Management Report

As previously guided, GOL's load factors in the Brazilian summer have remained high and yields have risen as result of GOL's network and fleet restructuring completed during the year to adjust capacity to the Brazilian economic contraction. GOL responded to the weaker environment by continuing to improve customer experience and cutting costs.

In the fourth quarter of 2016 GOL improved its high service quality and achieved net revenues of R$2.7 billion and continued to rationalize operations. While reducing the number of seats available for sale by 17%, full-year 2016 net revenues were a record R$10 billion, a result made possible due the flight network restructuring effected in May 2016. According to the ANAC, in 2016 GOL was the leading airline in the Brazilian domestic market with a share of 36% of RPKs (passenger demand per kilometers). According to ABRACORP - Brazilian Association of Travel Agencies, GOL was the leader in market share and number of tickets issued and sold to corporate clients.

GOL further consolidated its position as Brazil's No. 1 airline. The dedication and teamwork of GOL's employees contributed to improved operating results in the fourth quarter. GOL is proud of its status as Brazil's lowest cost carrier for the 16th consecutive year based its standardized single fleet generating smaller crew costs, smart spare parts management and best in class maintenance and lean and productive operations, low fixed costs. The Company's order for new B-737 MAX 8s and investments in technology will maintain its cost leadership.

The Company strives to provide the best overall flying experience to its clients. GOL was most on-time airline in 2016 in the Brazilian market, with an 84.6% rating, according to OAG (Official Airline Guide), a specialized independent company that monitored over 54 million flights worldwide. For the fourth consecutive year, GOL remained the most on-time Brazilian airline with a 94.8% rate of flights taking off on schedule, according to the data from Infraero and airports concessionaires, which considers as a delay any departure with a delay of over 30 minutes.

The Company's 4Q16 operating profit (EBIT) registered R$198 million with an operating margin of 7.4%. In 4Q16, GOL increased aircraft utilization rates while maintaining market cost leadership. Passengers transported in 4Q16 decreased 15.4% over 4Q15. GOL's load factor increased 2.2 percentage points to 77.6% due to the maturity of the new network launched in May 2016 that achieved a 19.0% reduction in seats availability in the period. Aircraft utilization was at 11.7 block hours per day (increases 5.7% over 4Q15). Operating costs per ASK, excluding fuel and non-operating expenses, decreased approximately 6.8% to 13.97 cents (R$). Fuel costs per available seat kilometer (ASK) decreased 17.3% to 5.75 cents (R$). Cost reductions per ASK were driven by lower aircraft rent expenses due to fleet restructuring. The absolute market cost leadership is key to the value proposition of GOL and allowed GOL to provide the best fares and service in the market, even during a challenging industry environment.

Full year operating profit (EBIT) registered R$697 million, with the EBIT margin registering 7.1%. In 4Q16, the EBIT was R$198 million with an EBIT margin of 7.4% compared to a negative 3.6% margin in 4Q15.

In terms of future perspectives, besides maintain high levels of productivity and profitability, short-term results will be driven by the maintenance of capacity discipline. GOL remains committed to its strategy of profitable growth based on a low cost structure and high quality customer service. GOL is proud that almost 400 million passengers have chosen to fly GOL, and continues to make every effort to offer its customers the best in air travel: new, modern aircraft, frequent flights in major markets, an integrated route system and low fares. All of which is made possible by its dedicated team of employees, who are the key to GOL' success. By remaining focused on its low-cost business model, while continues to grow, innovate and provide low fares, GOL will create value for its customers, employees and shareholders.

Independent auditor's report on the individual and consolidated financial statements

To the shareholders and Board members and Officers of Gol Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A.

São Paulo - SP

We have audited the individual and consolidated financial statements of GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A. (the "Company"), identified as Parent and Consolidated, respectively, which comprise the balance sheets as at December 31, 2016, and the statements of operations, comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the individual and consolidated financial position of the Company as at December 31, 2016, and of its individual and consolidated financial performance and its individual and consolidated cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with the accounting practices adopted in Brazil and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB).

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Brazilian and International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the individual and consolidated financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Code of Ethics for Accountants (Código de Ética Profissional do Contador) and the professional requirements issued by the Federal Accounting Council (Conselho Federal de Contabilidade), and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of matter

As mentioned in Note 1, the Company's Management initiated an investigation to ascertain in a specific and concrete manner the matters related to payments to companies under investigation by the public authorities. The actions taken to investigate these payments are currently in progress and, at this moment, it is not possible to predict the future developments arising from the investigation conducted by the public authorities, and whose leniency agreement with the Federal Public Ministry signed on December 12, 2016 is still pending of final approval, or the possible effects on the Company's businesses. Our opinion is not qualified in relation to this matter.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the individual and consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Revenue recognition from passenger transportation

Revenue recognition from passenger transportation is highly dependent on information technology (IT) systems and their internal controls for the revenue recognition from passenger transportation when the air transportation service is provided. This process also takes into consideration other complex aspects that may affect the proper revenue recognition, such as recording of tickets sold but not used, unused tickets recorded as credits to passengers, and subject to expiration, in addition to agreements with other airline companies, interline and codeshare agreements with other airline companies. Revenues recognized by the Company are disclosed in Note 22 and the recognition criteria are described in Note 2.2 (k).

This subject was considered significant to our audit due to the complexity of the technology environment and its respective controls related to revenue recognition, including ticket prices in different currencies, as well as, the acquisition of tickets through miles programs.

How our audit addressed this matter:

Our audit procedures included, among others, the involvement of systems specialists to support us in assessing the operational design and effectiveness of IT controls and internal controls that comprise the process of ticket sales, registration, execution of passenger transportation and revenue recognition; the execution of audit tests with the purpose of assessing the integrity of the data in the IT systems involved in the revenue recognition process, through selection of tickets samples for each revenue group and tests on tickets used and unused; other passenger revenues, and passenger no-show, rebooking and cancellation charges.

Additionally, we assessed the adequacy of disclosures made by the Company on this matter, included in Notes 2.2 (k) and 22 to the financial statements.

Breakage revenue

The Company's revenues take into consideration the estimated number of tickets and miles that are not expected to be used or redeemed up to their expiration date, and are recognized as breakage revenue based on a statistical calculation of tickets and miles with high potential for expiration due to their expiration or no use. The analyses and assumptions for the revenue recognition of breakage is reviewed annually by the Company's Management to take into consideration the historical trend of tickets and miles expired, as well, as those with high potential to expire.

This matter was considered significant to our audit, considering the subjectivity involved in this analysis and the high level of judgment adopted by Management to determine the assumptions used to determine the expected number of tickets and miles that will expire.

How our audit addressed this matter:

Our audit procedures included, among others, the assessment of the design and operational effectiveness of controls implemented by Management for the revenue recognition of breakage; assessment of the reasonableness of assumptions related to the tickets and miles expected to expire, based on the historical data of tickets and miles expired; tests on a sampling based of miles earned, redeemed and expired; and analysis of the reasonableness of the other assumptions and methodology adopted by Management to determine the breakage rate used to recognize revenue.

Impairment of intangible assets – goodwill and airport operating rights

The Company is required to perform at least annually an impairment test on intangible assets with indefinite useful lives (goodwill and airport operating rights). At December 31, 2016, the balances of goodwill was R$ 542,302 thousand and airport operating rights was R$ 1,038,900 thousand.

This matter was considered significant to our audit due to the materiality of the amounts involved and, considering that the impairment test of these intangible assets is complex and involves a high level of subjectivity, and is based on several assumptions, such as: economy growth rates (GDP), foreign exchange rate (principally the US dollar), kerosene barrel price, and interest rates. These assumptions may be materially affected by the market conditions or future economic scenarios.

How our audit addressed this matter:

Our audit procedures included, among others, the use of specialists to support us in assessing the assumptions and the methodology used by the Company. We also assessed the adequacy of disclosures made by the Company regarding the assumptions used to test these intangible assets for impairment, as disclosed in Note 15 to the financial statements.

Realization of maintenance reserve and deposits

At December 31, 2016, the Company had a balance of maintenance reserve and deposits of R$604,744 thousand, as disclosed in Note 9. The Company pays in advance for the maintenance of aircraft and engines under certain aircraft lease agreements. The amounts paid are accumulated by lessors in maintenance reserve and deposit accounts and are mainly realized through the maintenance of engines and aircraft. The Company analyzes annually the realization of these assets considering the expected use through maintenance entitled to reimbursement, realization of balances through reimbursable maintenance performed by lessors and reimbursement of amounts paid upon return of the aircraft. Additionally, considering that the Company has no expectation of carrying out maintenance until the return date and/or using the reimbursable asset to maintenance, payments are then recorded in profit or loss for the year as additional aircraft lease expenses.

This matter was considered significant to our audit due to the materiality of amounts and the complexity of analyses made by the Company to determine the realization of these assets. The realization analysis is subject to a certain level of subjectivity, as well as the technical analyses conducted by the aeronautical engineering team, and the expectation of use of engines and aircraft in line with the Company's business plan for the next years.

How we audit addressed this matter:

Our audit procedures included, among others, analyses and tests of the assumptions used by the Company to assess the realization of assets, review of the aircraft maintenance schedule, segregated by components, and analysis of the aircraft return schedule, in accordance with the Company's business plan, including the number of aircrafts and fleet renewal.

Other matters

Statements of value added

The individual and consolidated statements of value added for the year ended December 31, 2016, prepared under the responsibility of the Company's Management and presented as supplementary information under IFRS, were submitted to the same audit procedures performed in accordance with the audit of the Company's financial statements. For the purposes of forming our opinion, we evaluated whether these statements are reconciled with the financial statements and accounting records, as applicable, and whether their form and content are in accordance with the criteria provided for in Accounting Pronouncement CPC 9 - Statement of Value Added. In our opinion, these statements of value added were prepared fairly, in all material respects, in accordance with the criteria defined in Accounting Pronouncement CPC 9 and are consistent with the overall individual and consolidated financial statements as a whole.

Other information accompanying the individual and consolidated financial statements and the auditor's report

The Company's Management is responsible for other information that includes the Management Report. Our opinion on the individual and consolidated financial statements does not cover the Management Report and we do not express any form of audit conclusion on the Management Report.

In connection with the audit of the individual and consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the Management Report and, in doing so, consider whether this report is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or based on our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise, whether this report appears to be materially misstated. If based on our work performed, we conclude that there is material misstatement in the Management Report, we are required to report this fact. We have nothing to report on this matter.

Responsibilities of Management and those charged with governance for the individual and consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the individual and consolidated financial statements in accordance with the accounting practices adopted in Brazil and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB), and for such internal control as Management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the individual and consolidated financial statements, Management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless Management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the individual and consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the individual and consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Brazilian and International Standards on Auditing will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Brazilian and International Standards on Auditing, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the individual and consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by Management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of Management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty

- exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the individual and consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

1. Operations

Gol Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A. (the “Company” or “GLAI”) is a publicly-listed company established on March 12, 2004, in accordance with Brazilian corporate legislation. The Company is engaged in controlling its subsidiaries: (i) Gol Linhas Aéreas S.A. (currently “GLA”, formerly “VRG Linhas Aéreas S.A.” prior to the change in the corporate name on September 22, 2016), which essentially explores (a) the regular and non-regular flight transportation services of passengers, cargo and mailbags, domestically or internationally, according to the concessions granted by the competent authorities; and (b) complementary activities of flight transport services provided in its By-laws; and (ii) Smiles S.A., which mainly operates (a) the development and management of its own or third party’s customer loyalty program, and (b) the sale of redemption rights of rewards related to the loyalty program.

Additionally, the Company is the direct parent Company of the wholly-owned subsidiaries GAC Inc. (“GAC”), Gol Finance Inc. (“Gol Finance”), Gol LuxCo S.A. (“Gol LuxCo”) and Gol Dominicana Lineas Aereas SAS (“Gol Dominicana”), and indirect parent Company of Webjet Participações S.A. (“Webjet”).

The Company’s registered office is at Pça.Comandante Linneu Gomes, s/n, portaria 3, prédio 24, Jardim Aeroporto, São Paulo, Brazil.

The Company’s shares are traded on the BM&FBOVESPA and on the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”). The Company adopted Level 2 Differentiated Corporate Governance Practices from BM&FBOVESPA and is included in the Special Corporate Governance Stock Index (“IGC”) and the Special Tag Along Stock Index (“ITAG”), which were created to identify companies committed to the differentiated corporate governance practices.

GLA is highly sensible to the volatility of the U.S. dollar, since approximately 50% of its costs are denominated in U.S. dollar. To overcome the challenges faced throughout 2016, the Company implemented a plan to maintain its liquidity and resume its operating margin. The plan, executed in 2016, was a success even in a scenario of adversities, due to the following actions:

- (a) Implementation of liquidity initiatives through negotiations with customers and strategic suppliers to maintain solvency in the short term;

- (b) Change in the route network to focus on the operation's most profitable routes.

- (c) Adjustment and reduction on the number of aircraft maintained in the operation, which reduced the number of seats available, allowing the alignment between supply and demand in the domestic market. In 2016, the Company removed 19 aircraft from its fleet, contributing to the maintenance of the cost structure in sustainable levels.

- (d) Adjustment of the debt and leasing structure, revising the values of the lease agreements, the early settlement of agreements under finance and operational lease, and the offer to exchange debt instruments, which, in addition to the impact from the appreciation of the Brazilian real, resulted in a reduction of approximately R$2 billion in total gross nominal debt.

As a result, for the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company maintained in safe levels its liquidity and ability to respond effectively to the adverse events caused by the instability of the Brazilian economic scenario.

The Company established several initiatives to adjust capacity based on short- and long-term liquidity. The diligent work performed to adjust the fleet size to economic growth and matching seat supply to demand are some of the initiatives implemented to maintain a high load factor. The Company will maintain a solid strategy by means of liquidity initiatives, such as the adjustment of the route network, initiatives to reduce costs and the adjustment of its debt structure.

It is worth noting that, even in a scenario with an outlook for improvement, the Company does not rule out uncertainties in Brazil's economic and political scenario that may directly impact the effectiveness of the expected returns.

Management understands that the business plan prepared, presented and approved by the Board of Directors on January 31, 2017, shows strong elements to continue as going concern.

On October 21, 2016, the Company announced that it has received requests from the IRS under a supervision to provide specific and concrete clarification of certain expenses incurred during the years 2012 and 2013. After these requests, the Company initiated an internal investigation and hired an independent external audit in order to perform a full investigation and clarification of the facts.

Due to this supervision, on December 12, 2016, the Company entered into a Leniency Agreement with the Federal Prosecutor Office, whereby it undertook, among other things, to pay fines and penalties if the Federal Prosecutor Office did not press criminal or civil charges related to the activities that are the object of the agreement that may represent administrative corruption, among others. There is no evidence that any of the employees, representatives and current managers of the Company were involved in the negotiation of said contracts, or that they were aware of any illegal purposes or that the Company illegally benefitted from said contracts. The external independent audit continues in progress and the Company is not aware of any impacts related to this disclosure that may affect its businesses.

(*) These are entities constituted with the specific purpose of pursuing with the Company's operations or which represent rights and/or obligations established solely to meet the Company's needs. They have no management bodies and cannot take independent decisions. The assets and liabilities of these companies are consolidated line by line in the Parent Company's financial statements.

The Company maintained the same accounting practices applied in previous years in all consolidated entities. All transactions, balances, revenues and expenses between the consolidated entities are fully excluded from the consolidated financial statements.

The summary of the main accounting policies adopted by the Company and its subsidiaries is as follows:

a) Cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments and restricted cash

The Company classifies under cash equivalents investment funds and securities with immediate liquidity, which, pursuant to the Company's assessment, are readily convertible to a known amount of cash with insignificant risk of change in value. Restricted cash comprises mainly financial investments measured at fair value through profit or loss, used as guarantees linked to financial instruments and short- and long-term financing. Short-term investments also include exclusive investment funds, which are fully consolidated.

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

b) Trade receivables

Trade receivables are measured based on cost (net of estimated losses from doubtful accounts) and approximate their fair value, given their short-term nature. An allowance for doubtful accounts is recorded for accounts more than 90 days overdue related to cargo sales and sales carried out by travel agencies paid in installments, and for accounts more than 180 days overdue related to sales carried out by partner airlines. Additionally, the Company carries out a case-by-case analysis to assess the risk of default in specific cases.

c) Inventories

They consist mainly of spare parts and maintenance and replacement materials. Costs are calculated based on the average cost and include the expenses incurred in the acquisition and transportation to their current location. Provisions for inventory obsolescence are recorded for items that are not expected to be realized.

d) Financial assets and liabilities

The Company measures financial assets and liabilities based on the categories below. The subsequent measurement of a specific item depends on the classification of the instrument, which is determined at initial recognition and annually reviewed in accordance with the Company's intentions. Said instruments comprise financial investments, investment in debt instruments, trade receivables and other receivables, loans and financing, other payables, other debt and derivative contracts.

Measured at amortized cost: with fixed or determinable payments not quoted in an active market, they are measured at amortized cost based on the effective interest rate method. Monetary restatement, interest and exchange variation, less impairment losses (where applicable), are recognized as financial revenue or expenses in profit or loss, when incurred. The Company's main assets in this category are the balances of trade receivables, deposits and other receivables, short-and long-term loans and financing (including finance leases) and trade payables.

Measured at fair value through profit or loss or held for trading: interest rates, monetary restatement, exchange variation and variations arising from the fair value measurement are recognized in profit or loss under as finance income or expenses. The Company has investments classified as cash equivalents, short-term investments and restricted cash in this category. The Company does not hold financial instruments held for trading.

Derivatives: changes in fuel prices, interest rates and exchange rates expose the Company and its subsidiaries to risks that may affect their financial performance. In order to mitigate said risks, the Company contracts derivative financial instruments that may or may not be designated for hedge accounting. If they are designated for hedge accounting, they are classified as cash flow hedge or fair value hedge.

- Not designated for hedge accounting: the Company can contract derivative financial instruments not designated for hedge accounting when the Risk Management goals do not require this classification. Changes in the fair value of operations not designated for hedge accounting are booked directly in the financial result.
- Designated as cash flow hedge: hedge future revenues or expenses against interest rate variations. The effectiveness of said variations is estimated based on statistical methods of correlation and on the ratio between hedging gains and losses and the variation of hedged costs and expenses. The instruments are effective when the change in the value of the derivatives offsets between 80% and 125% of the impact of the variation of the hedged risk. Effective fair value variations are booked in equity under "Other comprehensive income" until the hedged revenue is recognized in the same line of the income statement in which said item is recognized, while ineffective variations are booked in profit or loss under "Financial Result", based on the change in the fair value of the instrument. The deferred taxes over hedge transactions are recognized under "Other comprehensive results", net of taxes, only when there is expectation of the tax credit realization.

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

Derecognition and write-off: the Company only writes off a financial item when the contractual rights and obligations of the cash flows arising from this item expire, or when it transfers substantially all its risks and benefits to a third party. If the Company does not transfer or retain substantially all the risks and benefits together with the ownership of the financial item, but continues to control or maintain an obligation regarding said object, it recognizes the interest held and the respective liability in payables. If it retains substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the transferred financial asset, the asset will continue being recognized by the Company.

Hedge accounting is likely to be discontinued prospectively when (i) the Company and its subsidiaries cancel the hedge relationship; (ii) the derivative instrument matures or is sold, terminated or executed, (iii) the hedged object is unlikely to be realized, or (iv) it no longer qualifies as hedge accounting. If the operation is discontinued, any gains or losses previously recognized under "Other comprehensive income" and accrued in equity until that date are recognized in profit or loss when the transaction is also recorded in profit or loss. When the transaction is unlikely to occur, gains or losses accrued and deferred in equity are immediately booked in the result.

e) Deposits

Deposits for aircraft and engine maintenance: refer to payments in U.S. dollars to lessors for the future maintenance of aircraft and engines. These assets are substantially realized when the deposits are used to pay workshops for maintenance services or through the receipt of funds, in accordance with the negotiations carried out with the lessors. The exchange variation of payments, net of the use for maintenance, is recognized as revenue or expense in the financial result. Management carries out periodical analyses of the recovery of these deposits based on such amounts values on future maintenance events, if applicable, and believes that the amounts recorded in the statements of financial position can be realized.

Some agreements establish that the amounts deposited for said operation are not refundable if maintenance is not carried out and said deposits are not used. These amounts are withheld by the lessor and represent payments made for the use of the parts until the date of return. Amounts classified in this category are directly recognized in profit or loss, based on the payments made, under "Maintenance services".

Additionally, the Company maintains agreements with some lessors to replace deposits with letters of credit, which can be executed by the lessors if aircraft and engine maintenance does not occur in accordance with the inspection schedule. Several aircraft lease agreements do not require maintenance deposits and have the letters of credit to ensure that maintenance occurs in the scheduled periods. Until December 31, 2016, no letter of credit had been executed against the Company.

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

Deposits and collateral for lease agreements: deposits and guarantees are denominated in U.S. dollar and monthly adjusted for the exchange variation, without interest income, and refundable to the Company at the end of the lease agreements.

f) Operating leases and sale-leaseback

The portions arising from lease agreements classified as operating leases are recorded as an expense in profit or loss on a straight-line basis during the term of the agreement and presented under "aircraft lease". The future payments of these agreements do not represent an obligation recorded in the statements of financial position; however, the commitments assumed are presented in Note 26.

Gains or losses arising from the Company's sale-leaseback transactions classified after the sale of rights as operating lease are recognized as follows:

- Immediately in profit or loss when the transaction was measured at fair value;
- If the transaction price was established below or above the fair value, gains or losses are immediately recognized in profit or loss, unless the result is offset by future lease payments below market value (gains or losses are deferred and amortized in proportion to the lease payments during the year the asset is expected to be used);

The balance of deferred losses is recognized as a prepaid expense, while the balance of deferred gains is recognized as other obligations. The segregation between short and long term is recognized in accordance with the contractual term of the lease that originated such transaction.

g) Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment items, including rotables, are recorded at the acquisition or construction cost and include interest and other financial charges. Each component of the property, plant and equipment item that has a significant cost in relation to the total amount of the asset is depreciated separately. The estimated economic useful life of property, plant and equipment items, for depreciation purposes, is shown in Note 14.

The estimated market value at the end of the useful life of the item is used as an assumption to calculate the residual value of Company's property, plant and equipment items. Except for aircraft classified as finance leases, other items do not have a residual value. The assets' residual value and useful lives are annually reviewed by the Company: any variations arising from changes in the expected realization of these items result in prospective changes, in which the residual value is depreciated based on the remaining period of the new expected useful life.

Property, plant and equipment is tested for impairment when facts or changes in the circumstances show that the carrying amount is higher than the estimated recoverable value.

A property, plant and equipment item is written-off after sale or when there are no future economic benefits resulting from the asset's continuous use. Any gain or loss from the sale or write-off of an item is determined by the difference between the amount received for the sale and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognized in profit or loss.

Additionally, the Company adopts the following treatment for the groups below:

Advances for aircraft acquisition: refer to prepayments in U.S. dollars to Boeing for the acquisition of 737-800 Next Generation and 737-MAX aircraft. The advances are converted at the historical rate.

Lease agreements: in cases of finance leases agreement, in which the risks and benefits of the leased asset are transferred to the Company, the asset is recognized in the statements of financial position. At the beginning of the lease term, the Company recognizes finance leases as assets and liabilities at amounts equivalent to the fair value of the leased asset or, if lower, at the present value of the lease's minimum payments. The initially recognized liability is held as financing.

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

Leased assets are depreciated throughout their useful lives. However, when there is no reasonable certainty that the Company will obtain ownership at the end of the lease, the asset is depreciated throughout its estimated useful lives or during the lease term, whichever is lower.

Other aircraft and engine leases are classified as operating lease and payments are recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis during the term of the agreement.

Aircraft reconfiguration expenses: the Company makes additions to provisions for aircraft reconfiguration, estimating the costs inherent in returns, considering the contractual conditions of the leased aircraft, pursuant to Note 14. After initial recognition, the asset is depreciated on a straight-line basis for the term of the agreement.

Capitalization of major engine and aircraft maintenance expenses: major maintenance expenses (including labor and replacement parts) are only capitalized when the estimated useful life of the engine or aircraft is extended. These costs are capitalized and depreciated until the next major maintenance stoppage. Any incurred expenses that do not extend the useful life of engines or aircraft, or those related to other aircraft components, are directly recognized in profit or loss.

h) Intangible assets

These are non-monetary assets without physical property, which are tested for impairment on an annual basis or when there is strong evidence of changes in the circumstances that indicate that the carrying amount may not be recovered.

Goodwill based on the expectation of future profitability: Goodwill is annually tested for impairment by comparing the carrying amount with the recoverable fair value of the cash-generating unit (GLA and Smiles). Management makes judgements and assumptions to assess the impact of macroeconomic and operational changes in order to estimate future cash flows and measure the recoverable value of assets.

Airport operation rights: acquired in the acquisition of GLA and da Webjet and recognized at fair value on the acquisition date, they are not amortized. The estimated useful life of these rights was considered indefinite due to several factors and considerations, including permission authorizations and requirements to operate in Brazil and the limited availability of use rights in major airports in terms of air traffic volume. These rights, together with GLA's cash-generating unit (route network), are tested for impairment on an annual basis or when there are changes in the circumstances that indicate that the carrying amount may not be recovered. No impairment losses have been recorded until now.

Software: software acquisition or development costs that can be separated from a hardware item are separately capitalized and amortized on a straight-line basis during the contract term.

i) Income and social contribution taxes

Income and social contribution tax expenses consist of the sum of current and deferred taxes.

Current taxes: the provision for income and social contribution taxes is based on taxable income for the year. The calculation is in compliance with the current tax legislation.

Deferred taxes: are recognized on temporary differences, income tax losses and negative basis of social contribution at the end of each reporting period between the asset and liability balances reported in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used to calculate taxable income.

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

The book value of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and written off when it is likely that taxable income will no longer be available to allow deferred tax assets to be realized in full or in part.

Deferred taxes of items directly recorded in equity are recorded in equity, rather than in the income statement. Deferred tax items are recognized in accordance with the transaction that originated the deferred tax, in comprehensive income or directly in equity, and evaluated together with other temporary differences regarding their likelihood of realization.

Tax credits arising from tax losses and negative basis of social contribution are recorded based on the expected generation of future taxable income of the parent company and its subsidiaries, pursuant to legal limitations.

The projections of future taxable income on tax losses and negative basis of social contribution are prepared based on the business plans, reviewed annually and approved by the Company's Board of Directors.

j) Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a legal or constructive obligation arising from a past event, and it is likely that it will disburse funds to settle it.

Provision for aircraft return: aircraft under operating lease have a contractual obligation to return the equipment based on pre-defined operating capacity. In these cases, the Company records provisions for return costs, since these are present obligations arising from past events that will generate future disbursements, which are measured with reasonable certainty. These expenses refer mainly to aircraft reconfiguration (interior and exterior), the obtaining of licenses and technical certifications, painting, etc., pursuant to contractual return clauses. The estimated cost is initially recorded at present value. The corresponding entry for the provision for aircraft return is "aircraft reconfiguration/improvements" in property, plant and equipment (see Note 14). After initial recognition, liabilities are restated using the discount rate estimated by the Company by crediting the financial result. Changes in the estimate of expenses to be incurred are recorded prospectively.

Provision for engines return: are estimated based on the minimum contractual conditions in which the equipment must be returned to the lessor, observing the historical costs incurred and the equipment conditions at the moment of the evaluation. Said provisions are recorded in profit or loss as of the time the contractual requirements are met and the next maintenance is scheduled for a date after the engines are expected to be returned. The Company estimates the provision for engine return in accordance with the costs to be incurred and, when the amount can be reliably estimated, the amount of a provision will be the present value of the expenses expected to be required to settle the obligation. The term will be based on the expected date of return of the leased aircraft, i.e., the duration of the lease agreement.

Provision for legal proceedings: Provisions are recognized and reassessed for all lawsuits that represent probable losses in accordance with the individual assessment of each proceeding taking into account the estimated financial outlay. If the Company expects the provision to be reversed in full or in part, the reversal is recognized as separate asset. Expenses related to any provision are recorded in profit or loss for the year, net of any reversals.

Notes to the financial statements

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

k) Revenue recognition

Passenger revenue is recognized when air transportation services are effectively provided. Tickets sold but not yet used are recorded as transportation services to be provided and represent deferred revenue of tickets sold to be used on a future date, net of tickets that will expire in accordance with the Company's expectation (breakage). Breakage is the statistical calculation, based on historical figures, of tickets that expire without being used, i.e., passengers who acquired tickets and are not likely to use them. The Company periodically updates breakage balances in order to reflect the behavior of the expired tickets.

From a consolidated perspective, the revenue recognition cycle related to miles exchanged for flight tickets is only complete when the passengers are effectively transported.

Cargo revenue is recognized when transportation is provided. Other revenues include charter services, sales on board, ticket exchange fees and other additional services and are recognized when the service is performed.

l) Deferred revenue and miles revenue

The purpose of the Smiles Program is to increase customer loyalty by granting mileage credit to its members. The obligation generated by the issue of miles is measured based on the price at which miles are sold to airline and non-airline partners of Smiles, classified as the fair value of the transaction. Revenue is recognized in profit or loss for the year when miles are redeemed by the members of the Smiles Program in exchange for rewards with its partners.

m) Share-based payments

Stock options: the fair value of stock options granted to the executives is estimated on the grant date using the Black-Scholes pricing model and the expense is recognized in profit or loss during the vesting period, based on estimates of which shares granted will eventually be acquired with a corresponding increase in equity.

Restricted shares: restricted shares are transferred to the beneficiaries three years after the grant date, provided that the beneficiary maintains its employment relationship up to the end of this period. The transfer occurs through shares held in treasury, whose value per share is determined by the market price on the date it is transferred to the beneficiary. Gains from changes in the fair value of the share between the grant date and the transfer date of the restricted shares are recorded in equity, under "Goodwill on the transfer of shares".

The impact of the revision of the number of stock options or restricted shares that will not be acquired in relation to the original estimates, if any, is recognized in profit or loss so that the accrued expense reflects the revised estimates with the corresponding adjustment in equity.

n) Segments

The Company has two operating segments:

Air transportation segment: its operations originate from its subsidiary GLA for the provision of air transportation services and the main assets that generate revenue are the company's aircraft. Other revenues are mainly originated from cargo operations, excess baggage and cancellation fees, all of which are directly related to air transportation services.

Loyalty program segment: the operations of this segment are represented by the sale of mileage to air and non-air partner companies. This includes the management of the program, the sale of reward redemption rights and the creation and management of an individual and corporate database. The main cash-generating asset is the program's member portfolio.

o) Foreign currency transactions

Transactions in foreign currency are recorded at the exchange rate in effect on the transaction date. Monetary assets and liabilities designated in foreign currency are calculated based on the exchange rate on the reporting sheet date and any difference arising from currency translation is recorded under “Exchange variation, net” in the statement of income.

p) Value added statement (“DVA”)

Its goal is to demonstrate the wealth created by the Company and its distribution in a given year; it is presented by the Company as required by Brazilian Corporation Law as part of its individual financial statements and as supplementary information to the consolidated financial statements, since it is not provided for or required by IFRS. The value added statements were prepared based on information obtained in the accounting records, pursuant to CPC 09 – “Value added statements”.

q) Main accounting estimates and assumptions adopted

The preparation of these financial statements often requires Management to make assumptions, judgments and estimates that may affect the application of policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. Actual results may differ from these estimates since they are based on past experience and several factors deemed appropriate given the circumstances. The revisions of accounting estimates are recognized on the same year in which the assumptions are prospectively revised.

The estimates and assumptions that represent a significant risk of material adjustments to the book value of assets and liabilities are presented below:

Impairment of financial assets: the Company tests all its financial assets for impairment on each reporting date or when there is evidence that the carrying amounts may not be recovered. Any difficulty and/or restriction in the use of financial assets belonging to the Company is an evidence that the impairment test should be performed.

Impairment of non-financial assets: at the end of each year, the Company tests all non-financial assets, especially property, plant and equipment and intangible assets for impairment. The recoverable amounts are calculated by their value in used based on a five-year period, using discounted cash flow assumptions. Any amount below the asset's carrying amount should be recognized as an impairment loss in profit or loss for the year when it occurred. For further information, see Note 14.

Income tax: The Company believes that the tax positions assumed are reasonable, but recognizes that authorities may question such positions, which may result in additional tax and interest liabilities. The Company recognizes provisions based on considerable judgement by Management. These provisions are reviewed and adjusted to reflect changes in circumstances, such as the expiration of the applicable statute of limitation, tax authorities' conclusions, additional exposure based on the identification of new legal issues or decisions impacting certain tax issues. Actual results may differ from the estimates.

Breakage: as part of the revenue recognition process, issued tickets that will not be used and mileage that will not be redeemed are estimated and recognized as revenue during the term of maturity of the client's right to use them. These estimates, referred to as breakage, are annually reviewed and are based on historical data of expired tickets and mileage.

Allowance for doubtful accounts: an allowance for doubtful accounts is recognized in an amount considered sufficient to cover eventual losses in the realization of trade receivables. The Company assesses its receivables portfolio on a regular basis and, based on historical data and risk analyses on a customer by customer basis, recognizes a provision for securities with low expectation of being realized.

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

Provision for legal proceedings: the provision is recognized based on the assessment of available evidence, including the opinion of the Company's internal and external legal counsel, the nature of the proceedings and past experience. In addition, provisions are reviewed on a regular basis and Management believes that the amounts recognized are compatible with the likelihood of loss of each proceeding. Nevertheless, material changes in court rulings may significantly impact the Company's financial statements.

Provision for aircraft return: the Company records a provision for aircraft return considering the costs to be incurred when the aircraft is returned and contractual conditions by debiting property, plant and equipment.

Provision for engine return: is calculated based on the estimate corresponding to the contractual obligation for the return of each engine and for recorded in profit or loss in interval between the last maintenance and the date of return of the components.

Fair value of financial instruments: when the fair value of financial assets and liabilities presented in the statements of financial position cannot be quoted in active markets, it is determined using valuation techniques, including the discounted cash flow method. The data used in these methods are based on those practiced by the market, when possible; however, when this is not possible, a certain level of judgment is required to determine the fair value. The judgment includes considerations about the data used, such as liquidity risk, credit risk and volatility. Changes in the assumptions about these factors could affect the fair value of the financial instruments.

2.3. New standards, amendments and interpretations of standards

IFRS 9 (CPC 48) – Financial instruments:

In July 2014, IASB issued the final version of “IFRS 9 – Financial Instruments”, which reflects all the phases of the financial instrument project and replaces “IAS 39 – Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement” and all previous versions of IFRS 9. The standard introduces new requirements for classification and measurement, impairment and hedge accounting. IFRS 9 will be effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018, with early adoption being permitted. The Company intends to adopt the standard on the effective date. This standard must be applied retrospectively; however, it is not mandatory to present comparative data. The adoption of IFRS 9 will affect the classification and measurement of the Company’s financial assets and, based on the instruments in effect until the moment, the Company does not expect significant impacts on the classification and measurement of its financial liabilities.

IFRS 15 (CPC 47) – Revenue from Contracts with Customers

In 2014, the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) issued standard IFRS15 - Revenue from Contracts with Customers, which will be in effect for fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2018. IFRS15 (CPC47 - under public hearing process) presents revenue recognition principles based on a five-step model to be applied to all contracts with customers, in accordance with the entity’s performance requirements. The Company expects to adopt the new standard on the date it becomes effective using the full retrospective method. In 2016, the Company carried out a preliminary assessment of IFRS 15, which is subject to changes due to more detailed analyses that are still in progress. Among the main challenges for the adoption of IFRS 15, the Company believes that the recognition of the following revenues may change compared with the current format:

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

a) Passenger revenue arising from shared flight agreements: corresponds to agreements where two or more airlines unite to deliver air transportation services. In situations when the Company will work as the principal, revenue will be recognized based on the gross value of the transaction (price of the ticket to the final customer), rather than on the portion that corresponds only to the service provided by the Company.

b) Ancillary revenue: comprises all revenue linked to air transportation services, such as excess baggage, rebooking fees, refunds, among others. These revenues must be assessed and classified as “distinct” or “related to the main service”, and are recognized when incurred. In this regard, the Company does not expect significant changes, since these revenues are already recognized based on their nature, at the moment of recognition of passenger transportation revenue. Accordingly, the recognition of ancillary revenue is already aligned with the new standard.

c) Recognition of revenue from the loyalty program: considering that the Smiles program works as a separate entity and that the allocation of the fair value corresponds to the amount for which the mile has been sold, the Company does not expect any material impact on the calculation of the transaction price for separate performance obligations.

d) Breakage revenue: comprises the expectation of mileage and tickets that are not likely to be used by the customer. To recognize these revenues, the Company uses analysis tools and statistical data that allow the estimate to be calculated with a reasonable level of certainty. Given the standard’s specific requirements regarding this, the Company does not believe that the implementation of IFRS 15 will cause material impacts.

Although the pronouncement allows for early adoption as of January 1, 2017, the Company will only adopt the new standard as of January 1, 2018. Additionally, the Company will continue assessing the impacts from the adoption of the new standard and will disclose additional impacts as the analyses are concluded.

IFRS 16 – Leases

In January 2016, the IASB issued the final version of “IFRS 16 – Leases”, which establishes the principles for recognizing, measuring and disclosing leases. IFRS 16 will be effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2019. Internationally, initial adoption is permitted as of January 01, 2018, but in Brazil early adoption of this standard is not permitted by the CVM. IFRS 16 establishes that, for most leases, the lessor will recognize an asset related to the right of use of the identified asset, as well as the liability related to the lease. Since 96 of the Company’s 130 aircraft are leased, the adoption of this standard will have a material impact on the Company, with the potential increase in the assets corresponding to the right of use and liabilities corresponding to leases, which will be recorded in the statements of financial position as of the adoption date.

Additionally, the following new standards, amendments and interpretations were issued or revised by IASB and applied for the first time in 2016:

- Amendments to IAS 16 and IAS 38 – Clarification of Acceptable Methods of Depreciation and Amortization – The amendments are applicable prospectively for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016;
- Amendments to IAS 27 – Equity Accounting in Separate Financial Statements – The amendments are applicable prospectively for annual periods started on or after January 1, 2016;

Annual improvements –2012-2014 Cycle – Applicable to annual periods started on or after July 1, 2016;

- IFRS 7 Financial Instruments – Disclosure: (i) clarifies that a servicing contract that includes a fee can constitute continuing involvement in a financial asset and, (ii) the applicability of the amendments to IFRS 7 to the condensed interim financial information. This amendment must be applied retrospectively;
 - IAS 34 Preparation and disclosure of interim financial reporting. This amendment must be applied retrospectively;
 - Amendment to IAS 1 – Disclosure Initiative – The amendments are applicable prospectively to annual periods beginning on January 1, 2016, with early adoption being allowed;
- Amendments to IFRS 10, IFRS 12 and IAS 28 – Investment Entities: Applying the Consolidation Exception – The amendments are applicable prospectively to annual periods beginning on January 1, 2016, with early adoption being allowed.

According to Management, there are no other standards and interpretations issued and not yet adopted that may have a significant impact on the result or equity disclosed by the Company.

(c) The R$31,085 portion of taxes on unrealized profits from transactions between GLA and Smiles is recognized directly in Consolidated (R$26,413 as of December 31, 2015).

The Company and its directly held subsidiary GLA and indirectly held subsidiary Webjet show income tax losses and negative basis of social contribution on taxable income to be offset against 30% of annual taxable income, with no prescription period, in the following amounts:

On December 31, 2016, tax credits arising from tax losses and negative basis of social contribution were recognized based on the expected generation of future taxable income of the parent company and its subsidiaries, pursuant to legal limitations. The projections of future taxable income tax losses and negative basis of social contribution were prepared based on the business plans and approved by the Company’s Board of Directors on January 31, 2017.

The Company’s Management considers that the deferred assets and liabilities recognized as of December 31, 2016 arising from temporary differences will be realized in proportion to realization of their bases and the expectation of future results.

The analysis of the realization of deferred tax assets was prepared on a company basis, as follows:

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

GLAI: the Company has tax credits of R$65,618, of which R$64,643 is related to tax losses and negative base for social contribution and R$975 is related to temporary differences, with realization supported by the long-term plan of the Company. However, in the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company assessed the projections of results and did not recognize the amount of R$52,201 related to credits on tax losses and negative base for social contribution.

GLA: GLA has tax credits arising from tax losses and negative basis of social contribution in the amount of R$1,350,427. However, in view of recent events on the political scenario in Brazil, instability of the economic environment, constant fluctuations in the U.S. dollar exchange rate and other variables that significantly affect the projections of future results, as well as the history of losses in recent years, GLA did not recognize tax credits arising from tax losses and negative basis of social contribution in their entirety. Additionally, the Company analyzed the realization of deferred tax assets on temporary differences and limited the recognition based on the expected realization of deferred tax liabilities on temporary differences. As a result, the Company did not recognize the net amount of R$538,668 of deferred income and social contribution taxes on temporary difference.

Smiles: Smiles does not have tax losses and negative calculation base for social contribution. Therefore, the deferred tax credit is composed only by temporary differences which, according to the history and projections of taxable results, have an expectation of realization.

Webjet: the forecast did not present sufficient taxable income to be realized over future periods and, as a result, tax credits of R$294,917 have not been recorded.

The reconciliation of effective income tax rates and social contribution charges for the year ended December 31, 2016 is as follows:

Accordingly, the net balance to be deferred is essentially part of the net investment of the Parent Company in GLA. The net balance to be deferred in the year ended December 31, 2016 was R$9,960 (R$16,913 in the year ended December 31, 2015). For further information, see Note 26.2.

13. Earnings per share

Although there are differences between common and preferred shares in terms of voting rights and priority in case of liquidation, the Company's preferred shares are not entitled to receive any fixed dividends. Preferred shares hold economic power and the right to 35 times more dividends than common shares. The Company believes that the economic power of preferred shares is more than that of common shares. Accordingly, the result of the year attributed to the controlling shareholders is proportionally allocated in relation to the total economic participation of the amount of common and preferred shares.

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the year's net income attributable to controlling shareholders by the weighted average number of all classes of shares outstanding during the year.

Diluted earnings per share are calculated by adjusting the weighted average number of shares outstanding by instruments potentially convertible into shares. The Company has only one category of potentially dilutive shares, namely stock options, as described in Note 11. For the years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015, only the option plan granted in 2016 had exercise prices higher than the accumulated market average price (in the money) and, therefore, has a dilutive effect. The other plans, presented lower exercise prices than the average of the accumulated market prices (out of money), and have non-dilutive effect, so were not considered in the total number of shares in circulation.

(a) The Company changed lessors for 6 agreements classified as financial lease agreements in the year ended December 31, 2016 through sale-leaseback transactions. Although the Company will continue to have these aircraft in its fleet, factors such as exchanging lessors, new contractual terms and particularly shorter contractual durations characterize these agreements as new contracts under IAS17 and CPC06 criteria. As of February 11, 2016, therefore, these aircraft have been classified as operating leases and the related payments are now recognized under Costs as "aircraft leases". In addition, the Company terminated an agreement for 4 aircraft early and did not enter into any other types of agreement.

(b) Refers to provisions for impairment losses for rotatable items, classified under the heading "spare parts and spare engines", made by the Company in order to present its assets according to their actual capacity for generating economic benefits.

During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company reviewed the useful life of its assets and made the following changes in depreciation rates:

	From	To
Property, plant and equipment under finance lease	4.0%	5.6%
Sets of replacement parts and spare engines	4.0%	5.6%
Engine maintenance costs (*)	30.0%	14.3%

(*) Included under "Aircraft reconfigurations/overhauling".

The change in useful life was made on a prospective basis.

These adjustments are supported by technical analyses and their purpose is to reflect the Company's current outlook for the use of its assets.

(*) Refers to goodwill determined on the acquisition of the interest in Netpoints by Smiles, transferred to 'investments'.

On December 31, 2016 and 2015, goodwill and other intangible assets were tested for impairment using the discounted cash flow of each cash-generating unit, originating the value in use.

In order to assess the recoverable value, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are separately identifiable cash flows (Cash-Generating Units). In order to determine the carrying amount of each cash-generating unit, the Company considers the intangible assets recorded and all necessary tangible assets, given that it will only generate economic benefits by using the combination of both.

The Company allocates goodwill to two cash-generating units: GLA and Smiles, and the airport operating rights are fully allocated to GLA's cash-generating unit, as shown below:

Discount rate before taxes	17.21%	19.84%	18.65%
Perpetuity growth rate	3.50%	3.50%	8.50%

The results obtained were compared with the carrying amount of each cash-generating unit and, as a result, the Company did not recognize impairment losses on its CGUs.

The assumptions adopted in the impairment testing of intangible assets are based on internal projections for a five-year period; for longer periods, the Company uses the perpetuity growth rate and the operational plans, both of which have been analyzed and approved by the Company's management. The discounted cash flow that determined the value in use of the cash-generating units was prepared in accordance with Company's business plan, which was approved on January 31, 2017.

The main assumptions taken into consideration by the Company to determine the value in use of the cash-generating units are:

Capacity and fleet: considers the use, the aircraft capacity used in each flight and the projected size of the fleet in use.

Demand: market efficiency is the main input to estimate the Company's demand growth. Management considers market efficiency to be the ratio between its market share and its seat share. This indicator reflects how efficiently the Company uses its share of the market's total supply based on how much demand for air transportation it absorbs.

Revenue per passenger: considers the average price charged by GLA and the effects of market variables (see the variables used below).

Operating costs related to the business: based on the historical cost and adjusted by indicators, such as inflation, supply, demand and variation of the U.S. dollar.

The Company also considered market variables, including the GDP (source: Brazilian Central Bank), the U.S. dollar (source: Brazilian Central Bank), kerosene prices (per barrel) (source: Brazilian National Agency of Petroleum, Natural Gas and Biofuels - ANP) and interest rates (source: Bloomberg).

(a) Eliminations are related to transactions between GLA and Smiles.

(b) Includes depreciation and amortization expenses in the amount of R$430,604 in the year ended December 31, 2016 allocated to the following segments: R$422,523 for flight transportation and R$8,081 for the Smiles loyalty program (R$357,054 and R$2,835 in the year ended December 31, 2015, respectively).

(c) Includes depreciation and amortization expenses in the amount of R$17,064 in the year ended December 31, 2016 allocated to the following segments: R$16,649 for flight transportation and R$415 for the Smiles loyalty program (R$59,802 fully recorded in flight transportation in the year ended December 31, 2015).

In the financial statements of the subsidiary Smiles, which corresponds to the Loyalty Program segment, and in information provided to the main operational decision makers, revenue is recognized when miles are redeemed by participants. From the perspective of this segment, this measurement is appropriate since this is when the revenue recognition cycle is complete, and Smiles transfers to GLA the obligation to provide services or deliver products to its customers.

However, from a consolidated perspective, the revenue recognition cycle related to miles exchanged for flight tickets is only complete when the passengers are effectively transported. Therefore, for purposes of reconciliation with the consolidated assets, liabilities and results, as well as for equity method of accounting and consolidation purposes, the Company performs, in addition to eliminations, an adjustment to transactions as yet unrealized in the Smiles Program's revenues. In this case, from the consolidated perspective, the miles used to redeem airline tickets are only recognized as revenues when passengers are transported, in accordance with accounting practices adopted by the Company.

These aircraft acquisition commitments include estimated contractual price increases during the construction phase. The approximate amount of firm orders, not including contractual discounts, is R$48,032,429 (corresponding to US$14,737,943 on the reporting date), classified by year as shown below:

	2016	2015
2016	-	1,337,753
2017	-	-
2018	1,787,388	2,141,509
2019	2,917,833	3,495,921

2021 onwards	38,856,036	46,554,279
	48,032,429	58,886,473

As of December 31, 2016, of the above-mentioned commitments, the Company has to pay the amount of R$6,724,541 (corresponding to US$2,063,312 on the reporting date) in advance payments for aircraft acquisition, by year, as shown below:

	2016	2015
2016	-	6,672
2017	286,829	343,657
2018	483,518	579,313
2019	658,930	789,479
2020	835,468	1,000,993
2021 onwards	4,459,796	4,660,379
	6,724,541	7,380,493

The portion financed by long-term loans with U.S. Ex-Im Bank guarantees for aircraft corresponds to approximately 85% of the aircraft total cost. Other agents finance the acquisitions with equal or higher percentages, reaching up to 100%.

The Company is making payments for aircraft acquisitions using its own funds, loans, cash provided by operating activities, short-and medium-term credit facilities and supplier financing.

The Company leases its entire fleet of aircraft through a combination of operating and finance lease agreements. As of December 31, 2016, the total fleet consisted of 130 aircraft, 96 of which were operating leases and 34 finance leases. The Company has 31 aircraft under finance leases with purchase options. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company returned 10 aircraft under operating lease contracts.

Total minimum lease repayments	6,246,725	7,749,032

26.2. Sale-leaseback transactions

The Company recorded a net gain of R$233,483 arising from 7 aircraft sale-leaseback transactions (gain of R$32,191 related to 6 aircraft as of December 31, 2015). Since gains or losses on sale-leaseback transactions will not be offset against future lease payments and were negotiated at fair value of aircraft, these gains were recognized directly in the profit or loss for the year.

The Company also has balances of deferred losses from transactions carried out between 2006 and 2009, in the amount of R$9,959 (R$16,913 on December 31, 2015).

27. Financial instruments and risk management

Operational activities expose the Company and its subsidiaries to market risk (fuel prices, currency exchange rate and interest rate), credit risk and liquidity risk. These risks may be mitigated through the use of oil market, U.S. dollar and interest-rate swap derivatives, futures and options.

Financial instruments are managed by the Risk Committee in line with the Risk Management Policy approved by the Risk Policy Committee and submitted to the Board of Directors. The Risk Policy Committee sets guidelines and limits and monitors controls, including mathematical models used to continuously monitor exposures and potential financial impacts, and also prevents the use of financial instruments for speculative trading.

The Company does not hedge its total risk exposure, and is, therefore, subject to market fluctuations for a significant portion of its exposed assets and liabilities. Decisions on the portion to be hedged depend on the financial risks and costs of hedging and are determined and reviewed at least quarterly in line with Risk Policy Committee strategies. Gains or losses arising from these transactions and the application of risk management controls are part of the Committee's monitoring remit and have been satisfactory to the proposed objectives.

The accounting classifications of the Company's consolidated financial instruments on December 31, 2016 and 2015 are shown below:

27.1 Market risks

a) Fuel risk

Aircraft fuel prices vary due to the volatility of the price of crude oil and its by-products. In order to mitigate any losses from changes in the fuel market, the Company contracts derivative financial instruments referenced mainly to crude oil and, as of December 31, 2016, the Company held the purchase option (call and put) attached to WTI. In the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company recognized a gain with fuel hedge transactions in the amount of R$309 (a loss of R$29,964 in the year ended December 31, 2015). The Company does not hold derivatives operations designated as "hedge accounting".

b) Foreign currency risk

Currency risk arises from the possibility of unfavorable fluctuation of foreign currencies to which the Company's liabilities or cash flows are exposed. The Company contracts derivative financial instruments in U.S. dollars. In the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company recognized a loss on foreign exchange hedges for derivatives agreements of future U.S.

foreign exchange in the amount of R$40,931 (a gain of R$102,969 in the year ended December 31, 2015).

The Company's foreign currency exposure essentially comprises U.S. Dollar rate.

c) Interest rate

The Company is exposed to future finance lease transactions including installments to be paid that are exposed to LIBOR variations through the date of aircraft delivery. In order to mitigate these risks, the Company holds swap derivatives based on LIBOR. In the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company recognized a total loss with interest hedge transactions in the amount of R$128,732 (R$35,725 in the year ended December 31, 2015).

As of December 31, 2016 and 2015, the Company and its subsidiaries hold LIBOR derivatives recorded as hedge accounting.

27.2 Credit risk

The credit risk is inherent in the Company's operating and financing activities, mainly represented by trade receivables, cash and cash equivalents, and short-term investments. Trade receivables credit risk consists of amounts falling due from credit card operators, travel agencies, installments sales and government entities, which leaves the Company exposed to a small portion of the credit risk of individuals and other entities. Credit limits are set for all customers based on internal credit rating criteria and carrying amounts represent the maximum credit risk exposure. Customer creditworthiness is assessed based on an internal system of extensive credit rating. Outstanding trade receivables are frequently monitored by the Company.

Notes to the financial statements

Fiscal year ended December 31, 2016

(In thousands of Brazilian reais - R$, except when otherwise indicated)

Derivative financial instruments are contracted in the over-the-counter market (OTC) with counterparties rated investment grade or higher, or in a commodities and futures exchange (BM&FBOVESPA or NYMEX), thus substantially mitigating credit risk. Financial assets are realized with counterparties rated investment grade or higher by S&P or Moody's. The Company's obligation is to evaluate counterparty risk involved in financial instruments and periodically diversify its exposure.

27.3 Liquidity risk

The Company is exposed to two different types of liquidity risk: (i) market liquidity, which varies depending on the types of assets and markets in which assets are traded, and (ii) cash flow liquidity related to difficulties in meeting our contracted operating obligations at the maturity dates. In order to manage liquidity risk, the Company invests its funds in liquid assets (government bonds, CDBs and investment funds with daily liquidity) and its Cash Management Policy requires the weighted average maturity of its debt to be longer than the weighted average term of its investment portfolio.

The schedule of maturity of the Company's consolidated financial liabilities on December 31, 2016 is as follows:

	Less than 6 months	6 - 12 months	1 - 5 years	More than 5 years	Total

27.4 Capital management

The Company uses alternative sources of capital to meet its operational requirements and to ensure that its capital structure takes into account suitable parameters for the financial costs, the maturities of funding and its guarantees. The Company monitors its financial leverage ratio, which corresponds to net debt, including short and long-term loans. The following table shows the financial leverage as of December 31, 2016 and 2015:

27.5 Sensitivity analysis of financial instruments

The sensitivity analysis of financial instruments has been prepared in accordance with CVM Instruction 475/08 in order to estimate the impact on fair value of financial instruments traded by the Company in three scenarios for each risk variable: the most likely scenario in the Company's assessment (which is levels of demand remaining unchanged); a 25% deterioration (possible adverse scenario) in the risk variable; a 50% deterioration (remote adverse scenario).

The estimates shown do not necessarily reflect amounts to be stated in the next financial statements. The use of different methodologies may have a material effect on estimates.

The tables below show sensitivity analyses for exposure to foreign currency exchange rates, outstanding derivatives positions and interest rate variations as of December 31, 2016 for market risks that management believes are material. The positive amounts shown are net asset exposures (assets greater than liabilities) while negative values shown are net liability exposures (liabilities greater than assets).

Parent Company

a) Currency risk

As of December 31, 2016, the Company had a net foreign exchange exposure of R$3,212,672. On the same date, the Company adopted this amount and the R$3.2591/US$ closing rate of the month announced by the Central Bank of Brazil as probable scenario, as shown below:

	Exchange rate	Liabilities, net

Dollar appreciation (+50%)	4.8887	(4,819,007)

Consolidateda) Fuel risk

Due to the low liquidity of jet fuel derivatives traded in commodities exchanges, the Company and its subsidiaries contract crude oil derivatives (WTI, Brent) and its byproducts (Heating Oil) to hedge against fluctuations in jet fuel prices. Historically, oil prices are highly correlated with aircraft fuel prices.

As of December 31, 2016, the Company and its subsidiaries held options and Brent contracts.

The fair value of the contracts on December 31, 2016 totaled R$3,817. The table below shows information on the hedged exposure:
