Joint Research Project with the University of Tokyo
Office of University Corporate Relations

Tokyo Nomura Securities Co., Ltd. (herein Nomura Securities, President and CEO Junichi Ujiie) and the University of Tokyo (President Takeshi Sasaki) are to undertake joint research on development of a model for industry-university collaboration based on market principles (see attached).

The University of Tokyo established the Office of University Corporate Relations (Director, Prof. Masatoshi Ishikawa) on 1 November. This will be its first joint research project.

In undertaking this project, Kazuhiro Takasu (formerly General Manager, Nomura Securities Financial Research Center) will assume the position of Visiting Professor, University of Tokyo, with effect from 11 November. Three other employees from Nomura Securities will be sent as joint researchers.

The University of Tokyo Office of University Corporate Relations, established under the direct oversight of the office of the University's President, is the only functioning organization of its kind at the University and has been positioned as a common platform for university departmental activities. The project aims to pool public sector opinion and expertise to develop a model for industry-university collaboration.

The University of Tokyo regards social change, particularly changes in methods by which the benefits of research findings are passed on to the community, with the utmost importance and is actively engaged in the effective use and dissemination of intellectual resources in society. In particular, the University of Tokyo seeks to reinforce the practical side of its support for new business as well as developing incubation functions and building entrepreneurial alliances. In this sense, the theme of this joint research project represents an important pillar of the Office of University Corporate Relations.

Nomura Group organizes lectures by directors and managers in more than 110 universities to more than 10,000 students nationwide on the significance and operations of the securities business. Through such activities Nomura Group seeks to deepen the public's understanding of capital markets and knowledge of finance. This joint research project aims to develop a concrete model to pass on to society the intellectual resources at the disposal of the University of Tokyo. By supporting the University's campus-wide framework for promoting industry-university collaboration from a capital markets perspective, Nomura Group aims to contribute to Japan's social and economic revitalization.

Golf Course Revival Fund

Tokyo Today, Nomura Holdings, Inc. (NHI) announced that Nomura Principal Finance Co., Ltd. (NPF) (a wholly owned subsidiary of NHI), Misawa Resort Co., Ltd. and UFJ Bank Limited (a wholly owned subsidiary of UFJ Holdings, Inc.) reached an agreement to jointly establish a Golf Course Revival Fund.

The harsh effects of a prolonged recession following the bursting of the economic bubble are being increasingly felt in the golf course industry. The purpose of the Golf Course Revival Fund is to provide support to enable ailing golf courses to recover through Misawa Resort's management expertise in this area and the fund's financial backing.

Misawa Resort will invest in the fund through a subsidiary and assume management of golf courses acquired by the fund with a view to assisting their revival by enhancing their profitability and cash flows. Misawa Resort is a pioneering force in Japan's golf course contract management business and has a first-class track record in this area having already restored numerous golf courses back to financial health.

As the principal investing parties, NPF and UFJ Bank will provide the financial support necessary for this restoration as well as financial advice and other assistance.

Outline of the Fund

Fund type:	Limited investment partnership
Unlimited partner:	Wholly owned subsidiary of Misawa Resort Co., Ltd.
Limited partners:	Nomura Principal Finance Co., Ltd., UFJ Bank Limited
Total investment:	5 billion yen
Time frame:	8 years (with a maximum 2-year extension)
Investment target:	Ailing Japanese golf courses
Main investment restrictions	Conflicts of interest between fund partners and related companies
