Questions & Answers about Board Actions 11.16.16

What actions did the Nuveen Fund Board approve?

The Board of Trustees of Nuveen Flexible Investment Income Fund (JPW) and Nuveen Preferred Income Opportunities Fund (JPC) recently approved the consolidation of the Funds. The table below provides further information on JPW and JPC:

Acquired Fund	Symbol	Acquiring Fund	Symbol
Nuveen Flexible Investment Income Fund	JPW	Nuveen Preferred Income Opportunities Fund	JPC

Why has the Funds Board of Trustees recommended the merger?

The Funds have similar investment portfolios, investment objectives, and policies. The proposed merger is intended to reduce common shareholder fees and expenses, increase common net earnings, and generate other potential benefits as described below. In its approval, the Fund Board concluded that the proposed merger would be in the best interests of each fund and its shareholders.

What are the potential benefits to me as a Fund common shareholder?

The goals of the proposed merger include offering several potential benefits to Fund shareholders. For JPC common shareholders, these include:

Modestly higher common net earnings

Lower management fees and administrative expenses (excluding the costs of leverage) as certain fixed costs are spread over a larger asset base

For JPW common shareholders, the potential benefits include:

Higher common net earnings

Lower management fees and administrative expenses (excluding the costs of leverage) as certain fixed costs are spread over a larger asset base

Improved secondary market trading prices relative to net asset value

Will my fund's dividend change?

Whereas JPW has a cash flow distribution policy, JPC has an income-only distribution policy. The combined fund will retain JPC's income-only distribution policy, in which distributions are sourced entirely from net investment income. It is anticipated that share distribution amounts immediately following the merger will be at least equal to pre-merger levels for each fund on a common share equivalent basis.

Will there be any taxable consequences from the proposed merger?

No. The merger is intended to qualify as a tax-free reorganization for federal income tax purposes.

What actions do I need to take at this time?

You do not need to do anything at this time. More information on the proposed actions will be contained in the proxy materials expected to be filed in the coming weeks.

Investing in closed-end funds involves risk; principal loss is possible. There is no guarantee a Fund's investment objectives will be achieved. Closed-end fund shares may frequently trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value. Preferred securities are subordinated to bonds and other debt instruments in a company's capital structure, and therefore are subject to greater credit risk. Debt or fixed income securities such as those held by the Funds, are subject to market risk, credit risk, interest rate risk, derivatives risk, liquidity risk, and income risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall. Lower credit debt securities may be more likely to fail to make timely interest or principal payments. Leverage increases return volatility and magnifies a Fund's potential return and its risks; there is no guarantee a Fund's leverage strategy will be successful. Certain types of preferred or debt securities with special loss absorption provisions, such as contingent capital securities (CoCos), may be or become so subordinated that they present risks equivalent to, or in some cases even greater than, the same company's common stock. These and other risk considerations such as concentration and foreign securities risk are described in more detail on each Fund's web page at www.nuveen.com/cef.
