Tainan, Taiwan, February 23, 2009 - In response to the news reported by Taiwan's Apple Daily on February 23, 2009 that SVA-NEC, one of Himax's customers, has delayed certain payments in relation to Himax's prior display driver IC shipments, Himax would like to state the following:

Himax has always adopted a prudent and consistent approach in managing account receivables. In relation to the said delayed payments, SVA-NEC has undertaken to fully resolve the issue promptly and has commenced partial payments to Himax.

Himax will seek full recovery of the aforementioned account receivables.

Forward-Looking Statements:

Certain statements in this disclosure are forward-looking statements that involve a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual events or results to differ materially from those described. Factors that could cause actual results to differ include general business and economic conditions and the state of the semiconductor industry; collection of account receivables; level of competition; demand for end-use applications products; reliance on a small group of principal customers; continued success in technological innovations; development of alternative flat panel display technologies; ability to develop and protect our intellectual property; pricing pressures including declines in average selling prices; changes in customer order patterns; shortages in supply of key components; changes in environmental laws and regulations; exchange rate fluctuations; regulatory approvals for further investments in our subsidiaries; and other risks described from time to time in the Company's SEC filings, including its Form 20-F dated June 22, 2007, as amended. We undertake no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise.
