Letter to Shareholders

September 15, 2009

Dear Shareholder:

Please find enclosed the semi-annual report for NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund and Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income Fund (collectively the Funds) for the fiscal six-month period ended July 31, 2009.

U.S. stocks rallied during the fiscal six-month reporting period as early signs of economic improvement contributed to shifting investor sentiments away from low yielding U.S. Treasury securities and in favor of corporate stocks and bonds. In this environment, the Russell 3000 Index, a broad measure of U.S. stock market performance, returned 22.59% for the six-month reporting period. Large-cap value stocks, as represented by the Russell 1000 Value Index, returned 18.73% and large-cap growth stocks, as measured by the Russell 1000 Growth Index, posted a 25.49% return.

The Federal Reserve (the Fed) engaged in quantitative easing during the fiscal six-month reporting period, purchasing significant amounts of securities from banks in order to add to the supply of cash available for lending.

For specific information on the Funds and their performance, please review the following pages. Fund Insights

For the fiscal six-month period ended July 31, 2009, the NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund (the Fund) returned 13.46% on a net-asset-value (NAV) basis and 0.06% on market price.

U.S. equities rose sharply during the fiscal six-month reporting period. Among large-cap value stocks, as represented by the Russell 1000 Value Index, all sectors posted positive returns. Recoveries in the financials and consumer discretionary sectors contributed most significantly to overall gains for the index.

In the energy sector, rising crude oil prices during the six-month period boosted the return of the equity holdings in exploration and production and oilfield services companies. Exploration company EnCana, contract driller Diamond Offshore Drilling and oilfield services firm Halliburton all posted gains relative to the large integrated oil companies that hold significant weightings in the Russell 1000 Value Index. Production oriented energy companies' stocks are typically more sensitive to changes in energy commodity prices than are those of larger, more vertically integrated companies.

In the equity portion of the portfolio, underweight positions in large money-center banks, including Bank of America and JP Morgan Chase detracted from returns versus the benchmark. Large banks' stocks rebounded during the six-month period on reports of improved earnings and forecasts for an economic recovery.

The convertible securities market produced a positive return during the fiscal six-month reporting period. Significant improvement in the prices of corporate bonds was the primary driver of convertible returns, given the low delta and high average premium of the market.

Historically, convertibles have had a high correlation to movements of the underlying equity. However, the past year, credit has been the greater driver of returns. Convertibles typically offer downside protection versus equities. In 2008, the convertible universe participated in most of the downside of the equity markets. Rapidly widening corporate bond spreads caused bond floors to decline. In the first half of 2009, the reverse was true. As capital markets opened up and access to capital improved, credit spreads tightened dramatically.

The Fund's convertible positions performed in line with the Merrill Lynch All Convertibles All Qualities Index (a measure of the performance of U.S. dollar denominated convertibles not currently in bankruptcy with a total market value greater than $50 million at issuance) during the reporting period.

The Fund's positions in the financial, industrial and technology industries contributed positively to performance during the reporting period. Financial companies benefited from capital raises and improved trading and investment banking revenue. Industrial companies were positive during the period as earnings and margins exceeded expectations, despite a weaker top line. Technology issuers moved higher as end markets stabilized and a potential inventory replenishment was expected to drive upside to second quarter estimates.

The Fund's positions in the health care and telecommunication industries detracted from performance. Health care issuers were down on the uncertainty of potential health care reform as well as a rotation into high beta industries. Telecommunication companies experienced similar sector rotation.

(1) Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Returns are calculated by determining the percentage change in net asset value or market share price (as applicable) in the period covered. The calculation assumes that all of the Fund's income dividends and capital gain distributions, if any, have been reinvested. Total return does not reflect broker commissions or sales charges. Total return for a period of less than one year is not annualized. Total return for a period of more than one year represents the average annual total return.

The Fund's performance at market price will differ from its results at NAV. Although market price returns typically reflect investment results over time, during shorter periods returns at market price can also be influenced by factors such as changing views about the Fund, market conditions, supply and demand for the Fund's shares, or changes in Fund distributions.

An investment in the Fund involves risk, including the loss of principal. Total return, market price, market price yield and net asset value will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. This data is provided for information only and is not intended for trading purposes. Closed-end funds, unlike open-end funds, are not continuously offered. There is a one-time public offering, and once issued, shares of closed-end funds are sold in the open market through a stock exchange. Net asset value is equal to total assets attributable to shareholders less total liabilities divided by the number of shares outstanding. Holdings are subject to change daily.

(2) Market Price Yield is determined by dividing the annualized current quarterly per share distribution payable to shareholders by the market price per share at July 31, 2009.

Fund Insights

For the fiscal six-month period ended July 31, 2009, Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income Fund (the "Fund") returned 25.98% on net asset value ("NAV") and 18.57% on market price.

Expectations of market volatility, as measured by the Chicago Board Options Exchange Volatility Index ("VIX"), were valued at 35.8. VIX values greater than 30 are generally associated with a large amount of expected volatility over the next 30 days as a result of investor fear or uncertainty, while values below 20 generally correspond to less stressful, even complacent, times in the markets. The VIX Index began the reporting period at the mid forties and then declined to the mid twenties during the fiscal six-month reporting period.

The convertible securities market produced a positive return during the fiscal six-month reporting period. Significant improvement in the prices of corporate bonds was the primary driver of convertible returns, given the low delta and high average premium of the market.

The oversold condition of the markets reversed during the fiscal six-month reporting period. The technical lift was the most prominent cause of the price improvement. The fundamental picture improved for both issuers and the economy.

The Fund's equity positions in the technology, energy and material sectors contributed positively to performance. The Fund's equity holdings in the health care sector detracted from performance.

The Fund's convertible positions in the financial, industrial and technology industries contributed positively to performance during the fiscal six-month reporting period. Financial companies benefited from capital raises and improved trading and investment banking revenue. Industrial companies were positive during the period as earnings and margins exceeded expectations, despite a weaker top line. Technology issuers moved higher as end markets stabilized.

The Fund's convertible positions in the health care and telecommunication industries detracted from performance. Health care issuers were down on the potential uncertainty of health care reform as well as a rotation into high beta industries. Telecommunication companies experienced similar sector rotation.

1. Organization and Significant Accounting Policies

NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund and Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income Fund, (collectively referred to as the Funds), were organized as Massachusetts business trusts on August 20, 2003 and December 12, 2006, respectively. Prior to commencing operations on February 28, 2005 and February 27, 2007, respectively, the Funds had no operations other than matters relating to their organization and registration as diversified, closed-end management investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and the rules and regulations there under, as amended. Allianz Global Investors Fund Management LLC (the Investment Manager) serves as the Funds' investment manager and is an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Allianz Global Investors of America L.P. (Allianz Global). Allianz Global is an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of Allianz SE, a publicly traded European insurance and financial services company. Each Fund has an unlimited amount of $0.00001 par value per share of common stock authorized.

NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy's primary investment objective is to seek current income and gains, with a secondary objective of long-term capital appreciation. Under normal market conditions the Fund pursues its investment objectives by investing in a diversified portfolio of dividend-paying common stocks and income-producing convertible securities. The Fund will also employ a strategy of writing (selling) call options on equity indexes in an attempt to generate gains from option premiums.

Nicholas Applegate Equity & Convertible Income's investment objective is to seek total return comprised of capital appreciation, current income and gains. Under normal market conditions the Fund pursues its objective by investing in a diversified portfolio of equity securities and income producing convertible securities. The Fund will also employ a strategy of writing (selling) call options on the equity securities held by the Fund.

The preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

In the normal course of business, the Funds enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations which provide general indemnifications. The Funds' maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Funds that have not yet occurred. However, the Funds expect the risk of any loss to be remote.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Funds:

(a) Valuation of Investments

Portfolio securities and other financial instruments for which market quotations are readily available are stated at market value. Market value is generally determined on the basis of last reported sales prices, or if no sales are reported, on the basis of quotes obtained from a quotation reporting system, established market makers, or independent pricing services.

Portfolio securities and other financial instruments for which market quotations are not readily available or for which a development/event occurs that may significantly impact the value of a security, are fair-valued, in good faith, pursuant to procedures established by the Board of Trustees or persons acting at their discretion pursuant to procedures established by the Board of Trustees. The Funds' investments, including over-the-counter options, are valued daily using prices supplied by an independent pricing service or dealer quotations, or by using the last sale price on the exchange that is the primary market for such securities, or the last quoted mean price for those securities for which the over-the-counter market is the primary market or for listed securities in which there were no sales. Independent pricing services use information provided by market makers or estimates of market values obtained from yield data relating to investments or securities with similar characteristics. Synthetic convertible securities are valued based on quotations obtained from unaffiliated brokers who are the principal market-makers in such securities. Such valuations are derived by the brokers from proprietary models which are generally based on readily available market information including valuations of the common stock underlying the synthetic security, and the volatility observed in the market on such common stocks. Exchange traded options are valued at the settlement price determined by the relevant exchange. Short-term securities maturing in 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost, if their original term to maturity was 60 days or less, or by amortizing their value on the 61st day prior to maturity, if the original term to maturity exceeded 60 days.

1. Organization and Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

The prices used by the Fund to value securities may differ from the value that would be realized if the securities were sold and these differences could be material to the financial statements. Each Fund's net asset value (NAV) is normally determined as of the close of regular trading (normally, 4:00 p.m. Eastern time) on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) on each day the NYSE is open for business.

(b) Fair Value Measurements

The Funds have adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 157, Fair Value Measurements (FAS 157). FAS 157 clarifies the definition of fair value for financial reporting, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and requires additional disclosure about the use of the fair value measurements. Under FAS 157, fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e. the exit price) in an orderly transaction between market participants. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under FAS 157 are described below:

Level 1 quoted prices in active markets for identical investments that the Funds have the ability to access.

Level 2 valuations based on other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar investments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.) or quotes from inactive exchanges.

Level 3 valuations based on significant unobservable inputs (including the Funds' own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments).

The Funds have adopted FASB Staff Position No. 157-4, Determining Fair Value When the Volume and Level of Activity for the Asset or Liability have Significantly Decreased and Identifying Transactions that are not Orderly (FAS 157-4). FAS 157-4 provides guidance on determining when there has been a significant decrease in the volume and level of activity for an asset or liability, when a transaction is not orderly, and how that information must be incorporated into a fair value measurement. FAS 157-4 emphasizes that even if there has been significant decrease in the volume and level of activity for an asset or liability and regardless of the valuation techniques used, the objective of a fair value measurement remains the same.

An investment asset's or liability's level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level input, individually or in the aggregate, that is significant to fair value measurement.

The valuation techniques used by the Funds to measure fair value during the six months ended July 31, 2009 maximized the use of observable inputs and minimized the use of unobservable inputs. The Funds utilized the fair value techniques of multi-dimensional relational pricing models.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Organization and Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

(c) Investment Transactions and Investment Income

Investment transactions are accounted for on the trade date. Realized gains and losses on investments are determined on an identified cost basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Discounts or premiums on debt securities purchased are accreted or amortized to interest income over the lives of the respective securities using the effective interest method. Conversion premium is not amortized. Payments received from certain investments may be comprised of dividends, realized gains and return of capital. These payments may initially be recorded as dividend income and may be subsequently reclassified as realized gains and/or return of capital upon receipt of information from the issuer. Payments received on synthetic convertible securities are generally included in dividends.

(d) Federal Income Taxes

The Funds intend to distribute all of their taxable income and to comply with the other requirements of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, applicable to regulated investment companies. Accordingly, no provision for U.S. federal income taxes is required.

The Funds have applied FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes an Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (the Interpretation). The Interpretation establishes for all entities, including pass-through entities such as the Funds, a minimum threshold for financial statement recognition of the benefit of positions taken in filing tax returns (including whether an entity is taxable in a particular jurisdiction), and requires certain expanded tax disclosures. Fund management has determined that its evaluation of the Interpretation has resulted in no material impact to the Funds' financial statements at July 31, 2009. NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy's federal tax returns for the prior three fiscal years and Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income's since inception (February 27, 2007) remain subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service.

(e) Dividends and Distributions

The Funds declare quarterly dividends and distributions from net investment income and gains from option premiums and the sale of portfolio securities. The Funds record dividends and distributions to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. The amount of dividends and distributions from net investment income and net realized capital gains are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles. These book-tax differences are considered either temporary or permanent in nature. To the extent these differences are permanent in nature, such amounts are reclassified within the capital accounts based on their federal income tax treatment. Temporary differences do not require reclassification. To the extent dividends and/or distributions exceed current and accumulated earnings and profits for federal income tax purposes, they are reported as dividends and/or distributions of paid-in capital in excess of par.

(f) Convertible Securities

It is the Funds' policy to invest a portion of their assets in convertible securities. Although convertible securities do derive part of their value from that of the securities into which they are convertible, they are not considered derivative financial instruments. However, certain of the Funds' investments in convertible securities include features which render them more sensitive to price changes in their underlying securities. The value of structured/synthetic convertible securities can be affected by interest rate changes and credit risks of the issuer. Such securities may be structured in ways that limit their potential for capital appreciation and the entire value of the security may be at risk of loss depending on the performance of the underlying equity security. Consequently, the Funds are exposed to greater downside risk than traditional convertible securities, but still less than that of the underlying common stock.

2. Principal Risk

In the normal course of business the Funds trade financial instruments and enter into financial transactions where risk of potential loss exists due to among other things, changes in the market (market risk) or failure of the other party to a transaction to perform (credit/counterparty risk). The main risks from derivative instruments are interest rate, market price and credit/counterparty risks. Interest rate risk is the risk that fixed income securities will decline in value because of changes in interest rates. As normal interest rates rise, the value of certain fixed income securities held by the Funds are likely to decrease. A nominal interest rate can be described as the sum of a real interest rate and an expected inflation rate. Fixed income securities with longer durations tend to be more sensitive to changes in interest rates, usually making them more volatile than securities with shorter durations. Duration is used primarily as a measure of the sensitivity of a fixed income security's market price to interest rate (i.e. yield) movements.

NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund
Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income Fund

July 31, 2009 (unaudited)

2. Principal Risk (continued)

The market values of equity securities, such as common stock and preferred stock or equity-related investments such as futures and options, may decline due to general market conditions, which are not specifically related to a particular company, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. They may also decline due to factors which affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry. Equity securities and equity-related investments generally have greater market price volatility than fixed income securities.

The Funds will be exposed to credit risk on parties with whom it trades and will also bear the risk of settlement default. The Funds seek to minimize concentrations of credit risk by undertaking transactions with a large number of customers and counterparties on reorganized and reputable exchanges. The Funds could lose money if the issuer or guarantor of a fixed income security, or the counterparty to a derivatives contract, repurchase agreement or a loan of portfolio securities, is unable or unwilling to make timely principal and/or interest payments, or to otherwise honor its obligations. Securities are subject to varying degrees of credit risk, which are often reflected in credit ratings.

Similar to credit risk, the Funds may be exposed to counterparty risk, or the risk that the issuers or counterparties to the agreements with which the Funds have unsettled or open transactions will default. The potential loss to the Funds could exceed the value of the financial assets recorded in the Fund's financial statements. Financial assets, which potentially expose the Funds to credit risk, consist principally of cash due from counterparties and investments.

NFJ Investment Group LLC (NFJ), Oppenheimer Capital LLC (OCC) and Nicholas-Applegate Capital Management (NACM), as the investment sub-advisers seek to minimize credit risks to each applicable Fund by performing reviews of each counterparty. All transactions in listed securities are settled/paid for upon delivery. Delivery of securities sold is only made once the Fund has received payment. Payment is made on the purchase once the securities have been delivered by the counterparty. The trade will fail if either party fails to meet its obligation.

During the six-months ended July 31, 2009, the Funds held synthetic convertible securities with Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. as the counterparty. On September 15, 2008, Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code. The value of the relevant securities has been written down to their estimated recoverable values.

3. Financial Derivatives Instruments

FASB Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 161, Disclosures about Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, (FAS 161), which requires qualitative disclosures about objectives and strategies for using derivatives, quantitative disclosures about fair value amounts of gains and losses on derivative instruments, and disclosures about credit-risk-related contingent features in derivative agreements. The disclosure requirements of FAS 161 distinguish between derivatives which are accounted for as hedges and those that do not qualify for such accounting. Although the Funds may sometimes use derivative instruments for hedging purposes, the Funds reflect derivatives at fair value and recognize changes in fair value through the Fund's Statement of Operations and such derivatives do not qualify for FAS 161 hedge accounting treatment. The derivative instruments outstanding as of July 31, 2009 as disclosed in the Notes to Financial Statements and the amounts of realized gain (loss) and changes in appreciation /depreciation on derivative instruments during the period as disclosed in the Statement of Operations serve as indicators of the volume of derivative activity for the Funds.

Call Option Transactions

The Funds employ a strategy of writing (selling) call options on equity securities and/or equity indexes in an attempt to generate gains from option premiums. When an option is written, the premium received is recorded as an asset with an equal liability, which is subsequently adjusted to the current market value of the option. Premiums received from writing options, which expire unexercised, are recorded on the expiration date as a realized gain. The difference between the premium received and the amount paid on effecting a closing purchase transaction, including brokerage commissions, is also treated as a realized gain, or if the premium is less than the amount paid for the closing purchase transactions, as a realized loss. If a call option is exercised, the premium is added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying security or index option in determining whether there has been a realized gain or loss.

3. Financial Derivatives Instruments (continued)

The Funds, as writers of call options, may have no control over whether the underlying securities or index option may be sold (called). As a result, the Funds bear the market risk of an unfavorable change in the price of the security or index underlying the written call option.

The use of derivative transactions may involve elements of both market and credit risk in excess of the amounts reflected on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities of the Funds.

7. Legal Proceeding (continued)

In June and September 2004, the Investment Manager and certain of its affiliates (including PEA Capital LLC (PEA), the distributor and Allianz Global Investors of America, L.P., agreed to settle, without admitting or denying the allegations, claims brought by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the New Jersey Attorney General alleging violations of federal and state securities laws with respect to certain open-end funds for which the Investment Manager serves as investment adviser. The settlements related to an alleged market timing arrangement in certain open-end funds formerly sub-advised by PEA. The Investment Manager and its affiliates agreed to pay a total of $68 million to settle the claims. In addition to monetary payments, the settling parties agreed to undertake certain corporate governance, compliance and disclosure reforms related to market timing and consented to cease and desist orders and censures. Subsequent to these events, PEA deregistered as an investment adviser and dissolved. None of the settlements allege that any inappropriate activity took place with respect to the Funds.

Since February 2004, the Investment Manager, the Sub-Advisors and certain of their affiliates and their employees have been named as defendants in a number of pending lawsuits concerning market timing which allege the same or similar conduct underlying the regulatory settlements discussed above. The market timing lawsuits have been consolidated in a multi-district litigation proceeding in the U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland. Any potential resolution of these matters may include, but not be limited to judgments or settlements for damages against the Investment Manager, the Sub-Adviser, or its affiliates or related injunctions.

The Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisors believe that these matters are not likely to have a material adverse effect on the Funds or on their ability to perform their respective investment advisory activities relating to the Funds.

The foregoing speaks only as of the date hereof.

8. Subsequent Events

The Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, requires that both the full Board of Trustees (the Trustees) and a majority of the non-interested Trustees (the Independent Trustees), voting separately, approve the Funds' Management Agreements (the Advisory Agreements) with the Investment Manager and Portfolio Management Agreements (the Sub-Advisory Agreements), and together with the Advisory Agreements, the Agreements) between the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers. The Trustees met in person on June 16-17, 2009 (the contract review meeting) for the specific purpose of considering whether to approve the continuation of the Advisory Agreements and the Sub-Advisory Agreements. The Independent Trustees were assisted in their evaluation of the Agreements by independent legal counsel, from whom they received separate legal advice and with whom they met separately from Fund management during the contract review meeting.

Based on their evaluation of factors that they deemed to be material, including those factors described below, the Board of Trustees, including a majority of the Independent Trustees, concluded that the continuation of the Funds' Advisory Agreements and the Sub-Advisory Agreements, as amended, should be approved for a one-year period commencing July 1, 2009.

In connection with their deliberations regarding the continuation of the Agreements, the Trustees, including the Independent Trustees, considered such information and factors as they believed, in light of the legal advice furnished to them and their own business judgment, to be relevant. As described below, the Trustees considered the nature, quality, and extent of the various investment management, administrative and other services performed by the Investment Manager or the Sub-Advisers under the applicable Agreement.

In connection with their contract review meeting, the Trustees received and relied upon materials provided by the Investment Manager which included, among other items: (i) information provided by Lipper Inc. (Lipper) on the total return investment performance (based on net assets) of the Funds for various time periods, the investment performance of a group of funds with substantially similar investment classifications/objectives as the Funds identified by Lipper and the performance of applicable benchmark indices, (ii) information provided by Lipper on the Funds' management fees and other expenses and the management fees and other expenses of comparable funds identified by Lipper, (iii) information regarding the investment performance and management fees of comparable portfolios of other clients of the Sub-Advisers, including institutional separate accounts, (iv) the profitability to the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers from their relationships with the Funds for the one year period ended March 31, 2009, (v) descriptions of various functions performed by the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers for the Funds, such as portfolio management, compliance monitoring and portfolio trading practices, and (vi) information regarding the overall organization of the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers, including information regarding senior management, portfolio managers and other personnel providing investment management, administrative and other services to the Funds.

The Trustees' conclusions as to the continuation of the Agreements were based on a comprehensive consideration of all information provided to the Trustees and were not the result of any single factor. Some of the factors that figured particularly in the Trustees' deliberations are described below, although individual Trustees may have evaluated the information presented differently from one another, attributing different weights to various factors.

As part of their review, the Trustees examined each of the Investment Manager's and the Sub-Advisers' abilities to provide high quality investment management and other services to the Funds. The Trustees considered the investment philosophy and research and decision-making processes of the Sub-Advisers; the experience of key advisory personnel of the Sub-Advisers responsible for portfolio management of the Funds; the ability of the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers to attract and retain capable personnel; the capability and integrity of the senior management and staff of the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers; and the level of skill required to manage the Funds. In addition, the Trustees reviewed the quality of the Investment Manager's and the Sub-Advisers' services with respect to regulatory compliance and compliance with the investment policies of the Funds; the nature and quality of certain administrative services the Investment Manager is responsible for providing to the Funds; and conditions that might affect the Investment Manager's or the Sub-Advisers' ability to provide high quality services to the Funds in the future under the Agreements, including each organization's respective business reputation, financial condition and operational stability. Based on the foregoing, the Trustees concluded that the Sub-Advisers' investment process, research capabilities and philosophy were well suited to each of the Funds given their respective investment objectives and policies, and that the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers would be able to continue to meet any reasonably foreseeable obligations under the Agreements.

Based on information provided by Lipper, the Trustees also reviewed each Fund's total return investment performance as well as the performance of comparable funds identified by Lipper. In the course of their deliberations, the Trustees took into account information provided by the Investment Manager in connection with the contract review meeting, as well as during investment review meetings conducted with portfolio management personnel during the course of the year regarding each Fund's performance.

In assessing the reasonableness of each Fund's fees under the Agreements, the Trustees considered, among other information, each Fund's management fee and the total expense ratio as a percentage of average net assets attributable to common shares and the management fee and total expense ratios of comparable funds identified by Lipper.

For each of the Funds, the Trustees specifically took note of how each Fund compared to its Lipper peers as to performance, management fee expenses and total expenses. The Trustees noted that the Investment Manager had provided a memorandum containing comparative information on the performance and expenses information of the Funds compared to their Lipper peer categories. The Trustees noted that while the Funds are not charged a separate administration fee, it was not clear whether the peer funds in the Lipper categories were charged such a fee by their investment managers.

NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy

The Trustees noted that NFJ ranked in the top quintile for actual management fees and total expenses as compared to a group of six peer funds. For the 1-year performance ranking, the Fund ranked 26 out of 32 and for the 3-year period ranked 18 out of 22, representing the bottom quintile for both periods. NFJ is ranked in the third quintile for the 3-months ended May 31, 2009 and has fourth quintile performance for the 3-year period as of that date.

Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income

The Trustees noted that the expense group for NIE consists of only three funds. The Trustees also noted that the actual management fees were above the median and total actual expenses were at the median. The Trustees also noted that NIE was last out of 4 funds for the 1-year performance. NIE moved into the third quintile for performance during the 3-months period ended May 31, 2009.

After reviewing these and related factors, the Trustees concluded, within the context of their overall conclusions regarding the Agreements, that they were satisfied with the Investment Manager's and the Sub-Advisers' responses and efforts to continue to improve the Funds' investment performance. The Trustees agreed to reassess the services provided by the Investment Manager and Sub-Advisers under the Agreements in light of the Fund's ongoing performance at each quarterly Board meeting.

The Trustees also considered the management fees charged by Sub-Advisers to other clients, including institutional separate accounts with investment strategies similar to those of the Funds. Regarding the institutional separate accounts, they noted that the management fees paid by the Funds are generally higher than the fees paid by these clients of the Sub-Advisers, but the Trustees were advised by the Sub-Advisers that the administrative burden for the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers with respect to the Funds are also relatively higher, due in part to the more extensive regulatory regime to which the Funds are subject in comparison to institutional separate accounts. The Trustees noted that the management fees paid by the Funds are generally higher than the fees paid by the open-end funds offered for comparison but were advised that there are additional portfolio management challenges in managing the Funds, such as meeting a regular dividend.

Based on a profitability analysis provided by the Investment Manager, the Trustees also considered the profitability of the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers from their relationship with each Fund and determined that such profitability was not excessive.

Edgar Filing: Nicholas-Applegate Equity & Convertible Income Fund - Form N-CSRS

The Trustees also took into account that, as closed-end investment companies, the Funds do not currently intend to raise additional assets, so the assets of the Funds will grow (if at all) only through the investment performance of each Fund. Therefore, the Trustees did not consider potential economies of scale as a principal factor in assessing the fee rates payable under the Agreements.

Additionally, the Trustees considered so-called "fall-out benefits" to the Investment Manager and the Sub-Advisers, such as reputational value derived from serving as Investment Manager and Sub-Advisers to the Funds.

After reviewing these and other factors described herein, the Trustees concluded with respect to each Fund, within the context of their overall conclusions regarding the Agreements, that the fees payable under the Agreements represent reasonable compensation in light of the nature and quality of the services being provided by the Investment Manager and Sub-Advisers to the Funds.
