Risk Factor

The following reflects changes to a risk factor previously disclosed in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006:

If the IRS were to disagree with our characterization of certain arrangements entered into by the Company as reimbursements or the timing of certain assignments of contracts by the Company, the Company could be subject to a penalty tax or fail to remain qualified as a REIT.

The Company believes that it has operated and intends to continue to operate so as to qualify as a REIT under the Code. Although the Company believes that it is organized and has operated in a manner so as to qualify as a REIT, qualification as a REIT involves the satisfaction of numerous requirements, some of which must be met on a recurring basis. These requirements are established under highly technical and complex Code provisions of which there are only limited judicial or administrative interpretations and involve the determination of various factual matters and circumstances not entirely within the Company's control.

The Company (through one of its subsidiary partnerships) entered into certain development agreements in 2000 through 2003, the performance of which has been completed. Under these agreements, the Company provided services to unrelated third parties and certain payments were made by the unrelated third parties for services provided by certain contractors hired by the Company. The Company believes that these payments were properly characterized by it as reimbursements for costs incurred by it on behalf of the third parties and do not constitute gross income and did not prevent the Company from satisfying the gross income requirements of the REIT provisions (the "gross income tests"). The Company brought this matter to the attention of the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"). The IRS did not challenge or express any interest in challenging the Company's view on this matter.

Employees of the First Industrial, L.P., a subsidiary partnership of the Company (the "Service Employees"), were providing certain acquisition and disposition services since 2004 and certain leasing and property management services since 1997 to one of the Company's taxable REIT subsidiaries (the "TRS"), and have also been providing certain of these services (or similar services) to joint ventures in which First Industrial, L.P. owns a minority interest or to unrelated parties. In determining whether it satisfied the gross income tests for certain years, the Company has taken and intends to take the position that the costs of the Service Employees should be shared between the Operating Partnership and the TRS and that no fee income should be imputed to the Company as a result of such arrangement. However, because certain of these services (or similar services) have also been performed for the joint ventures or unrelated parties described above, there can be no assurance that the IRS will not successfully challenge this position. First Industrial, L.P. believes that it has taken appropriate steps to address this issue going forward, but there can be no assurance that such steps will adequately resolve this issue.

During 2006, the Company determined that the Operating Partnership's fee income to be derived in 2006 and subsequent years from joint ventures with third parties ("joint venture fee income") might materially exceed joint venture fee income in prior years. If steps were not taken, this increased fee income might have caused the Company to violate the gross income tests in 2006 and subsequent years. The Company decided to address this issue by transferring employees providing the services, and assigning the service contracts giving rise to the fee income, from the Operating Partnership to the TRS. The Company believes that these transfers were completed early enough in 2006 to have avoided this potential gross income issue for 2006. The employees were transferred promptly to the TRS. However, the documentation for the assignment of the service contracts was completed later because changes were required to the transaction documentation for each of the joint ventures involved and, in some cases, consent of the respective joint venture partner was needed. It is therefore possible that the IRS could raise an issue as to when the service activity generating the joint venture fee income shifted to the TRS for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In light of this possibility, the Company presently intends to seek clarification from the IRS in the form of a private letter ruling or closing agreement. The Company intends to ask the IRS to confirm that (i) the transfers were made early enough in 2006 to have avoided any potential violation of the gross income tests or alternatively, that (ii) if the transfers occurred later in 2006 than the Company intended, the gross income tests were satisfied in any event.

If the IRS were to challenge either of the positions described in the second and third paragraphs and were successful, or the IRS were unwilling to provide the clarification described in the fourth paragraph, the Company could be found not to have satisfied the gross income tests in one or more of its taxable years. If the Company were found not to have satisfied the gross income tests, it could be subject to a penalty tax as a result of any such violations, but the Company does not believe that any such penalty tax would be material. However, such noncompliance should not adversely affect the Company's qualification as a REIT as long as such noncompliance was due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect and certain other requirements were met. The Company believes that, in all three situations, any such noncompliance was due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect and that such other requirements will have been met.

If the Company were to fail to qualify as a REIT in any taxable year, it would be subject to federal income tax, including any applicable alternative minimum tax, on its taxable income at corporate rates. This could result in a discontinuation or substantial reduction in dividends to stockholders and in cash to pay interest and principal on debt securities that the Company issues. Unless entitled to relief under certain statutory provisions, the Company would be disqualified from electing treatment as a REIT for the four taxable years following the year during which it failed to qualify as a REIT.

Metropolitan Area	# of Properties	Square Feet (Unaudited)	Date Acquired
Los Angeles, CA	1	150,000	January 12, 2006

The Historical Summary has been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting. The Historical Summary has been prepared for the purpose of complying with the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and for inclusion in this current report on Form 8-K of the Company and future registration statements filed by the Company. The Historical Summary is not intended to be a complete presentation of the revenues and expenses of the 2006 Acquisition I Property. The Historical Summary excludes certain expenses such as interest, depreciation and amortization, professional fees, and other costs not directly related to the future operations of the 2006 Acquisition I Property that may not be comparable to the expenses expected to be incurred in future operations. Management is not aware of any material factors relating to this property which would cause the reported financial information not to be necessarily indicative of future operating results.

Use of Estimates

In order to conform with generally accepted accounting principles, management, in preparation of the Historical Summary, is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues and certain expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies.

Revenue and Expense Recognition

Rental income is recorded when due from tenants based upon lease terms. The effects of scheduled rent increases and rental concessions, if any, are recognized on a straight-line basis over the term of the tenant's lease. Tenant recovery income includes payments from tenants for real estate taxes and other property operating expenses, if applicable, and is recognized as revenue in the same period the related expenses are incurred by the Property.

Direct operating expenses represent the direct expenses of operating the 2006 Acquisition I Property and include real estate taxes that are expected to continue in the ongoing operation of the 2006 Acquisition I Property. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs, utilities, and insurance are paid directly by the tenant.
