals and Events

The Netherlands are famous for their festivals. Natur is attending the main dance festivals offering this crowd healthy refreshments, while also selling through regular bars and via mobile sales and sampling teams.

Anticipated new business authorizations

The Company is evaluating expansion in to additional European country markets and the US over the next twelve to twenty-four months.

The first such European expansion will be to Switzerland, which is anticipated to be through Migros, Switzerland's largest retail company, its largest supermarket chain and largest employer. Migros is also one of the forty largest retailers in the world. With over 600 retail grocery stores, over 200 specialty markets and over 315 restaurants in 5 countries, the Company is working with Migros to select the ideal initial 200 outlets for a phase one implementation of Natur product availability.

Also in 2019, the Company is looking to extend the addressable market for its products with large distribution partners and/or retailers in Germany, Austria, Israel, Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

Entering the United States market will require a calculated expansion plan, beginning with the markets highest indexing in the development of healthy eating and drinking products. New York City is one such market, along with Los Angeles, San Francisco and Central Texas. The United States market is highly reliant on distribution agreements; and those distribution agreements are struck most easily when large natural foods chains authorize the Company's product lines. The Company plans to rely heavily on innovation to foster success in the United States where working with functional supplements and innovating snacking allow for disruption and competitive advantage.

Distribution

The Company employs the practice of distributing product through independent, third party routes to market. In The Netherlands, the Company deploys product to market through a contract relationship with Leen Menken Food Service Logistics who delivers greater than 10% of the Company's total Netherlands volume. This professional contract provider, from its distribution center in Zoetermeer, is centrally located in the Randstad, close to the port of Rotterdam and Schiphol Airport. With 15,000 pallet spaces, the Company's relationship is scalable and efficient for refrigerated storage and transportation. Leen Menken applies work automation according to the latest technical development. On the other hand, for certain activities, dedicated human attention is needed, provided by a workforce of more than fifty people. Menken is certified, and the distribution center works according to the quality requirements of ISO 9001, BRC, SKAL, Lean and Green & AEO.

In the UK, the Company is using CLF Wholesaler to fulfill distribution requirements in that country. Founded in 1998, CLF are the leading UK wholesaler of premium products such as those in the categories of sports nutrition, organic and health food products, vitamins, minerals and supplements, personal care, household products and now chilled and frozen products. CLF offers a daily delivery service from their warehousing facility in Southampton, Hampshire, and successfully provides continuity of supply across over 15,000 products from over 750 leading brands. Their mission is to build upon their position as the wholesaler of choice to the independent health food trade.

Production

The Company relies on more than 10% of its salable product from its relationship with contract packer and investor AMC Group. This special contribution to the strategic business plan represents a high barrier to entry for any potential competing participant, as the scale and breadth of AMC's operations are unmatched in Europe. Further, it is the platform on which the Company's plans for the European market will be delivered.

The Company has an integrated product offering primarily using unique cold-pressed juices as a basis for (functional) supplements, boosters and natural snacks. The products are considered as "safe foods" due to our Pure Pulse (PEF 2.0) and High-Pressure Processing (HPP) processes. Pathogens receive a 5+Log reduction while all the goodness, minerals, nutrients and enzymes remain intact. Also, thanks to the extended shelf life and consumption period of the Company's products the process produces less waste. The Company will deploy unique patented PEF 2.0 technology which creates a product that is not only cold pressed, but also actually enhances the natural flavors. The PEF processing technology allows the Company to be extremely price competitive as less factory workers are needed for this line production technology and, unlike with HPP production, no expensive refrigerated working environment is needed.

Table of Contents

For products not produced by AMC, representing a very small percentage of current volume, the Company is working with Coroos, a Dutch family business, in operation since 1957. Coroos's core competence is the preservation of fruits and vegetables.. Coroos is working with the Company in the spirit of innovation as a collaborative partner.

Sourcing of Raw Materials

The Company relies on the expertise of the AMC Group for sourcing fruit and vegetable juice. The AMC processes begin with proprietary breeds of fruits and vegetables, taking the most advanced and many times patented proprietary extraction methods. Further, they have pioneered proprietary methods for shelf life extension with the greatest retention of enzymes, nutrient density and natural taste.

AMC Group accounted in the aggregate for more than 4.6% of the current accounts payable at September 30, 2018, and the AMC Group companies accounted for more than 21,5% of accounts payable at December 31, 2017.

Government Regulations

There are many food related regulations found in the laws of the different markets in which our products are distributed. The regulatory regime is likely to expand and become more complicated over time in each of our markets. Two principal governing bodies provide guidance and / or regulation in the human consumption food and beverage industry.

Europe's European Food Safety Authority (EFSA), under Regulation (EC) No 178/2002 (General Food Law Regulation) lays down the general principles and requirements of food law, establishing the EFSA and laying down procedures in matters of food safety. The basis rule is that no food shall be placed on the market that is unsafe, injurious to health or unfit. Under Regulation (EC) No. 852/2004 there are additional food safety regulations based on the HACCP system, and businesses must maintain records of where the raw materials for their products originated. The basic food labeling law is found in Regulations (EU) 1169/2011 and 1924/2006, which set out the information that must be provide to consummers and indicates what can be provided as nutrition and health claims.

Member States of the EU also have locally applicable laws and regulations covering aspects of public health, product safety, fair trading and adequate information. Currently, because the products of the Company are sold in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom, the Company has to comply with those laws in addition to the EU regulations. As the Company sells products in other Member States, it will have to comply with any additional locally applicable laws.

Food that is not compliant with the food safety requirements of the EU or a Member State will be subject to recall for destruction. Retailers and distributors must help with the withdrawal of unsafe food and pass on information necessary to trace it. Consumers and regulators are to be notified about recalled foods. The recall is typically at the expense of the product producer and typically it can be very costly, not only in terms of monetary expense but also in terms of the reputation of a product.

While not applicable at this time, should the Company enter the United States market with natural, wholesome better for you food and beverages, it will be governed by the US Food and Drug Administration, and to some extent the United States Department of Agriculture. In addition, state regulation may apply to our products and their distribution. Additionally in the United States, there is a substantial body of government regulation and case law that will impact what is deemed “natural” and other aspects of the content of our products, product recalls, food safety and labeling.

The failure to comply with any of the material provisions of the various applicable laws, regulations and other legal requirements may result in fines, product recalls, or termination of our ability to manufacture and distribute our products. Contaminated products may result in product liability claims. The result of these may have an adverse impact on our business reputation and our financial position. We do not believe that any business insurance that we may hold will be adequate to recompense us for our financial damages.

Competition

The Company has entered the very competitive space of better-for-you food and beverage products. There are a considerable number of competitors comprised of a select few multi-national beverage and food conglomerates and a greater number of upstart independent brands, many limited to specific markets.

The multi-nationals with which the Company competes head to head are PepsiCo with their beverage product line Naked distributed broadly in the United States and the European Union, and the Coca Cola Company, with their beverage line Innocent in the European Union and Odwalla in the United States. The Company's ability to be swift to respond to market opportunity is a competitive advantage over the slower moving larger corporations.

The smaller, more nimble competitors in the beverage arena include the UK's Savsé, Coolbest, grocery retailer private labels brands, and countless start up beverage labels in the UK, Netherlands, and Switzerland. In the near future, the Company expects to expand into the German, Moldavian, French, Swiss, and United States markets, and we will encounter further competition from competitors that are active in those markets. New products are introduced all the time, many of which will be directly competitive to our products or may be competitive on a tangential basis, but in all cases likely diluting our place in the market as a provider of cold-pressed juice and other fruit and vegetable products.

We also face competition from local outlets selling smoothie products and other fresh squeezed products. While we believe that we compete favorably with our competitors on factors including quality, nutritional integrity, food safety, merchandising, service, sales and distribution, multiple flavors, brand name recognition and loyalty, our products are typically sold at prices higher than most other competing beverage and bar products. Significant competitive pressure from these or other companies could negatively impact our sales and results of operations.

Employees

As of December 28, 2018, Natur had approximately 12 full time employees. Our employees are mostly engaged in corporate headquarters activities and the shop in Amsterdam. We believe employee relations are generally good. Standard working hours are 40 hours a week.

On average, three full time employees are employed in the shop. The employees in the shop have a collective bargaining agreement. The employees work on an hourly rate basis, that includes vacation pay, holidays and a defined contribution pension scheme. The store manager has a monthly contract.

Discontinued Operations

Future Healthcare of America, prior to becoming known as Natur International Corp. operated primarily in the home healthcare and healthcare staffing services in Wyoming and Montana. As a result of its acquisition of Natur, it has taken steps to discontinue its operations in this area of enterprise. As of December 31, 2018, it has terminated all of its staffing services, sold off certain assets, and surrendered its professional servicing licenses. Its current primary activity is to continue to collect outstanding reimbursement claims from various insurance providers and governmental reimbursement organizations, addressing outstanding legal claims and terminating its business operations.

As part of the Company's strategy to operate in a lean and mean manner, the Company decided to centralize all support functions at the headquarters in the Netherlands and to support global account management centrally. For that reason, effective November 30, 2018, the Company closed down the London office. The existing United Kingdom support functions were transferred to the headquarters in Amsterdam as part of the centralization of support staff initiative.

Properties

We lease 666 square meters of office space at Jachthavenweg 124 in Amsterdam, the Netherlands and the annual rent for this location is EUR 213,647. We believe the rent is competitive with other locations in Amsterdam, and there is available, adequate alternative space available if we elect to change or business location. As we expand our business, we may establish additional office locations. Also, as we grow our business, we may acquire production facilities, warehousing and distribution facilities, either by purchase, lease or subcontracting specific space and facilities.

Table of Contents

We currently lease office space in Billings, Montana for $1,525 a month through May 2020. We have notified the landlord of our plans to terminate the lease in the first quarter of 2019. The landlord wants to settle the remaining lease, however we have not discussed the terms nor amount of a buyout.

We also lease two shops in Amsterdam for the exploitation of our Natur shops. One is at the Prinsengracht, in one of the busiest areas in Amsterdam. The shop has been operational for a year now, and during this period the Company has used this location to further streamline the concept and to develop a real brand awareness flagship store. In this interim period the other shop was sublet. This shop also is situated in the center of Amsterdam.

(C) in the case of any criminal proceeding, the director had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful; or

A director's conduct with respect to an employee benefit plan for a purpose the director reasonably believed to be in the interests of the participants in and beneficiaries of the plan is conduct that satisfies the requirement of subparagraph (a)(i)(B) of Section 17-16-851.

The termination of a proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction, or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent is not, of itself, determinative that the director did not meet the standard of conduct described in Section 17-16-851.

(i) A written affirmation of his good faith belief that the standard of conduct described in Section 17-16-851 has been met by the director or that the proceeding involves conduct for which liability has been eliminated under a provision of the articles of incorporation as authorized by Section 17-16-202(b)(iv); and

(ii) His written undertaking to repay any funds advanced if the director is not entitled to mandatory indemnification under Section 17-16-852 and it is ultimately determined under Section 17-16-854 or 17-16-855 that he has not met the standard of conduct described in Section 17-16-851.
