WPS Resources and Peoples Energy Announce Organizational Structure and Senior Leadership for Proposed Combined Company

New Organizational Structure Is Designed to Promote Customer Service, Efficiency and Growth, and Combines Best Features of Both Companies

Green Bay, WI, and Chicago, October 9, 2006 -- WPS Resources Corporation (NYSE: WPS) and Peoples Energy Corporation (NYSE: PGL) today announced the organizational structure for the proposed combined company and the managers who will fill top positions. The companies announced the signing of a definitive merger agreement on July 10, 2006, and expect the transaction to close in the first calendar quarter of 2007, subject to necessary regulatory and shareholder approvals.

“Joining WPS Resources and Peoples Energy presents an opportunity to create a structure that is best-positioned to serve customers, facilitate the full integration of the two companies and their cultures, operate more efficiently and effectively, and promote our long-term growth strategy,” said Larry L. Weyers, 61, chairman, president, and CEO of WPS Resources and president and CEO of the new company.

“The structure we developed marks an important milestone in preparing to combine the two organizations. It paves the way to create a stronger and more competitive Midwest-based diversified energy company and also indicates that our integration program is proceeding as planned. Drawing from the talents of both companies, we have identified leaders for the senior level positions of the new company and created a process for naming the personnel below them,” Weyers added.

Organizational Design

The organizational structure for the new company is built around three distinct entities: the holding company, the operating companies, and a services group that will provide support services to the holding company and operating companies.

The Holding Company will oversee the entire organization, take the new name, and be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Operating Companies, which will compose four operational groups and will deliver services to WPS Resources’ and Peoples Energy’s customers. The operational groups are:

- Peoples Energy Production, which will acquire onshore reserves, primarily natural gas, with upside potential in a limited number of strategic basins.

--MORE--

- The NewCo Gas Group, including Peoples Gas, North Shore Gas, Minnesota Energy Resources Corp., and Michigan Gas Utilities Corporation. Other functions within this subsidiary include gas services and customer relations.
- Wisconsin Public Service Corporation (WPSC), including Upper Peninsula Power Company (UPPCO) and the following functional areas: energy supply generation, energy delivery, fuels management, generation planning, energy supply and control, transmission and major projects.
- The NewCo Non-Regulated Group, including WPS Energy Services, Inc., Peoples Energy Services Corp., and Peoples Energy Resources Corp.

Finally, the new services group comprises the services company, ServCo LLC, which will provide central support services such as human resources, finance, and legal to the subsidiaries and to the holding company; and the external affairs group, which will oversee regulatory, government relations and community affairs, and corporate communications.

Leaders Named to Manage Combined Company

Weyers also identified many of the combined company's senior leaders, who will manage the new company after the transaction closes. He noted that the process of identifying the new company's leaders is ongoing, and many appointments remain to be made in the months ahead.

The managers named as part of today's announcement include:

Holding Company:

Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer: Joe O'Leary, 51
Corporate Secretary and Chief Governance Office: Peter Kauffman, 60

--MORE--

Patrick, 60, chairman, president and CEO of Peoples Energy, earlier this year announced his intention to retire once the transaction is completed.

About Peoples Energy

Peoples Energy, (NYSE: PGL) a member of the S&P 500, is a diversified energy company consisting of three primary business segments: Gas Distribution, Oil and Gas Production, and Energy Assets & Energy Marketing. Subject: Presenting the NewCo Organizational Structure

On behalf of the Transition Committee, I am pleased to announce the organizational structure for the proposed new company that will be created, pending necessary approvals, when the WPS/Peoples Energy merger is completed; and also to explain the principles that the Committee followed in designing the new organization.

At the outset, I recognize that everyone wants to know where their function and position fits into the new company. Because the organizational design process will take several months to complete, we don't have all the positions identified, but we have identified leaders who will hold many of them.

For that reason, and consistent with my commitment to provide information to you on a timely basis, we are unveiling NewCo's structure and many of the key positions to address your questions and concerns.

We welcome your questions and I will update you periodically as we continue this important staffing process in the months ahead.

Completely New Structure

It's important for everyone to understand that NewCo's organizational structure will be completely different from that of either WPS Resources or Peoples Energy.

Our goal has been to create a new entity, one that creates a new, efficient and effective organization that best meets the needs of all our customers, both regulated and non-regulated, in all of our locations.

In addition, we wanted the new structure to promote full integration of the two companies and their cultures. Our staffing plan draws from the leadership talents of both companies.

This means that the various functions of the new organization may fall under a new area, have new names or new service descriptions. In addition, you may find that current leaders will take on a new role in a different part of the organization or that a new leader has been selected to run an existing part of the new organization.

Don't Forget the Big Picture

We realize that it may be confusing and disconcerting as you try to figure out where you fit into the overall organization. But remember: This is a process that is affecting all of us. When completed, NewCo - with its broadened range of services and geographic reach - will create many new opportunities, some of which you may be asked to help us define.

I can tell you without hesitation that we will be looking throughout both organizations for the right people who are best qualified to fill those positions so we can continue to serve the needs of all our stakeholders: employees, customers, and shareholders.

How NewCo's Organizational Structure Was Developed

To recommend the best way to integrate the operations of WPS and Peoples Energy into a single, successful organization, the Transition Committee's Organizational Design (OD) Team looked at both companies' current structures and researched how other companies are set up.

The final decision was to build the NewCo organizational structure around three distinct entities, each of which has a particular focus:

- 1. The holding company will oversee and manage the entire organization. It is the holding company that will interact with the board, take the new name and be the public company listed on the New York Stock Exchange.
- 2. The operating companies deliver services to our customers and compose four operational groups that are described in further detail below.
- 3. The services group, which is divided into two main areas - the services company (ServCo LLC), and the external affairs group.

Although it seems complex at first glance, the OD team selected this structure because it met specific criteria. The new organizational model:

- Facilitates greater synergy among all parts of the organization by combining similar services;
 - Increases the speed, and ease of implementation, while decreasing the costs;
- Makes it easier to provide cost allocation information to regulators and government officials;
- Clarifies organizational roles and accountabilities and establishes clear P&L accountability;

- Promotes efficient and effective organizational performance because, in most cases, operational services will be closer to their operating units, and nearly all similar services will be combined;
 - Aligns with the overall corporate strategy of growth through acquisition; and,
- Promotes customer focus and operational excellence by elevating the customer relations function in the gas business, and keeping the operational support functions close to the responsible executives.

In More Detail: NewCo's Organizational Structure

To help you better understand the specific functions that fall within each part of the new company, here is an overview of each area:

Holding Company

The new Holding Company will manage the overall financial operations of the company, human resources, corporate governance, and corporate development and strategic planning.

We are in the process of finalizing a name for the Holding Company, which we will announce soon. We are also developing a branding platform, including logo and graphics for the holding company, which we will share as it is developed.

Note: The new name will apply only to the holding company. The utility companies will retain their current names and brand identity, and the new non-regulated company will take a name that is complementary to the holding company name (See Operating Companies section below).

The Operating Companies

There will be four operational groups reporting to the Holding Company:

- 1. Peoples Energy Production: concentrates on acquiring proven, onshore reserves - primarily natural gas - with upside potential in a limited number of strategic basins.
- 2. NewCo Gas Group: including Peoples Gas, North Shore Gas, Minnesota Energy Resources Corp, and Michigan Gas Utilities Corp. Other functions within this subsidiary include Gas Services and Customer Relations;
- 3. Wisconsin Public Service Corporation including Upper Peninsula Power Co. and the following functional areas -- Energy Supply Generation, Energy Delivery, Fuels Management, Generation Planning, Energy Supply & Control, Transmission, and Major Projects. WPSC will remain an integrated electric and natural-gas provider because there are more synergies to be gained this way than if it were separated.

4. NewCo Non-Regulated Group: including WPS Energy Services, Inc. (ESI), Peoples Energy Services Corp (PES), and Peoples Energy Resources Corp. (PER).

As I mentioned above, each regulated subsidiary and Peoples Energy Production will retain its current name and brand identity. We made this decision because we want to make it very clear to our customers that they will continue to receive the services from the people they know and trust.

The Services Group

This group provides the infrastructure and central support services to the entire organization, including the operating company and the four operational groups.

The Service Company (ServCo LLC) includes risk management, finance and accounting, human resources, legal, IT, as well as supply chain, environmental and administrative services; and the External Affairs Group includes regulatory affairs, government relations and community affairs, and corporate communications.

Introducing NewCo Leadership

As defined by the OD team, Level 1 is the President and CEO; Level 2 includes my direct reports; and Level 3 leaders report to them. As of today, we have defined the Level 2 leaders and several of the Level 3 leaders. Over the next few months, they will work through a process to complete the Level 3 staffing and then staff Level 4 and beyond.

The leaders announced today were selected through a six-step assessment and selection process developed by my team and me, with support from Human Resources leaders from both companies, and the HR Horizontal Support Team.

Moving forward, every position across the new organization will be filled using this process to ensure all eligible candidates are considered from both organizations. There will be no exceptions. We will share more information about this process as we begin to fill positions below the Level 3 leaders described above.

For today, however, I'd like to introduce some of the leaders who have been selected to help run the NewCo organization:

The Level 2 leaders are:

Holding Company:

- Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer: Joe O'Leary

- Vice President, Legal Services and Chief Compliance Officer, the Services Company: Barth Wolf
 - Vice President, Regulatory Affairs, External Affairs: Jim Schott
- Vice President, Government Relations and Community Affairs, External Affairs: Rod Sierra

As you can see, our Level 3 leadership is not yet complete. In the coming weeks, the Level 2 leaders and I will identify and interview qualified candidates from both companies to fill these positions. We will continue to keep you updated as new information becomes available.

What's Next?

As we've said many times, until the WPS Resources/Peoples Energy transaction receives regulatory and shareholder approval and the deal closes, nothing changes. All employees will remain in their current positions, including the new leadership listed above, until the merger is finalized later this year or early next.

It is essential to remember, especially as we enter our busiest season at the gas utilities, that our primary focus until the merger is finalized is to continue delivering high-quality services to our customers.

In the meantime, we will continue developing the organizational structure and identifying and interviewing qualified candidates to fill open positions. As we move down through the organization, this process will continue even after the merger is finalized.

When Changes Do Happen...

Assuming the merger is approved and finalized, we will transition to the NewCo organizational structure. Our new leaders will assume their positions, and the two companies will begin operating as one. Systems and processes will be merged and functions streamlined as quickly as possible to ensure the company operates efficiently and effectively. This is the work our Integration Teams are preparing now.

At that time, some employees may experience very little change, while others will experience significant change. For those employees whose jobs are affected as a result of the merger, we will provide appropriate support services (such as the special severance plan announced recently) to ease their transition.

Let Us Build Our New Company Together

We are making every effort to build our new company together - with input from both WPS Resources and Peoples Energy. We are carefully and systematically moving forward to build the new organization, and are hitting the important milestones as promised last July.

At the same time, we understand the challenges that lie ahead, and also how difficult it can be to maintain focus when faced with uncertainty and change. Our commitment to you is to continue sharing this kind of information on a regular basis. In return, we ask that you participate in the process by continually seeking out new information, asking questions, and sharing your ideas.

For more information about the NewCo organizational structure, you can speak directly with your leader or manager. You can also access the information available on PowerNet and PeoplesNet. And you can submit questions to transition@wpsr.com or via the “Answers to Your Questions” link on PeoplesNet.

Three months into the transaction process, I am enormously pleased and impressed with the talent that resides in both organizations and the cooperation and teamwork I have seen between our two companies. It gives me great confidence in our combined future, and in our ability to create one of the country’s leading energy companies.

[Document 4 - Employee Questions and Answers]

WPS Resources and Peoples Energy
NewCo Organizational Announcement

Questions & Answers

Employee Questions

1. Q: How is the organizational structure different than the current organizational design of WPS Resources and Peoples Energy?

A: The new organizational structure was designed to integrate the operations of WPS and Peoples Energy into a single, successful organization that best meets the needs of customers, employees, shareholders and all of our stakeholders. The NewCo organizational structure is built around three distinct entities: the holding company - which will oversee and manage the entire organization; the operating companies - which are the regulated and non-regulated subsidiaries that deliver services to our customers; and the services group - which is divided into two areas, shared services - which provides support to all areas of the company and External Affairs, which oversees Regulatory, Government, Community Relations and Communications.

2. Q: What other organizational structures were considered?

A: The organizational design team worked with an outside consultant to review and consider an array of potential structures for the new company. It was determined that the one we selected would best meet the needs of our customers, employees, shareholders and all of our stakeholders.

3. Q: What was the rationale for using this structure?

A: This new structure was selected because it promotes a more efficient, effective company that will better serve customers.

- Facilitates greater synergy among all parts of the organization by combining similar services;
 - Increases the speed, and ease of implementation, while decreasing the costs;
- Makes it easier to provide cost allocation information to regulators and government officials;
 - Clarifies organizational roles and accountabilities and establishes clear P&L accountability;
- Promotes efficient and effective organizational performance because, in most cases, operational services will be closer to their operating units, and nearly all similar services will be combined;
 - Aligns with the overall corporate strategy of growth through acquisition; and,
- Promotes customer focus and operational excellence by elevating the customer relations function in the gas business, and keeping the operational support functions close to the responsible executives.

4. Q: How did the company choose the managers it named today?

A: The leaders announced today were selected through a six-step assessment and selection process developed by Larry Weyers and his team, with support from Human Resources leaders from both companies, and the HR Horizontal Support Team.

The leaders are being drawn from the talents of both companies to ensure we integrate the operations of WPS and Peoples Energy into a single, successful organization that exceeds the needs of customers, employees, shareholders and all of our stakeholders.

Moving forward, every position across the new organization will be filled using the assessment and selection process described above to ensure all eligible candidates are considered from both organizations. There will be no exceptions. We will share more information about this process as we gradually begin to fill the remaining positions in the new company.

5.Q: The leaders you announced today seem to come mostly from WPS with only a few exceptions. Did you think it was necessary to remove some of Peoples leaders due to the criticism that the company has faced in recent years?

A: The leaders of the proposed new company are being drawn from the talents of both companies. All eligible candidates, including the leaders announced today, must go through the same job assessment and selection process. The leaders announced today were selected through this process and are the most qualified for the jobs.

6.Q: When will the rest of the people be selected for the positions on the organizational charts? Why is it taking so long?

A: We are actually moving rather quickly through this process, but we want to make sure we get it right. The remaining open positions will be filled in the coming months using the formal assessment and selection process that identifies the best qualified candidates from both companies to fill the roles we will need to achieve operational excellence in the new company.

7. Q: How will these other managers be chosen?

A: The Level 2 and Level 3 managers who were named today will begin identifying and interviewing candidates for their respective teams in the coming months using the formal assessment and selection a process that identifies the best qualified candidates from both companies to fill the roles we will need to achieve operational excellence in the new company.

8. Q: Did anyone lose their job today?

A: No. This organizational structure shows how the company will look after the transaction is approved. Until that time, everyone will continue in their present roles at WPS and Peoples. In fact, we are asking all of our employees to remain committed to serving the needs of our customers as we enter our busiest season at the natural gas utilities.

9. Q: When will any layoffs be announced?

A: No jobs will be affected prior to the closing of the transaction. When the time comes to make staffing changes, the company will provide appropriate support to employees who are impacted as a result of the merger.

10. Q: Will displaced managers receive severance packages? How much are they worth?

A: The company will provide appropriate support for employees who are impacted as a result of the merger. For more details about the special severance plan that was announced last week, please go to the October 3, 2006 Transition Update posted on PowerNet and PeoplesNet. It provides more detail about the terms of the plan.

11. Q: When will non-manager employees find out if they have a job?

A: The organizational design process for the new company is ongoing and will likely continue after the two companies become one. Therefore, it's impossible to predict when and if specific functions or jobs will be impacted. Remember: no jobs will be affected prior to the closing of the transaction. Once the transaction is approved, as changes and decisions are made, the company will act quickly to notify any employees whose jobs are affected by the integration, and will provide them appropriate support to ease their transition.

12. Q: If an employee decides to leave the company before the merger is finalized, will they get a severance package?

A: No. The special severance package that was recently announced is designed to encourage employees to remain at the company during the transition process to continue serving our customers well. The severance plan is intended for employees who leave the company involuntarily as a direct result of the WPS-Peoples Energy merger. This plan was put in place to offer appropriate assistance to employees who are affected by the merger.

13. Q: What about Union employees? Are their jobs secure?

A: As we've said previously, union employees will be treated in accordance with their individual bargaining unit agreements with the companies. Remember, despite the merger, we still have to continue serving the needs of our customers and we need the continued commitment of employees at every level in all of our businesses in order to achieve this goal.

14. Q: How many employees will have to relocate? Which functions will move?

A: It is still too early to determine exactly how many employees or what functions may be needed in the four states in which the new company will operate. It is safe to say that very few of our overall combined workforce of more than 5,000 employees will have to relocate.

15. Q: How many employees will eventually lose their job?

A: At this point, we can't say. Although some positions may be eliminated, new opportunities will also be created once our two companies combine. We are committed to identifying qualified employees from throughout both companies to fill any open positions.

16. Q: When will you announce the new Holding Company name?

A: We believe we will be ready to announce the new Holding Company name in the very near future. And, of course, we will share this information with you as soon as it is finalized. Remember, the names and brand platforms for all of the regulated utilities will remain the same. The name of the new non-regulated company that will be created as a result of the merger will take a name that is complementary to the new holding company name. .
