EXCELSIOR INCOME SHARES INC

Form N-30D

August 14, 2001

DEAR FELLOW SHAREHOLDERS:

The economic expansion we have experienced over the past decade lost considerable momentum during the first half of 2001, and there is now a real risk of a recession in the coming months. Recent corporate results have been very disappointing, and analysts have repeatedly lowered earnings expectations for the balance of the year. In response to these developments, the Federal Reserve has reduced interest rates six times so far this year, and more cuts are anticipated.

We are pleased to report that against this unsettling investment backdrop, EIS Fund has produced an excellent total return over the past six months of more than 11 percent, based on appreciation and reinvestment of dividends. These results are directly due to the Fund's longstanding policy of maintaining only high quality corporate and government bonds combined with low portfolio turnover and moderate investment management expenses.

As you know, EIS Fund has historically sold at a market price that is lower than its Net Asset Value. This "discount" has generally been within industry norms for closed-end funds. Furthermore, since most of our shareholders benefited from this discount when they purchased their shares, we consider it at worst a moot point and arguably a modest benefit to long-term investors. Nevertheless, certain shareholders have suggested that the Fund should endeavor to reduce the prevailing discount by increasing our dividend to an artificially high level, far in excess of the portfolio's income. These dissident shareholders have also suggested large buy-backs of EIS stock in order to temporarily inflate the market price. This same minority faction recently solicited shareholders to remove the present Board of Directors, but received only a small percentage of votes in support of the proposal. In addition, another shareholder refused to vote a large block of stock, which significantly impeded the Fund's ability to achieve a quorum at its regular Annual Meeting. As a result, the Fund must now incur the unnecessary expense of holding a new Annual Meeting and election this September.

The Board believes that the only cost-effective way of eliminating the discount is to liquidate the Fund in its entirety. Accordingly, you will soon have an opportunity to vote on a plan of liquidation, which the Board of Directors has put on the proxy as a means of allowing shareholders to determine the future of the Fund. As I mentioned earlier, the Board of Directors considers this discount to be a non-issue, but will of course implement the liquidation plan forthwith, if the requisite two-thirds of shares vote in favor of it.

If shareholders vote to continue EIS Fund and maintain the current Directors, we will make sure that your Fund is managed with the same conservative investment principles that have guided the Fund over the past quarter of a century. We urge all shareholders to vote in this important matter.

Finally, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Townsend Brown, II, who retired from his post of Chairman and President of the Fund last April, after nine years of service. We are grateful for his dedication and keen insight, and we hope that he remains on the Board of Directors for many years to come.

Thank you for your confidence and support.

Sincerely,

Perry W. Skjelbred

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
June 30, 2001

(1) SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

EIS Fund (the "Company") was incorporated on March 16, 1973 and commenced operations on May 15, 1973. The Company is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified, closed-end management investment company. The significant accounting policies of the Company, which are in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, are as follows:

a) Investments--Security transactions are recorded as of the trade date. Investments owned at June 30, 2001, are reflected in the accompanying financial statements at value. Valuations of the Company's investments are supplied by a pricing service approved by the Board of Directors or by dealers who regularly trade in the security being valued. Short-term holdings are carried at cost plus accrued interest, which approximates value.

The difference between cost and value is reflected separately as unrealized appreciation (depreciation) of investments.

The cost basis of bonds is not adjusted for amortization of premiums or accretion of discounts, except for original issue discount which is accreted.

Realized gains and losses on security transactions are determined on the basis of identified cost.

b) Federal Income Taxes--No provision for Federal income taxes has been made in the accompanying financial statements since the Company intends to comply with the provisions of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code and to distribute to its shareholders substantially all of its net investment income and net realized capital gains, if any. For Federal income tax purposes the Company has capital loss carryforwards of $102,779 expiring in varying amounts through December 31, 2008, available to offset future capital gains, if any.

c) Investment Income Recognition--The Company records interest and expenses on the accrual basis.

d) Dividend Distributions--The Company records dividend distributions to shareholders as of the ex-dividend date. The character of distributions made during the year from net investment income or net realized gains may differ from their ultimate characterization for federal income tax purposes due to differences in the recognition of income and expense items for financial statement and federal income tax purposes.

Edgar Filing: EXCELSIOR INCOME SHARES INC - Form N-30D

e) The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

(2) DISTRIBUTIONS:

Realized gains from security transactions to the extent they exceed accumulated net realized losses are distributed to shareholders in the succeeding year.

issues such as litigation.

EIS Fund Audit Committee Charter
