Item 8.01 Other Events.

On July 7, 2017, Tilly's, Inc. (the "Company") reached an agreement in principle, subject to court approval and the execution of a final settlement agreement, to settle the putative class action lawsuit alleging violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991, captioned Lauren Minniti, on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated, v. Tilly's, Inc. (Case No. 0:17-cv-60237-FAM). The litigation is described in further detail in the Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended April 29, 2017.

In exchange for the resolution of all claims arising from the lawsuit, the Company has agreed to provide each member of the putative class with a 50% discount voucher, which may be used for a single purchase transaction with the Company, not to exceed $1,000 in total purchases, which shall remain redeemable for twelve months after receipt by such member. Each member may elect to reject this voucher as his or her remedy, and may alternatively elect to receive $25 in cash from the Company. The Company has agreed to send such vouchers to each of the 615,593 members of the putative class. In addition, the Company has agreed to pay the putative class members' legal fees and costs in connection with the litigation. The Company expects to record an estimated loss provision of approximately $6.2 million in connection with the proposed settlement in the second quarter ending July 29, 2017, which was not contemplated in the Company's original outlook range for the quarter.

The settlement of this lawsuit remains subject to the execution of a written settlement agreement executed by the parties and the approval of such settlement by the court. There can be no assurance that the settlement agreement will be executed or that the settlement will be finalized and approved. The actual outcome of this matter may differ materially from the terms of the settlement described herein.

The Company has denied and continues to deny each and all of the claims alleged in the litigation. Nothing in this report or any settlement agreement shall be deemed to assign or reflect any admission of fault, wrongdoing or liability as to the Company, or of the appropriateness of a class action in such litigation.
